NEWS SUMMARY

THE SITUATION IN THE FAR EAST.

Further accounts of the battle, in the sea of Japan, state that the Russian squadron was enveloped by the Japanese and pounded for two days, while torpedo craft continued the work of annihilation at night. Admiral Voelkersam was killed in the conning tower of his ship. The Russians probably lost 7,000 men, not including 4,000 taken prisoners. The Japanese lost only three torpedo boat destroyers and about 800 men. It was reported that Admiral Rojestvensky's chances of recovery are slight.—Page 1.

The captain of the Russian cruiser Izumrud telegraphed the czar that after running on a reef and running out of coal he blew up his ship. The captain of the destroyer Bravi had to burn his woodwork in order to make Vladivostok.—Page 1.

"EXPECTED TO DO UTMOST"

So Runs Togo's Battle Signal When Russian Armada Is Sighted.

IN CIRCLE OF FIRE

Czar's Squadron, Enveloped by Its Enemy, Is Pounded for Two Days.

TORPEDOES FINISH THE JOB

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, May 31.—A Japanese officer who has returned to Sasebo gives the following account of the sea fight off the Tsu islands:

"At 5:30 Saturday morning a wireless message reading: 'The enemy's squadron is in sight,' reached the naval base. This message was transmitted to all our ships by the flagship, with instructions to get ready for action. Our squadron headed for the eastern channel off Tsushima, our men eager for the long-delayed fight to begin.

"When Tsushima was sighted to the southwest, the sea was rough and the torpedo boats were forced to run for the shelter of the island. Our third fighting squadron, with the Takashiho to port, reconnoitered the Russian course, and at 11:30 a. m. informed the main squadron by wireless telegraph that the Russian ships were passing into the east channel, whereupon our main squadron, changing its course to the southward, came in sight of Okinshima at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The third division arrived later and joined the main squadron. The first and second divisions, accompanied by the destroyer flotilla, changed to a westerly course, while the third division and the fourth destroyer flotilla headed slightly eastward.

A Trafalgar Message.

"During the maneuver, the Russian flagship appeared to the southward at 1:45 o'clock. The Russians steamed up in double column. The fleet was numerous but no living being was visible. The Russian ships seemed to be in good order. Our ships hoisted the flag of action, the Mikasa signalling 'The destiny of our emperor depends upon this action. You are all expected to do your utmost.'

"Our first and second divisions turned to the Russians' starboard, while the third division kept in close touch with the preceding two divisions. With the Japanese ships proceeding in this order, it was 2:10 o'clock when the Russians opened fire. The first two shots fell short of our line, and it was some minutes later before we commenced firing.

"Our destroyers kept on the port side of the main squadron, and in this formation we pressed the Russians against the coast of Khashiu and they were obliged to change their course to the east. We maneuvered our ships as to have their bows paralleled to the north side of the Russian line. The Mikasa, of our first division, which had been leading, changed to the rear of the line, while the Kasuga headed the line.

Russians Are Enveloped.

"The engagement now became very fierce. The Borodino was seen to be on fire. A little later the Russians headed west, and we changed our course accordingly. Five ships of our second division concentrated their fire on the Borodino. Our first division now began firing vigorously, proceeding parallel with the Russian line, and as we began to press against the head of the Russian line our third division veered to the Russian rear, thus enveloping their ships.

"The engagement proceeded hotly. Our second division followed a course parallel with the northern side of the Russians, and this movement completed the envelopment. The Russian ships were seen trying to break through, and our destroyers' flotilla intercepted their new course. This state of envelopment continued until the following day, with the ships at varying distances.

"Thus enclosed on all sides, the Russians were helpless and powerless to escape the cycle. Previous instructions had been given the destroyers and torpedo boats to attack the Russian ships. Following instructions, the fifth destroyer flotilla advanced against a Russian ship upon which the second division had been concentrating its fire, signalling: 'We are going to give the last thrust at them.'

Deadly Work of Torpedoes.

"The Russian continued to fight, and seeing the approaching torpedo boats, directed its fire on them. Undaunted, our destroyers pressed forward, the Chitose meantime continuing its fire. The torpedo flotilla arrived within 200 meters of the Russian ship and the Shiranus fired the first shot. Two other torpedo boats fired one each. The Shiranus received two shells, but the other boats were not damaged. The Russian ship was completely sunk.

"Sundown saw the battle raging furiously. Our shells were evidently telling on the Russians, who showed signs of confusion. Our fifth torpedo flotilla, after destroying the Borodino, followed in the wake of our second division, the signal reading: 'Something like the Russians' submarines have been sighted. Attack them.'

"The flotilla followed and located the object, which proved to be a sinking ship with its overturned bottom showing. Thirty survivors clung to the wreck, crying for assistance. Firing ceased with the approach of darkness.

Whipped by Night Attacks.

"According to orders previously given for a torpedo attack after dark, all the destroyer flotilla, dividing into two squadrons, proceeded to attack the Russians during the whole night. The Russians frustrated the first and second attacks with searchlights. A third attempt was carefully made, and the Yugiri sank a ship of the Borodino type and also hit others. During the night the Russians continued to move, and we preserved our enveloping movement some distance from

CAPTAIN SINKS THE IZUMRUD

Runs Out of Coal, Strikes Reef and Therefore Destroys Her.

Russian Press and Public Clamor for Execution of Officers Who Surrendered.

CITE RULES OF THE NAVY

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 1.—Official reports of the naval battle are being received by the emperor and Grand Duke Alexis, the high admiral. The fate of the cruiser Izumrud is told in a telegram from her captain, Baron [illegible], dated June 1, saying [illegible] up the cruiser at [illegible] her bay.

[illegible] May [illegible] Borodino, Kniaz [illegible] the U[illegible] were [illegible] devoted [illegible]

In the [illegible] Senia[illegible] Sissa[illegible] Naki[illegible] nort[illegible] to [illegible] Two [illegible] from the fleet [illegible] 14 knots, were repeatedly struck by the Japanese torpedoes, especially at the extremities of the line.

Tried to Run Away.

At dawn it was ascertained that the battleship division consisted only of the Nikolai I., the Orel, the Gen. Admiral Apraxine and the Admiral Seniavin.

At sunrise, May 28, smoke from the Japanese ships reappeared on the horizon, whereupon the admiral gave orders for increased speed. The Admiral Seniavin and the Gen. Admiral Apraxine dropped behind.

Toward 10 o'clock the Japanese fleet appeared first to port and then to starboard, while the cruiser division maneuvered behind the Russians to starboard. Baron Ferzen's account continues:

"I was cut off from the squadron, and finding it impossible to rejoin it resolved to make for Vladivostok. I put on full speed, and the enemy's cruisers came on in pursuit. Owing to the insufficiency of my coal supply and the certainty of meeting the enemy's cruisers I subsequently altered my course for Vladimir bay, where I arrived on the night of May 29. At 1:30 o'clock next morning, in pitch darkness, the Izumrud ran full on a reef at the entrance to the bay.

Blew Up His Ship.

"Having only 10 tons of coal, and seeing it would be impossible to again float my vessel, I ordered the crew ashore and blew up the Izumrud to prevent her falling into the hands of the enemy. Ten of my sailors were wounded in the battle, but the officers and the rest of the crew are all safe."

Lieut. Dournovo, commander of the torpedo boat destroyer Bravi, has telegraphed from Vladivostok to Grand Duke Alexis an account of his venturous voyage, after the separation of his destroyer from the fleet on the evening of May 27, having in the course of the afternoon saved 175 officers and men of the battleship Oslabia.

The destroyer suffered considerable damage from a six-inch projectile, and was able to speed only 11 miles an hour. The main mast was lowered and the funnels painted white so as to render the vessel less conspicuous to the Japanese torpedo boats. On the night of May 29 a steam pipe burst, reducing the speed to five miles an hour. Lacking coal, all the wooden parts of the destroyer were burned for fuel before she reached Vladivostok.

Lieut. Gen. Linevitch has transmitted a report from Gen. Kasbeck of the arrival of the torpedo-boat destroyer Grozny at Vladivostok, and telling of a fight off Dagelet island, which that vessel and the destroyer Bedovi had with two Japanese destroyers. The Grozny sank one of the Japanese destroyers and saw the Bedovi sink as the result of an explosion. The report says that the Bedovi was carrying Vice Admiral Rojestvensky and his staff.

Want Cowards Shot.

According to the dispatch from Baron Ferzen, the commander of the cruiser Izumrud, the battleships remaining in the fight were still in squadron formation when he was cut off, and this increases the deep resentment felt here at the surrender of the ships, the Novoe Vremya even declaring that the officers ought to be courtmartialed and shot for hauling down their flags and turning over their ships to the Japanese.

The paper cites articles of the naval regulations forbidding a commander to surrender except as a last emergency after taking measures to destroy his ship. It points out that it required only the opening of the seacocks to send the ships to the bottom. The crews would be given a good chance of life, the paper says, and cites the example of the cruiser Kurik of the Vladivostok squadron, which after the fight with Admiral Kamimura in August last went down heroically with colors flying.

The report from Lieut. Dournovo of the torpedo-boat destroyer Bravi, telling how that boat was obliged even to burn her woodwork to reach the harbor, awakens a gleam of satisfaction, and though the Izumrud failed to reach Vladivostok, her destruction at the hands of her own crew is regarded with almost equal pleasure.

The saddest note for St. Petersburg was struck by the destruction of the battleship Alexander III., which was manned by sailors of the guard and officered exclusively by men prominent in society and at court. Her crew served during the winter time as a regiment of the guard, of which the dowager empress was honorary commander.

MANY PENNSYLVANIANS WANT TO BE DIPLOMATS

enator Penrose Has Talk With President Roosevelt About Numerous Applicants.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Senator Penrose called on the president today to talk with him about the places in the diplomatic and consular service that will be allotted to Pennsylvania. The senator has some recommendations to make but desires to have some idea as to the number of places his state will get. He has over 100 applications from Pennsylvania men who would like to serve the government as its representative at some foreign city. The president could give no assurances at this time, but said he would see what could be done for the ambitious men from Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania is pretty well represented in the diplomatic and consular service now. Charlemagne Tower, the ambassador of the United States to Germany, is from that state. So are Lloyd C. Griscom, minister to Japan; Lawrence Townsend, minister to Brussels; John G. A. Leishman, minister to Turkey, and William B. Sorsby, minister to Bolivia. The state has a number of consuls general and consuls, there being four consuls general in Germany from Pennsylvania.

Senator Penrose will leave tomorrow for Philadelphia and does not expect to return until congress meets in the fall. In the latter part of June he will go to the Rocky mountains for an extended vacation.

W. H. Andrews, formerly of Pittsburgh, but now delegate to congress from the territory of New Mexico, was also a caller at the White House today. He wanted to see the president regarding some matters relating to the territory.

JONES' COMMISSION FOUND.

Secretary Morton Will Try to Obtain Possession of It for the Navy Department.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—Secretary Morton today received information that the original commission of John Paul Jones as a captain in the navy has been located in Philadelphia, and he will initiate an effort to obtain it for the navy department. The commission reads: "John F. Paul Jones is appointed to be captain in the navy. By order of congress. John Hancock, president. Philadelphia, October 10, 1779. Attest: Charles Thompson." The commission is owned by a descendant of Peter Ganzevoort, of revolutionary fame.

BLOW FROM SNOWBALL BRINGS DIRE CONSEQUENCES

Miss Tina House, aged 17, of Braddock, will undergo an operation at the West Penn hospital today in an effort to relieve her of a trouble from which she has suffered since last winter, when she was struck on the head with a snowball while returning to her home from school. The snowball was thrown by one of a crowd of boys and struck Miss House on the head. She did not appear to be hurt at the time, but several hours later was seized with violent pains in the head and for several days her death was expected. She has since recovered her physical strength, but her mind is almost a blank. Her skull will be trephined.

Mad Dog Attacks Millmen.

A big bulldog, thought to have been suffering from rabies, caused a panic among workmen at open hearth department No. 3 in the Homestead Steel works yesterday afternoon. The dog bit William Kirkham on the right arm and leg several times, and when other workmen attempted to drive him off he turned and attacked them. Pieces of steel and bars were secured by the men who clubbed the animal to death.

JAPANESE CONTRACTS COME TO PITTSBURGH

It Is Estimated Mikado Is Placing Orders in This District Amounting to $15,000,000.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 1.—That the Japanese intend to carry on military operations in Manchuria on a very extensive scale is illustrated by the fact of the placing of huge contracts here for various railroad equipment. In addition to 120 locomotives some months ago by local representatives of the Japanese government, another contract has been placed with the Baldwin locomotive works for 100 engines, which are to be shipped overland so that all possible speed will be made in their reaching the far east.

The Pressed Steel Car Company of Pittsburgh has captured a rush contract for 1,800 pressed steel cars, ranging in capacity from seven to 20 tons. This requisition is in addition to the one calling for 1,000 cars—gondola type, steel underframe, which is to be filled by the American Car and Foundry Company.

The greatest secrecy is being pursued as to time of delivery. It can be stated, however, that 40,000 tons of freight were booked today with the transcontinental railways, in connection with the above contracts. This means an expenditure of upward of $150,000 for freight alone.

Other big contracts for railroad material are expected to be closed here by the Japanese government in the next few days. It is estimated that within the last few months contracts have been placed largely in the Pittsburgh district, on Japanese account, for structural steel, electrical equipment, machinery and railroad material for Japanese, Korean and Manchuria railroads, representing an expenditure of $15,000,000.

LABOR LEADERS TESTIFY THEY WERE OFFERED BRIBE

ell Chicago Grand Jury They Refused $10,000 to Bring About a Strike of Teamsters.

[Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 1.—Charges of bribery [illegible] an officer of the Employers' [illegible] Company were made today to [illegible] jury by President Shea of the [illegible]rs' union and by Albert Young, [illegible] president of the same organization. [illegible]ung and Shea said that they [illegible]ered $10,000 two years ago to [illegible] a strike of the teamsters employed by Sears, Roebuck & Co., which is a rival concern of Montgomery Ward & Co. They said they refused the money and the strike was never called.

Shea was the first witness, and his testimony covered the offering of the bribe and his statement that he would not call the strike for "$100,000." Young was then called and gave similar testimony. He refused to tell where the meeting had taken place or to name the men who were present when the $10,000 was said to have been offered. Young declined to give any good reasons for refusing the information and was taken before Judge Barnes, who was asked for a ruling on the matter. The judge decided that Young would not incriminate himself, and he ordered him to make answers.

Young and the members of the grand jury then returned to the juryroom and Young was questioned for an hour. He gave the names of the men offering the money. State's Attorney Healy declared that all persons connected with the inquiry had been sworn to secrecy.

MORMONS TO BUILD SHRINE.

Joseph F. Smith Buys the Home Farm of Founder of Sect in Vermont.

SOUTH ROYALTON, VT., June 1.—(Special.)—A Mormon shrine is to be established on Dairy Hill near here on the site where Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormon church, was born. A portion of the foundation of the old Smith homestead and the hearthstone still remain. The farm on which the Smith home stood was purchased last week by Joseph F. Smith, for the Mormon church, of which he is president.

The plans of the church authorities include, beside the erection of a monument, the construction of several cottages for the accommodation of the faithful and the clearing up of the entire 65 acres, and transforming it into a sylvan park. About $10,000 will be spent.

After Ships for Canal Work.

LONDON, June 1.—Richard L. Farnham, a director of the Panama railway, has arrived in England. His mission is the charter of several ships for the Panama canal commission, and he is now making a tour of the shipyards of Great Britain inspecting available vessels.

BUYS 10,000 ACRES OF COAL

Jones & Laughlin Steel Company Fortifies Itself.

THE COST IS $3,000,000

Property Adjoins Company's Present Washington County Holdings in Fifth Pool.

GIVES SUPPLY FOR FIFTY YEARS

The Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, the largest independent steel company of the United States, has fortified itself impregnably in its coal supply by a deal which has just been closed. Through its subsidiary concern, the Vesta Coal Company, the Jones & Laughlin company has bought 10,000 acres of the finest Washington county coal. The tract obtained is continuous and has a width of about three miles, and a length of about five.

The price paid for the property is approximately $3,000,000. This includes two or three tracts of surface land which were purchased with the coal. The average price for the coal was, therefore, somewhat less than $300 an acre.

The property lies in the fifth pool of the Monongahela, in a district famous for the value of the coal. It extends back from Fredericktown on the river to Scallsville. The collection of the numerous parcels into one continuous tract has been a labor of much magnitude, and has required months to accomplish.

Includes 135 Properties.

The deal was made by the steel company interests with J. V. Thompson, Isaac W. Seaman, James R. Barnes and Joseph E. Barnes, the Uniontown coal land dealers and financiers. The need for both rapid and quiet work in getting the tract together was manifest and this result was obtained with remarkable success.

In all there were 135 parcels to be obtained. The printed and bound deed for the properties makes a book of 200 pages. For a month there were 70 surveyors at work on the property and a smaller number were employed for a still longer time.

The coal is particularly well situated for the needs of the Jones & Laughlin company. It adjoins the present large holdings which amount to about 6,000 acres. This gives, therefore, a continuous tract of 16,000 acres owned by the one company.

While the bulk of the coal just bought will not be touched for a number of years, the location is such as to make is a very simple mining proposition. The company's new No. 4 mine at Coal Center can be used to tap a very large portion of the field. The need for a new opening will not develop for years to come.

Deal of Much Significance.

The deal has its significance in the larger policies of the big company in its relations with other steel concerns and particularly with the United States Steel Corporation. The control of the production of the raw materials that enter into the manufacture of steel is accepted as a most important feature in the success of a steel concern, which must, of necessity, be in a position to obtain its supplies at the lowest possible cost. So far as the coal is concerned the Jones & Laughlin interests have nothing to fear in the future. It is at least as well equipped as any of its competitors.

The same policy has been followed with regard to other supplies. It operates its own coke ovens. The company has for years owned and operated its own ore mines in the upper lake regions. It has even contemplated the construction of its own railroad line from Pittsburgh to Lake Erie, and about three years ago secured the needful terminal property and the locations for the line.

SUIT OVER DEATH BENEFIT.

Brotherhood Unable to Decide Whether McKees Rocks Woman or Another Was Legal Wife.

CLEVELAND, June 1.—(Special.)—To determine which of the wives of Edward Woodbridge is entitled to a $1,200 death benefit, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen has begun a legal action here. Edward Woodbridge and Catherine Jones were married in Pennsylvania September 17, 1885. One daughter, Helen, now aged 13 years, was born. Later the couple separated and Woodbridge went to Youngstown. While in Youngstown he married another woman August 10, 1896. The two went to McKees Rocks, Pa., and established a home. They lived together until his death on April 12, 1902. In the meantime the first wife, according to the child, was granted a divorce by the common pleas court of Luzerne county, Pa., in 1900. It is alleged the second marriage was not legal.

CZAR IS REPORTED DEAD.

Said Either to Have Committed Suicide or Been Assassinated, but Rumors Are Denied.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 2.—(3:25 a. m.)—Rumors are afloat in the city that the emperor is dead, having either committed suicide or been assassinated. These rumors are untrue.

PARIS, June 2.—The rumor from St. Petersburg of the death of the emperor is reproduced in all of the newspapers this morning. The rumor was strongly denied by the Russian embassy.

REPTILES RIFLE BROODER, FEAST OF FOWLS FOLLOWS

When Eugene Carpenter of Glassport went in his brooder yesterday to look at his chicks he found half of them lying dead on the floor, while the other half of the 150 "peeps" were not in sight. Two snakes were coiled in a corner, but made no effort to move. Mr. Carpenter killed the snakes with a club and then discovered that most of the chicks had been swallowed by the reptiles. The snakes were seven feet long.

WOULD CLEAN OUT EQUITABLE

Frick Committee Decides Against Alexander, Hyde and Tarbell.

WILL AMEND REPORT

It Is Thought the Officers Will Refuse to Resign If Requested to Do So.

ACTION TO BE TAKEN TODAY

On recommendations that will be embodied in a supplementary report by the Frick investigating committee and handed to the directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society tomorrow, should the entirety whether the resignations are to be asked of James W. Alexander, James Hazen Hyde and Gage E. Tarbell. The Frick committee has reported that the facts brought out during its investigation warrant the vacating of the offices held by these men.

Should the Frick committee recommend that the resignations must be demanded before a veritable "house cleaning" process is begun in the society, it will rest with the board of directors to decide whether such a radical step should be taken.

Some members of the board of directors are inclined to believe such severe punishment ought not to be meted to these men, inasmuch as they are not charged with criminal acts, although all are condemned for extravagance and waste, and Alexander and Hyde are practically charged with a breach of trust, in having participated in the "James H. Hyde & Associates" syndicate.

Means New Complications.

It was said tonight that should the board of directors request the three resignations they would be met with a prompt refusal. This would further complicate matters, for Alexander, Hyde and Tarbell were all re-elected last January, each to serve another year. The directors would have no power to dismiss the three incumbents of office unless charges against each were formulated and substantiated after a hearing. There is nothing in the Frick committee's report that could be made the basis of charges against Tarbell, and the same is true of Messrs. Alexander and Hyde, unless the directors see their way clear to make such use of Alexander's and Hyde's participation in the several underwriting syndicates.

But the language of the Frick committee's report is such that there is only one interpretation to be put upon the words used, and that is that the resignations must be demanded or other means adopted to supplant Alexander, Hyde and Tarbell, for the report "recommends" that there be a change in the offices of president, first vice president and second vice president and the entire reorganization of the Equitable's offices and management.

The report not only says that all the officers' salaries are too high, but says the increase made in salaries by Mr. Hyde and concurred in by Mr. Alexander since 1900 have been out of all proportion to any increase of business.

Neglectful and Careless.

Going still further, the Frick committee reported that there was no question that Mr. Hyde had made innumerable errors and mistakes during his incumbency of office, mistakes in judgment and not willful or criminal in intent. But the committee makes Mr. Alexander shoulder the responsibility for the mistakes with Mr. Hyde, for Mr. Alexander is charged with being neglectful and careless in his administration of his office and further that he had full knowledge of the acts of Mr. Hyde and failed to report the matters to the board of directors.

More important, however, is the declaration by the Frick committee of the financial interest of the Equitable Life or any other similar institution in subsidiary companies, such as trust companies, banks and railroads. The committee does not believe that the Equitable's funds should be employed in the organization or the support of these subsidiary interests. It recommends that the assets of the Equitable be withdrawn from all such subsidiary companies and invested in good paying investment securities.

This would mean a direct blow at these institutions which have been called "Equitable creatures"—Mercantile Trust Company, Fidelity Trust Company, Equitable Trust Company, Union National bank, Newark, N. J., the National Bank of Commerce and the Mercantile Safe Deposit Company.

Would Revolutionize Insurance.

Of great importance is the recommendation made by the committee that the Equitable dispense with the present "deferred dividend" method of doing business.

If these be followed by the directors it will not only revolutionize that society's business, but will probably cause all other life insurance companies to change their methods as well, as the Frick committee would have policy-holders paid their dividends each year. It must be understood that Mr. Alexander has said that of the $34,000,000 surplus of the Equitable $20,000,000 is really said to meet these dividends. Ninety per cent of the business done by the Equitable is on the "deferred dividend" basis.

The holder of a "deferred dividend" policy obtains his profits at the end of a certain term of years. Should the holder of such a policy die before the expiration of the term of years for which the policy was written his beneficiaries are paid the face value of the policy.

In its report the Frick committee emphasizes the fact that the stockholders own the company, but no suggestion is made that the stock should be purchased by the society in preparation for mutualization. Then it takes up the various James H. Hyde and associates' syndicates, and goes into the detail of every transaction where the syndicate figured. Out of the purchases of bonds in which the syndicates figured the Frick committee shows that the Equitable has made a profit of $200,000.

Should Pay Over Profits.

The members of the syndicates made about $260,000. The Frick committee holds that it makes no difference because the Equitable has profited to the extent of $200,000 through these transactions, but because of their fiduciary relation with the society, the six members of the syndicate are in honor bound to pay over to the society every cent they made as participants in these transactions.

There is no charge or intimation that there was anything criminal in the transaction by the syndicate, but the proceeding is severely condemned.

Mr. Tarbell, the committee finds, conducted his office extravagantly, and the same charge is made against nearly every department. This is equally true of Mr. Alexander's administration of his affairs according to the Frick committee.

Disapproval is given of the salary paid to Mr. Hyde of $100,000 and of his drawing salaries also from the Mercantile Trust Company and the Equitable Trust Company. Mr. Hyde is charged with paying his personal clerks extravagant salaries.

Among the other changes suggested by the committee is the keeping of smaller cash deposits. On December 31, 1904, the Equitable had $7,517,739.24 deposited in banks and $15,518,146.65 in trust companies, or a total of $22,631,885.89.

In criticising Mr. Hyde the report refers to the dinner to Ambassador Cambon as an unwarrantable charge against the society. The Sherry dinner is not specified, but figures under the general condemnatory passages.

While the Frick committee was in session today and working on its supplementary report, Messrs. Alexander and Hyde were in conference with their lawyers. These conferences lasted until late tonight, and then it was said Mr. Hyde would not resign, and neither would Mr. Alexander, but that they had come to the conclusion that the report of the Frick committee would not be adopted and that every effort would be made to prevent its adoption.

the Russian position. The Russian ships headed northeast after daybreak, hoping to reach Vladivostok. Our officers and men were determined that not a ship should escape, and resolved not to relax their efforts until they had succeeded in either sinking or capturing every Russian ship.

"Our ships always kept ahead of the Russians. The battle was resumed at 9 o'clock Sunday morning 12 miles east of Chiypyyon bay, and lasted all day. Here the Russians suffered their heaviest losses. They seemed unprepared to repel night attacks. During our first night attack the Russians showed nine searchlights and frustrated the attacks, but clearly give us the location of the fleet which brought success later."

Sailors Give Their Version.

A number of wounded Japanese sailors who have arrived at the hospital at Maidhuru navy yard, say the Japanese armored cruiser Asama approached within 3,000 meters of the Russian fleet and carefully observed its action. They add that Sunday morning, when the search for the remnants of the Russian ships were discovered in the vicinity of Liancourt Island, and were immediately surrounded, one, supposed to be the Izumrud, escaped at full speed.

The remaining four ships offered no resistance, and hoisted the Japanese flag over the Russian colors, apparently offering to surrender. Capt. Vashire, commanding the Azama, started in a small boat to ascertain the real intentions of the Russians, when Admiral Nebogatoff lowered a boat and came on board the Azama, where he formally surrendered. The prisoners were distributed among the Japanese ships, and prize crews were selected to take possession of the captured vessels. On the way the captain of the Orel died of wounds.

Lost Only Three Torpedo Boats.

A report from Admiral Togo says: "Later reports show that during the night of May 27 our torpedo boats numbered 34, 35 and 69 were sunk by the enemy's fire. Comrades rescued the majority of their crews. Besides the above there was no damage worth reporting. No warship nor destroyer suffered any loss of fighting or navigating power.

"We anticipated a heavy loss of life, but find that our casualties were comparatively slight. They do not exceed 800 killed and wounded.

Rough estimates made of the Russian losses in the battle, exclusive of nearly 4,000 prisoners, vary from 7,000 to 9,000. It is feared the majority perished. Calculating the complements of the sunk and captured ships at upward of 10,000, there remain 7,000 unaccounted for. Many bodies have been washed ashore on the islands and on the shores of the neighboring coasts near the scene of the battle.

Rear Admiral Voelkersam, commander of the battleship squadron of the Russian fleet, was killed the first day of the battle (May 27) in the conning tower of his flagship, the Oslabia, one of the vessels sunk by the Japanese.

Fully 2,800 Russian naval prisoners have been landed. Three damaged Russian vessels have drifted ashore off the coast of the province of Nagato.

Loss of Rojestvensky's Ship.

LONDON, June 1.—The Tokyo correspondent of the Daily Express sends a story of the battle told by an officer of the battleship Borodino, who is now at Sasebo. The officer says:

Admiral Rojestvensky came on board early in the battle and directed the fighting from the Borodino's flying bridge. The Japanese battleships Shikishima and Fuji opened every gun upon us. A projectile struck the forward barbette and this rendered us all insensible. I groped out of the smoke-filled barbette to the deck and found there a rain of projectiles. Dozens were lying dead or wounded at every turn. I returned to the barbette, but was only able to fire two rounds when two projectiles struck us simultaneously, wrecked the barbette, disabled both the 12-inch guns and killed 18 officers and men.

Admiral Rojestvensky was wounded and transferred to a destroyer, and as the destroyer left she was assailed by a hail of small arm ammunition. The Borodino had been repeatedly struck in the hull and was settling down with no hope of saving her. The Japanese had broken our battle formation and were closing in, concentrating their fire on our fighting tops, of whose crews hardly one escaped. Fire had now broken out in several places, adding to the horror of our situation, and it was decided to withdraw from the firing line to repair our steering gear. But we were surrounded by eight Japanese ships and bombarded on every side. We still fought desperately with our after 12-inch guns and what was left of our smaller guns and with about half our complement of men. But the Borodino sank lower and lower.

Lost Four Hundred Men.

Toward evening, after we had lost 400 men, we noticed two apanese destroyers coming toward us. We sank one with a well-directed shell. The other launched a torpedo and missed us. All the men in the engine rooms were driven up on deck by the flames. Finally a Japanese torpedo flotilla bore down upon us and an explosion caused the Borodino to turn turtle. I, with 4 others, was rescued from the sea by the Japanese armored cruiser Kasuga and was transferred to the shore.

The Mojl (Japan) correspondent of the Daily Telegraph gives a story told by Capt. Bojinoff, commander of the Russian cruiser Admiral Nakhimoff. The captain says:

We chose the shortest route to Vladivostok passing a certain strait. We were unhappily espied by the Japanese fleet and were completely surrounded. Our position was hopeless from the beginning of the battle. We had indeed fallen into a bitter trap. It was cruel, moreover, for the Japanese selected the engine room of my ship as a target. A torpedo went straight through my vessel and we lost our fighting power and were unable to move either way.

We launched the boats and embarked 600 of the crew, who were rescued by the Japanese. I, with the navigating officer, determined to share the fate of our ship which sank. We two were drawn underneath by the suction, whirled about and lost our breath. We forgot everything, but fortunately were picked up by Japanese fishermen. We had intended to die, and floated about in the water, as it seemed, for hours, watching the scene created by the explosion of Japanese shells.

KING BRAVES THE ANARCHISTS

Undismayed by Explosion and Receives Acclaims and Sympathy of French.

POLICE EXAMINE SUSPECTS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, June 1.—King Alfonso today continued to enjoy the festivities which France had prepared in his honor, apparently undismayed by the anarchistic attempt on his life while on his way with President Loubet from the gala performance at the opera last night. Accompanied by President Loubet the king reviewed the Sixth army corps at Chalons-sur Morna, and then returned to Paris. All day he was the recipient of tremendous ovations, as yesterday's outrage evoked a national sentiment of affection and sympathy for the young monarch and universal reprobation for the attempt on his life.

The king made anxious inquiries concerning the condition of the persons wounded by the explosion of the bomb and was assured that they were all alive, which relieved him as the first report was that one policeman had died from his wounds. He will award them the Spanish medal for military merit. Ten persons were injured, including soldiers, policemen and civilians.

It developed today that shortly after Kong Alfonso passed last night another bomb was found in the Rue De Rivoli, near the spot where the explosion occurred.

The suspects arrested immediately after the explosion were further interrogated and the police later announced that the main suspicion appeared to attach to a young man named Arsene Arnould, who is held on the evidence of a woman who alleges that she noticed him lighting a supposed fuse. Arnould, who is employed as a laboratory attendent and resides in Paris, is suffering from a wounded eye.

Magistrates have searched for incriminating documents at the residence of the Spanish anarchist, Malato, who was arrested but refused to reply to questions without legal advice. Another Spaniard, named Volina, declared he had been in Paris for a month with several companions, preparing for an attempt on King Alfonso's life. They had received five uncharged bombs from Barcelona, he said, which were hidden in the Bois Viroflay. The prisoner promised to sh... tomorrow where they were hidden, ... three companions have been arrested.

UPHOLDS COURSE OF PRESIDENT

Congressman Littlefield Approves Mr. Roosevelt's Stand on Arbitration Treaties.

WAR DEPLORED BY SPEAKERS

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., June 1.—Congressman Charles E. Littlefield of Maine; Henry B. MacFarland, president of the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia, and Oscar S. Straus, a member of the permanent Hague court, were the principal speakers today before the Lake Mohonk international arbitration conference.

Mr. Littlefield discussed the differences between the United States senate and President Roosevelt regarding arbitration treaties. He declared that while the senate had acted within its strictly constitutional rights in the case, the president had performed his duty as to the cause of international arbitration in withdrawing the treaties from further consideration. Mr. Littlefield referred to the vote at the last session of congress authorizing the construction of two new battleships at a cost of $7,000,000 each, and said he was not of the number who approved that appropriation. He would sooner have voted $7,000,000 for a new building for the United States supreme court in Washington, a greatly needed work.

Manlon N. Kline, chairman of the committee on international arbitration appointed by the Philadelphia Trades league, read a series of recommendations from a report adopted by the business men in the conference and addressed to all business organizations and commercial bodies of the United States. The report says:

It is hoped and believed that the patriotism, statesmanship and business sagacity of the president of the United States and the senate will find some plan by which the pending arbitration treaties can be ratified without in any sense endangering the minds of the most conservative those provisions of the national constitution which may be thought not thoroughly observed in the pending conventions.

A report on "What business men are doing for international arbitration" was presented by Charles Richardson of Philadelphia, chairman of a special committee of the conference on that subject.

Mr. Straus concluded his address as follows:

The very f... the world's diplo... the doors of ... ic cry that ... arms to ... reat temple ... nscience of ... ut, "To

CHANCE FOR DR. GLADDEN TO TEST HIS THEORY

Columbus (O.) Bankers Offer for Client $500,000 With Which to Build Model Tenements.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

COLUMBUS, O., June 1.—Dr. Washington Gladden, moderator of the Congregational church of the United States, has been offered $500,000 with which to test a theory advanced in his sermon last Sunday, in which he discussed "What I would do with a million dollars." Dr. Gladden said a part of his scheme would be to build a number of tenement houses, with all modern conveniences, for which he would charge half the rent now secured by landlords, which he guaranteed would pay 4 per cent on the investment.

President E. R. Sharp and Vice President W. F. Burdell of the State Savings and Trust Company, have authorized the announcement that they have a client who will furnish Dr. Gladden with $500,000. The donor says that all he asks is that Dr. Gladden give security for the investment. Dr. Gladden is out of the city.

For New Road to Coke Field.

WHEELING, W. VA., June 1.—(Special.)—The Ohio & Marshall Railroad company was organized here today, with a capital of $250,000. Directors were chosen as follows: Thomas M. Benner and Joseph W. Barnes of Pittsburgh; George L. Hibbs and I. W. Beamon of Uniontown, and A. J. Cochran of Dawson, Pa. This company, in conjunction with two others incorporated in Pensylvania, will construct a railroad from the Connellsville coke field to the Ohio river at this point. The heaviest stockholder is J. V. Thompson, the Uniontown coal operator. A meeting of the directors will be held in Pittsburgh Tuesday.

Fire in Webster Avenue.

Fire destroyed two buildings in Webster avenue near Washington street, early this morning. The fire originated in the second story of a building occupied as a junk shop by Fred. Ricodino, and destroyed this building and another adjoining, used as a bakeshop. Half a dozen families of Italians escaped in their night clothing. The buildings were owned by Frank Tarchia, the Webster avenue saloonkeeper. The loss is about $5,000. Three horses were burned to death.

ELECTRIC CLICK STARTS THE FAIR

President Roosevelt at the White House Puts Portland Exposition in Motion.

BIG CROWD IN ATTENDANCE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTLAND, ORE., June 1.—With the touch of a hand on a golden telegraph instrument President Roosevelt, from the White House in Washington today, gave the signal which formally opened to Portland, more than 3,000 miles away, the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, a monument to the memories of Capts. Merriwether Lewis and William Clark, who, 100 years ago, blazed the trail which opened to the world the Oregon country.

No more auspicious day for the opening could have been desired. The literary exercises which preceded the formal opening of the fair were excellent. Among the speakers were Vice President Fairbanks, Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, Senator Clark of Wyoming, and Congressman Tawney of Minnesota. When President Goode of the exposition announced that the ceremonies were about to commence, he was greeted with terrific applause from tens of thousands of people. President Goode forwarded the following telegram to Mr. Roosevelt:

President Goode of the Lewis and Clark Centennial exposition extends greetings to the president of the United States and has the honor to announce that the exposition management awaits President Roosevelt's pleasure in transmitting the electrical energy to the United States government building and start the machinery of this exposition.

Congratulated by Mr. Roosevelt.

Almost instantly, through the thousands of miles of wire flashed the single "click" which formally opened the exposition, releasing hundreds of flags to the breeze and setting the machinery in motion. Mr. Goode received the following telegram from President Roosevelt:

I congratulate you and those associated with you in commemorating this occasion. I hope and trust that the great enterprise you have undertaken will be a fitting memorial to the sturdy explorers who in the teeth of their country faced the perils and hardships of a vast unknown land. I send greeting to the representatives of foreign countries who are co-operating with us in this event which means so much for the expansion of our country in the far northwest. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—In the presence of a distinguished assemblage President Roosevelt at 4:22 o'clock this afternoon pressed the telegraphic key which sounded the chimes in the government building and started the machinery of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition at Portland. The ceremony took place in the East room of the White House. A circuit had been completed by the Western Union Telegraph Company between the White House and the Portland exposition grounds. On a mahogany stand was located an exquisitely mounted gold telegraph key.

Fired Salute at Washington.

On the roof of the White House was stationed a first class sergeant of the signal corps of the army who, at the sounding of an electric gong at his side, was under instructions to drop a flag which was to be the signal for the battery located in the lot south of the White House to fire a national salute of 21 guns.

Standing near the stand bearing the telegraph key, with his naval and military aides facing him, President Roosevelt addressed the assemblage briefly as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen—I have just received from Portland a telegram from President Goode of the Lewis and Clark Centennial exposition, sending his greetings and stating that the exposition management is waiting for me to touch the button which will start the machinery of this exposition.

The exposition marks the feat of exploration a century ago which was the first step in the expansion of this republic from sea across the continent, the most important step in changing a straggling line of seaboard commonwealths into a mighty continental nation. It was one of the epochs of our history, and it is eminently fitting that it should be commemorated by the exposition at Portland, as is now being done. There were forces that have built together the different sections of this great country that have rendered it possible to keep our nation more emphatically one in spirit, now that it has spread over the continent, than was the case when it occupied but a small fraction of the continent, will. I firmly believe, bring the nations of the earth ever closer together and enable us all to work together in peace and in harmony for the future of mankind.

CHANGE IN MANAGEMENT.

Admitted That the Alvin Will Be Under Joint Management of Messrs. Gulick and Davis.

Harry Davis has practically admitted the truth of The Gazette's exclusive story of several weeks ago involving a change of management and character of entertainment at the Alvin theater, to be in effect during next season. R. M. Gulick will be associated with Mr. Davis in the management of the Alvin and a high grade of dramatic and musical comedy attractions will be presented at that house.

Mr. Davis and Mr. Gulick will be mutually interested in the bookings at both the Alvin and the Bijou, while the Grand and Avenue will continue under Mr. Davis' control. The stock company will go into the Avenue.

The Gayety theater in all probability will be used as the home of burlesque, to be booked by Hyde & Behman and the eastern circuit of burlesque.

SORRY TO LOSE PAUL MORTON

Washington Society Feels Keenly the Departure of Secretary and Family.

PRESIDENT EXPRESSES REGRET

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 16, Postal Building. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.

Though general regret is expressed in society at the withdrawal of Paul Morton from the cabinet and the consequent departure of his family, the new secretary of the navy and Mrs. Bonaparte will be warmly welcomed. Mr. and Mrs. Morton have entertained extensively all winter and the boom they have given to the navy has been remarked on all sides, and no debutante has ever been more popular than Miss Pauline Morton. It is rather to be regretted, therefore, that the new lady of the cabinet is a semi-invalid. She is a woman of broad culture, however, and what entertaining she does is sure to be delightful.

Secretary Loeb today made public the correspondence which passed between the president and Secretary Morton concerning the latter's resignation as secretary of the navy. It follows:

My Dear Mr. President: I hereby tender my resignation as secretary of the navy and hope that you will accept it to take effect July 1, 1905. Business opportunities now present themselves to me which, in justice to myself and my family, I cannot fail to take advantage of. I have keenly enjoyed the work in the navy department, and I want to thank you for the great consideration you have always shown me. I shall always consider it a great honor to have been identified with your administration. With assurance of my highest regard, I remain, very sincerely yours, PAUL MORTON.

The president's reply:

My Dear Mr. Secretary: In accepting your resignation I wish to thank you for yielding to my wishes by remaining so long in the cabinet. When I asked you to enter the public service I knew the sacrifice that it would entail, and you at that time stated positively that you could not remain in the cabinet more than a few months and would have to leave on March 4. I thank you for having, however reluctantly, agreed with me that it was your duty to round out an entire year of service.

Your leaving is a cause of sincere regret to every man interested in the United States navy, and I do not know an officer or man of that navy who fails to share in that regret. I cannot state too strongly my appreciation of the services you have rendered, or the high standard you have consistently maintained, and the way in which you have kept the navy, both in its personnel and material, up to the standard. Your work has been emphatically work for the entire nation, and I congratulate our people that they are able to get such a type of public servant. With all good wishes for your future, believe me, faithfully yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Empire Gains Nine Theaters.

CINCINNATI, O., June 1.—(Special.)—Empire circuit managers in Cincinnati today added nine burlesque theaters to their circuit, thus crippling the rival eastern circuit from which the houses were taken. The committee reported those in the additions: Columbia theater, Boston; Unique and Columbia theaters, Brooklyn; Trocadero, Lyceum and Bijou theaters, Philadelphia; Bijou theater, Paterson, N. J.; Bon Ton theater, Jersey City, and Smith's opera house, Grand Rapids, Mich. H. D. Williams of Pittsburgh attended the meeting.

EMPEROR MAY SHIFT BURDEN ON NATION

Will Soon Convoke National Assembly, Which Must Decide Question of Peace or War.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 2.—The council held by the emperor with his ministers at Tsarskoe-Selo yesterday, will, it is said, result soon in an imperial manifesto proclaiming the immediate convocation of a national assembly. To this body the question of peace or war will be submitted, thereby shifting the burden of a decision from the shoulders of the emperor to the whole nation.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Russia will know officially how ready this government is to assist her in commencing peace negotiations with Japan at the earliest possible moment, if Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, carries out his intention of seeing the president tomorrow. The ambassador said tonight he hoped to make an appointment for tomorrow.

Incorrectly Count Cassini is already informed of the willingness of the president to take up the question of peace terms with Japan provided Russia is prepared to discuss the subject in good faith, but unless he receives instructions from his government between now and the time he calls on the president, the ambassador will personally express the firm conviction that his government has no intention of negotiating with Japan at this time.

PARIS, June 2.—Strong influences are being exerted between Paris and St. Petersburg towards peace, hopes of which for the first time assumed definite form within the last few days. The chief reliance of this government is the securing of the united influence of Great Britain, France and the United States in bringing about some basis of accord between the belligerents.

BERLIN, June 1.—(Copyright Cable.)—According to latest reports from St. Petersburg Admiral Alexeeff is using all his influence with the emperor in favor of continuation of the war.

U. S. STEEL OPTIONS LAND FOR BIG PLANT

DETROIT, MICH., June 1.—The United States Steel Corporation is buying options on property for the erection of a $10,000,000 steel plant on the Canadian shore of the Detroit river, just below Sandwich, Ont. A Bessemer pig iron furnace will be established on the Detroit side of the river.

STRAW HAT TIME

Paulson Straw Hats are well known to the Pittsburgh public—They need no introduction—And the present season is to be the banner one of our whole 67 years of hat selling experience.

We fully understand that to gain this we must deliver hats to surpass all others—And the hats are here.

Never in our experience have we given so much time and thought—or spent so much money in the assembling of our straw hat stock.

Our highest ambition will be realized—It cannot be otherwise.

Take the Knox line—

You know what that is—straw hat aristocracy—No other hat in the world quite like a Knox—

Sennits, split braids and Mackinaws—$3, $4 and $5.

Then there's the Paulson Hat—split braid, Sennit, London Boater and Rough Rider.

Best hats ever for the money—$2, $2.50 and $3.

Then as to dimensions—We advise for young men—2½, 2⅝ or 2¾ crowns, with 1⅞, 2 or 2⅛-inch brim; 2⅞ and 3-inch crown, with 2 and 2¼-inch brims, are also good styles.

For men who prefer the larger styles we have 3¼ and 3½-inch crowns.

We pin our faith to the Sennit braids—Nothing like them for young men especially—

Smooth, split braids are all right, however—especially for dressy occasions—

Panamas are still popular for people who can consistently make use of them.

Ten different styles—$6 to $25.

GREATEST SALES OF NEW PIANOS

ever held in this city.

The teamsters' strike in Chicago, with its consequent congestion of shipments, makes it possible for us to secure by cash purchase at special prices pianos in our regular line of highest grade pianos at a splendid saving. We could sell the goods in the regular course of our business and pocket the extra profit. But we prefer to move the extra stock quickly, and by tremendous advertising add to our daily increasing prestige as one of the very largest distributors of pianos in the world. This sale involves over

CITIZENS WILL MAKE A BLUFF

Pretense of Holding a County Convention for Purpose of Nominating Ticket.

LARGER COUNTY COMMITTEE

In the hope of making the people believe they have something to do with the naming of the fusion ticket, the Citizens will make a pretense of calling a county convention. The candidates will still be slated by a committee of five.

The Citizens county committee, composed almost entirely of office-holders in Pittsburgh, Allegheny and the county, held a secret meeting yesterday at the headquarters in Third avenue. There was a guard at the foot of the stairway and James McKee was stationed outside of the door of the meeting place on the second floor. The meetings of the Republican county committee are held in city hall, and are open to the public.

It was announced after the meeting that it had been decided to appoint a committee of five to meet with the Democrats and decide how the places on the county ticket are to be apportioned. This committee is not given power to select candidates. That will be done by another committee, and a county convention will be held June 27 to ratify the slate arranged by the bosses. This convention is supposed to have a representative from each of the 600-odd districts in the county.

In the past the Citizens county committee has consisted of 32 members. It was decided yesterday to provide for one committeeman in each election district. The committeemen and delegates to the county convention will be selected at precinct meetings, to be held about June 20.

The Prohibition party held its county convention in the old Second Presbyterian church yesterday. It was presided over by J. W. Houston. This ticket was nominated—County commissioners, T. P. Hershberger, West End; Elmer Pangburn, Elizabeth; controller, John C. Park, Allegheny; treasurer, James Carson, East McKeesport; clerk of courts, George Robinson, Boston; prothonotary, A. M. Meanor, Turtle Creek; recorder, G. L. Davis, McKees Rocks; director of the poor, Dr. O. L. Beswick, Wilmerding; register, T. C. Brittain, Aspinwall; judge of common pleas court, M. H. Stevenson, Pittsburgh. The following executive committee was announced: J. W. Houston, chairman; J. J. Porter, treasurer; H. G. Wormley, secretary, and R. S. Glass, vice chairman; J. A. McConnell, Dr. S. Harper Smith, M. J. Dible, Dr. J. A. Calhoun, J. P. Knox, P. T. Gamble, the Rev. L. N. D. Wells, the Rev. Mr. Maxwell, the Rev. D. L. Johnston, Porter Phipps and Walter Rhea. Fifty delegates were elected to the state convention, to be held in Williamsport on June 22. Clinton N. Howard of Rochester, N. Y., addressed the convention. Last night he was the principal speaker at a men's meeting in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church.

The judges have not filled the vacancy caused by the death of County Commissioner Mercer.

M'CLINTOCK LOSES FIGHT DESPITE HIS FIERY TALK

Well-Known Reformer Charges Chamber of Commerce Is Controlled by Cliques and Was Packed.

At the regular mothly meeting of the chamber of commerce yesterday Oliver McClintock made a fiery speech, alleging that "certain cliques" controlled the action of the chamber, and W. H. Stevenson introduced resolutions commending City Controller John B. Larkin. Mr. McClintock's speech was brought out by the successful attempt to discharge the special committee appointed to make a report relative to the transportation of explosives. The committee was appointed after the railroad wreck at Harrisburg, caused by dynamite. Mr. McClintock, S. W. Black and J. W. Kinnear composed the committee.

The committee was appointed at the last meeting, and yesterday the validity of the appointment was attacked. Mr. Black said he thought the question very important. Mr. McClintock said he was ready to proceed with the work for which the committee was appointed. He regretted the influence exerted by certain cliques, saying that because of this influence some members resigned and others never attended the meetings. This very meeting was packed, he said. The time was rife to disrupt these cliques and prevent the chamber of commerce from being held up to scorn. Notwithstanding his speech the motion was adopted by a vote of 45 to 8, and the matter was referred to the committee on railroads.

W. H. Stevenson offered a resolution commending Controller Larkin for the manner in which he had financed the filtration bonds and for the success of his efforts to have the interest rate on bond issues reduced. Mr. McClintock offered a resolution congratulating Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia on the "overthrow of political conspirators," and praying that the work of "redemption" might go on. Both resolutions were referred to the committee on municipal affairs.

A communication was read from the Portland (Ore.) exposition management, inviting the chamber of commerce to participate in the exposition. The chamber then adjourned for the summer vacation. Meetings will be resumed in October.

McKeesport Man Heir to Fortune.

William Signet, Jr., of McKeesport, yesterday received notification from Benjamin C. Potts, auditor of the Media Title and Trust Company of Delaware county, Pa., to appear and prove his identity and then share in the distribution of a fortune estimated at $1,000,000 left by an aunt of the second wife of the late William Signet, Sr. Mr. Signet and his father will leave today for Delaware county, and expect to get at least $100,000.

TAX DODGERS ARE PUT ON BOOKS

Over 3,000 Persons Will Not Escape Personal Property Taxes This Year.

VALUATION IS $150,000,000

Three thousand persons who have been dodging the collector of personal property tax in this county have been placed on the books by the commissioners. As a result the valuation for this year will be $150,000,000, or $3,000,000 in excess of 1904.

A tax of 4 mills is levied by the state on stocks, bonds and mortgages. The money is paid direct to the state and three-fourths is returned to the county. The increase of $9,000,000 will mean an additional revenue of $27,000 for Allegheny county.

J. M. Wilson, who has charge of the state tax department for the county, will complete his personal property return for this year within a couple of weeks.

"The valuation will be put up to $150,000,000 this year," said he. "In 1904 the total was $141,000,000. Then stocks had depreciated and there was a big shrinkage in the returns made by some of our wealthiest citizens. Steel preferred was $50 a share. Today it is over $82, but some of the holders are still returning it at a value of $50. This is done through the assessors, and we have no way of correcting the return. If owners of personal property were compelled to come to our office to make their returns, I am satisfied the total valuation would be raised to $200,000,000. The system of reporting through the assessor is a great advantage to the dodgers.

"This year we have been searching for persons who have been dodging the personal property tax. Over 3,000 new names have been added to our books. In some cases the men have been large holders of property subject to the state tax. By a real assessment of personal property, the county would be able to make a material reduction in its millage."

Braddock High School Graduates Class of Twelve and Pleasing Exercises Are Carried Out.

The 16th annual commencement of the Braddock High school took place last evening in Carnegie hall. There were 12 in the class, and the exercises were interspersed with music by a chorus of high school pupils. The honors this year went to William J. Aiken, salutatorian, and Nelie Florence Gorsuch, valedictorian. The Rev. J. F. Clokey made the address to the graduating class, and the diplomas were presented by R. M. McAnulty, president of the Braddock school board.

Superintendent Grant Norris presented certificates of graduation to 50 pupils who have finished the course in the grades, most of whom will enter the high school next fall. The members of the graduating class are:

William J. Aiken, Laura L. Bender, Jessie F. Swaney, Margaretta L. Brackemeyer, William F. Haas, Margaret McClain, Mayme L. Stroup, Henry C. Mills, Rose Blattner, Clarence C. Shelby, Nelle Florence Gorsuch.

GOOD AIR AT HOME.

Wealthy Versailles Farmer Builds an Open House for His Consumptive Daughter.

Oliver Evans, a wealthy farmer of Versailles township, has constructed a special house for his daughter, Miss Rebecca Evans, who was recently stricken with tuberculosis while attending a seminary at Birmingham, Ala. He sent a telegram to his daughter to come home, and the same day employed a small army of carpenters and other craftsmen.

Miss Evans, with servants and nurse, entered the building yesterday morning. The house is built of hemlock and is open on all sides, canvas protecting the interior from rain. It contains a parlor, library, diningroom, kitchen, bath room and sleeping apartments, and is built on the highest portion of the farm. Unless it is raining, the canvas sides are kept hoisted at all times.

Mr. Evans believes his daughter can be cured by the open-air method here as well as in Colorado.

WANTED QUICK ACTION, NEEDS DOCTOR NOW

John Cerpeder, aged 14, of Irwin avenue, Hays, was painfully burned on the head and face by the explosion of a box of dynamite torpedoes near his home yesterday. He had purchased the torpedoes to fire them off in a cane, but this was too slow and he struck the box with a hammer.

HUMBOLDT SCHOOL MAKES FINE SHOWING OF WORK

The rooms of the Humboldt school, Twenty-sixth ward, yesterday afternoon looked like the departments in a big bazar. It was inspection day, and every pupil had something on exhibition. The pride of the young people was only eclipsed by that of parents and friends who visited the old school.

The 23 members of the High school class had the center of the stage and under the direction of Miss M. E. Lauffer made a magnificent showing of art work and general class work. The cooking school department, in charge of Miss Harriet Eck, and the manual training school, of which A. D. Alexander is director, made a showing in all respects up to the standard of this first among South Side schools. The young women in the cooking school served lemonade and strawberry shortcake to the guests.

Mrs. M. B. Redman announces the following as pupils in the High school class: Harriet H. Taudte, Lena Moore, Ivy E. Waldeck, Hana M. Schiltze, Blanche M. Stuart, Emma M. Siesfeld, Elanora K. Krebs, Alma Heft, Elma M. Miller, Alma Wagner, Antoinette Weber, Emelia Ruske, William Zwingel, George A. Byalo, Howard O. Cappel, James Connelly, Lloyd W. Prevost, George L. Scheidemantel, Elmer Clyde Curry, Milton Benz and Edgar Hass.

WANTS ENEMY HANGED.

Trouble in Ballooley, Ireland—Attempt Being Made to Transfer It to Allegheny County.

All is not peace in the pretty little hamlet of Ballooley, which is a sub-station of the postoffice of Kateshridge, the latter being served through Ballyroney. All these places are in County Down, Ireland. Samuel Paxton of Ballooley has a neighbor he would like to lose. In fact, he would be glad to have him deported and hanged in the Allegheny county jail yard.

In furtherance of the laudable ambition, Paxton has written to Supt. of Police Wallace of this city. Paxton's letter is as follows, omitting the name of his enemy:

Dear Sir—Excuse me for taking the liberty of sending these few lines to you. It is reported through the country here that ——— ——— has committed murder three or four times in the vicinity of Pittsburgh. I understand he was working in the Pullman car shops and also driving street cars for a time. He is back in this country 12 or 14 years, perhaps a little more.

If the American authorities have any claim on him they can capture the man at any time. The money he keeps, for he is thieving and robbing everyone he can get the Queen at. He is dangerous and treacherous. I met him last summer and he drew a knife on me. He said only for the law he would drive it into me. I believe it is wrong to keep his beings a secret. Please send me an answer if this report is true.

The city and county authorities have no knowledge of the man named.

THE SITUATION IN THE FAR EAST.

Further accounts of the battle, in the sea of Japan, state that the Russian squadron was enveloped by the Japanese and pounded for two days, while torpedo craft continued the work of annihilation at night. Admiral Voelkersam was killed in the conning tower of his ship. The Russians probably lost 7,000 men, not including 4,000 taken prisoners. The Japanese lost only three torpedo boat destroyers and about 800 men. It was reported that Admiral Rojestvensky's chances of recovery are slight.—Page 1.

The captain of the Russian cruiser Izumrud telegraphed the czar that after running on a reef and running out of coal he blew up his ship. The captain of the destroyer Bravi had to burn his woodwork in order to make Vladivostok.—Page 1.

Japan confirmed the loss of her battleship Yashima last May and five other warships.—Page 1.

FOREIGN.

King Alfonso braved the anarchists and continued to enjoy his visit to Paris. The police examined suspects.—Page 2.

DOMESTIC.

The Frick investigating committee recommended the removal of Messrs. Alexander, Hyde and Tarbell from office in the Equitable Life Assurance society.—Page 1.

Labor leaders in Chicago testified that they were offered a bribe of $10,000 to declare a strike of the teamsters employed by a large firm in that city.—Page 1.

Senator Penrose had a talk with President Roosevelt about numerous Pennsylvania applicants for places in the diplomatic service.—Page 1.

George E. Lorenz testified that he had no promise of reward when he turned state's evidence in the postal fraud cases.—Page 6.

Congressman Littlefield, in a speech at international arbitration conference, justified President Roosevelt's course in withdrawing the arbitration treaties from the senate.—Page 2.

President Roosevelt put the Portland exposition in motion by pressing an electric key at the White House.—Page 2.

"EXPECTED TO DO UTMOST"

So Runs Togo's Battle Signal When Russian Armada Is Sighted.

IN CIRCLE OF FIRE

Czar's Squadron, Enveloped by Its Enemy, Is Pounded for Two Days.

TORPEDOES FINISH THE JOB

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, May 31.—A Japanese officer who has returned to Sasebo gives the following account of the sea fight off the Tsu islands:

"At 5:30 Saturday morning a wireless message reading: 'The enemy's squadron is in sight,' reached the naval base. This message was transmitted to all our ships by the flagship, with instructions to get ready for action. Our squadron headed for the eastern channel off Tsushima, our men eager for the long-delayed fight to begin.

"When Tsushima was sighted to the southwest, the sea was rough and the torpedo boats were forced to run for the shelter of the island. Our third fighting squadron, with the Takashiho to port, reconnoitered the Russian course, and at 11:36 a. m. informed the main squadron by wireless telegraph that the Russian ships were passing into the east channel, whereupon our main squadron, changing its course to the southward, came in sight of Okinshima at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The third division arrived later and joined the main squadron. The first and second divisions, accompanied by the destroyer flotilla, changed to a westerly course, while the third division and the fourth destroyer flotilla headed slightly eastward.

A Trafalgar Message.

"During the maneuver, the Russian flagship appeared to the southward at 1:45 o'clock. The Russians steamed up in double column. The fleet was numerous but no living being was visible. The Russian ships seemed to be in good order. Our ships hoisted the flag of action, the Mikasa signalling 'The destiny of our emperor depends upon this action. You are all expected to do your utmost.'

"Our first and second divisions turned to the Russians' starboard, while the third division kept in close touch with the preceding two divisions. With the Japanese ships proceeding in this order, it was 2:12 o'clock when the Russians opened fire. The first two shots fell short of our line, and it was some minutes later before we commenced firing.

"Our destroyers kept on the port side of the main squadron, and in this formation we pressed the Russians against the coast of Kihashu and they were obliged to change their course to the east. We maneuvered our ships as to have their bows paralleled to the north side of the Russian line. The Mikasa, of our first division, which had been leading, changed to the rear of the line, while the Kasuga headed the line.

Russians Are Enveloped.

"The engagement now became very fierce. The Borodino was seen to be on fire. A little later the Russians headed west, and we changed our course accordingly. Five ships of our second division concentrated their fire on the Borodino. Our first division now began firing vigorously, proceeding parallel with the Russian line, and as we began to press against the head of the Russian line our third division veered to the Russian rear, thus enveloping their ships.

"The engagement proceeded hotly. Our second division followed a course parallel with the northern side of the Russians, and this movement completed the envelopment. The Russian ships were seen trying to break through, and our destroyers' flotilla intercepted their new course. This state of envelopment continued until the following day, with the ships at varying distances.

"Thus enclosed on all sides, the Russians were helpless and powerless to escape the cycle. Previous instructions had been given the destroyers and torpedo boats to attack the Russian ships. Following instructions, the fifth destroyer flotilla advanced against a Russian ship upon which the second division had been concentrating its fire, signalling: 'We are going to give the last thrust at them.'

Deadly Work of Torpedoes.

"The Russian continued to fight, and seeing the approaching torpedo boats, directed its fire on them. Undaunted, our destroyers pressed forward, the Chitose meantime continuing its fire. The torpedo flotilla arrived within 200 meters of the Russian ship and the Shiranus fired the first shot. Two other torpedo boats fired one each. The Shiranus received two shells, but the other boats were not damaged. The Russian ship was completely sunk.

"Sundown saw the battle raging furiously. Our shells were evidently telling on the Russians, who showed signs of confusion. Our fifth torpedo flotilla, after destroying the Borodino, followed in the wake of our second division, the signal reading: 'Something like the Russians' submarines have been sighted. Attack them.'

"The flotilla followed and located the object, which proved to be a sinking ship with its overturned bottom showing. Thirty survivors clung to the wreck, crying for assistance. Firing ceased with the approach of darkness.

Whipped by Night Attacks.

"According to orders previously given for a torpedo attack after dark, all the destroyer flotilla, dividing into two squadrons, proceeded to attack the Russians during the whole night. The Russians frustrated the first and second attacks with searchlights. A third attempt was carefully made, and the Yugiri sank a ship of the Borodino type and also hit others. During the night the Russians continued to move, and we preserved our enveloping movement some distance from

CAPTAIN SINKS THE IZUMRUD

Runs Out of Coal, Strikes Reef and Therefore Destroys Her.

BRAVI BURNS DECK

Russian Press and Public Clamor for Execution of Officers Who Surrendered.

CITE RULES OF THE NAVY

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 1.—Official reports of the naval battle are being received by the emperor and Grand Duke Alexis, the high admiral. The fate of the cruiser Izumrud is told in a telegram from her captain, Baron Ferzen, dated June 1, saying he had blown up the cruiser at the entrance of Vladimir bay.

The Baron says that before dark on May 27 the Oslabia, Alexander III. and Borodino had been sunk, and that the Kniaz Souvaroff, the Kamtchatka and the Ural had been seriously damaged and were lost to sight. The command then devolved on Rear Admiral Nebogatoff.

In the evening the Nikolai I., the Orel, the Gen. Admiral Apraxine, the Admiral Seniavin, the Admiral Oushakoff, the Sissio Veliky, the Navarin, the Admiral Nakahimoff and the Izumrud sailed northeastward, the latter being charged to transmit orders to the battleships. Two other cruisers were cut off from the fleet and were not seen again. The battleships, steaming at 14 knots, were repeatedly attacked by the Japanese torpedo boats, especially at the extremities of the line.

Tried to Run Away.

At dawn it was ascertained that the battleship division consisted only of the Nikolai I., the Orel, the Gen. Admiral Apraxine and the Admiral Seniavin.

At sunrise, May 28, smoke from the Japanese ships reappeared on the horizon, whereupon the admiral gave orders for increased speed. The Admiral Seniavin and the Gen. Admiral Apraxine dropped behind.

Toward 10 o'clock the Japanese fleet appeared first to port and then to starboard, while the cruiser division maneuvered behind the Russians to starboard. Baron Ferzen's account continues:

"I was cut off from the squadron, and finding it impossible to rejoin it resolved to make for Vladivostok. I put on full speed, and the enemy's cruisers came on in pursuit. Owing to the insufficiency of my coal supply and the certainty of meeting the enemy's cruisers I subsequently altered my course for Vladimir bay, where I arrived on the night of May 29. At 1:30 o'clock next morning, in pitch darkness, the Izumrud ran full on a reef at the entrance to the bay.

Blew Up His Ship.

"Having only 10 tons of coal, and seeing it would be impossible to again float my vessel, I ordered the crew ashore and blew up the Izumrud to prevent her falling into the hands of the enemy. Ten of my sailors were wounded in the battle, but the officers and the rest of the crew are all safe."

Lieut. Dournovo, commander of the torpedo boat destroyer Bravi, has telegraphed from Vladivostok to Grand Duke Alexis an account of his venturous voyage, after the separation of his destroyer from the fleet on the evening of May 27, having in the course of the afternoon saved 175 officers and men of the battleship Oslabia.

The destroyer suffered considerable damage from a six-inch projectile, and was able to speed only 11 miles an hour. The main mast was lowered and the funnels painted white so as to render the vessel less conspicuous to the Japanese torpedo boats. On the night of May 29 a steam pipe burst, reducing the speed to five miles an hour. Lacking coal, all the wooden parts of the destroyer were burned for fuel before she reached Vladivostok.

Lieut. Gen. Linevitch has transmitted a report from Gen. Kesbeck of the arrival of the torpedo-boat destroyer Grozny at Vladivostok, and telling of a fight off Dagelet island, which that vessel and the destroyer Bedovi had with two Japanese destroyers. The Grozny sank one of the Japanese destroyers and saw the Bedovi sink as the result of an explosion. The report says that the Bedovi was carrying Vice Admiral Rojestvensky and his staff.

Want Cowards Shot.

According to the dispatch from Baron Ferzen, the commander of the cruiser Izumrud, the battleships remaining in the fight were still in squadron formation when he was cut off, and this increases the deep resentment felt here at the surrender of the ships, the Novoe Vremya even declaring that the officers ought to be courtmartialed and shot for hauling down their flags and turning over their ships to the Japanese.

The paper cites articles of the naval regulations forbidding a commander to surrender except as a last emergency after taking measures to destroy his ship. It points out that it required only the opening of the seacocks to send the ships to the bottom. The crews would be given a good chance of life, the paper says, and cites the example of the cruiser Rurik of the Vladivostok squadron, which after the fight with Admiral Kamimura in August last went down heroically with colors flying.

The report from Lieut. Dournove of the torpedo-boat destroyer Bravi, telling how that boat was obliged even to burn her woodwork to reach the harbor, awakens a gleam of satisfaction, and though the Izrumrud failed to reach Vladivostok, her destruction at the hands of her own crew is regarded with almost equal pleasure.

The saddest note for St. Petersburg was struck by the destruction of the battleship Alexander III., which was manned by sailors of the guard and officered exclusively by men prominent in society and at court. Her crew served during the winter time as a regiment of the guard, of which the dowager empress was honorary commander.

MANY PENNSYLVANIANS WANT TO BE DIPLOMATS

Senator Penrose Has Talk With President Roosevelt About Numerous Applicants.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Senator Penrose called on the president today to talk with him about the places in the diplomatic and consular service that will be allotted to Pennsylvania. The senator has some recommendations to make but desires to have some idea as to the number of places his state will get. He has over 100 applications from Pennsylvania men who would like to serve the government as its representative at some foreign city. The president could give no assurances at this time, but said he would see what could be done for the ambitious men from Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania is pretty well represented in the diplomatic and consular service now. Charlemagne Tower, the ambassador of the United States to Germany, is from that state. So are Lloyd C. Griscom, minister to Japan; Lawrence Townsend, minister to Brussels; John G. A. Leishman, minister to Turkey, and William B. Sorsby, minister to Bolivia. The state has a number of consuls general and consuls, there being four consuls general in Germany from Pennsylvania.

Senator Penrose will leave tomorrow for Philadelphia and does not expect to return until congress meets in the fall. In the latter part of June he will go to the Rocky mountains for an extended vacation.

W. H. Andrews, formerly of Pittsburgh, but now delegate to congress from the territory of New Mexico, was also a caller at the White House today. He wanted to see the president regarding some matters relating to the territory.

EXTRA SESSION DOUBTFUL.

President Roosevelt Announces Dates for His Southern Trip Which May Affect Calling of Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—(Special.)—All idea of an extra session of congress in October was given up today when the details of President Roosevelt's southern trip were announced at the White House. He will leave Washington October 17 and be in the south 12 days. He will visit Richmond (Va.), Raleigh (N. C.) and pass through South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Florida.

No announcement of the date of an extra session has been made, and it is not believed that the president will call one until November 15, if then. Strong pressure has been brought to bear, and is still being exercised by senators and leaders of the house against an extra session.

JONES' COMMISSION FOUND.

Secretary Morton Will Try to Obtain Possession of It for the Navy Department.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—Secretary Morton today received information that the original commission of John Paul Jones as a captain in the navy has been located in Philadelphia, and he will initiate an effort to obtain it for the navy department. The commission reads: "John F. Paul Jones is appointed to be captain in the navy. By order of congress, John Hancock, president. Philadelphia, October 10, 1779. Attest: Charles Thompson." The commission is owned by a descendant of Peter Ganzevoort, of revolutionary fame.

BLOW FROM SNOWBALL BRINGS DIRE CONSEQUENCES

Miss Tina House, aged 17, of Braddock, will undergo an operation at the West Penn hospital today in an effort to relieve her of a trouble from which she has suffered since last winter, when she was struck on the head with a snowball while returning to her home from school. The snowball was thrown by one of a crowd of boys and struck Miss House on the head. She did not appear to be hurt at the time, but several hours later was seized with violent pains in the head and for several days her death was expected. She has since recovered her physical strength, but her mind is almost a blank. Her skull will be trephined.

Mad Dog Attacks Millmen.

A big bulldog, thought to have been suffering from rabies, caused a panic among workmen at open hearth department No. 3 in the Homestead Steel works yesterday afternoon. The dog bit William Nirkham on the right arm and leg several times, and when other workmen attempted to drive him off he turned and attacked them. Pieces of steel and bars were secured by the men who clubbed the animal to death.

JAPANESE CONTRACTS COME TO PITTSBURGH

It Is Estimated Mikado Is Placing Orders in This District Amounting to $15,000,000.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 1.—That the Japanese intend to carry on military operations in Manchuria on a very extensive scale is illustrated by the fact of the placing of huge contracts here for various railroad equipment. In addition to 120 locomotives some months ago by local representatives of the Japanese government, another contract has been placed with the Baldwin locomotive works for 100 engines, which are to be shipped overland so that all possible speed will be made in their reaching the far east.

The Pressed Steel Car Company of Pittsburgh has captured a rush contract for 1,800 pressed steel cars, ranging in capacity from seven to 20 tons. This requisition is in addition to the one calling for 1,000 cars—gondola type, steel underframe, which is to be filled by the American Car and Foundry Company.

The greatest secrecy is being pursued as to time of delivery. It can be stated, however, that 40,000 tons of freight were booked today with the transcontinental railway, in connection with the above contracts. This means an expenditure of upward of $150,000 for freight alone.

Other big contracts for railroad material are expected to be closed here by the Japanese government in the next few days. It is estimated that within the last few months contracts have been placed largely in the Pittsburgh district, on Japanese account, for structural steel, electrical equipment, machinery and railroad material for Japanese, Korean and Manchuria railroads, representing an expenditure of $15,000,000.

LABOR LEADERS TESTIFY THEY WERE OFFERED BRIBE

Tell Chicago Grand Jury They Refused $10,000 to Bring About a Strike of Teamsters.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 1.—Charges of bribery against an officer of the Employers' Teaming Company were made today to a grand jury by President Shea of the Teamsters' union and by Albert Young, formerly president of the same organization. Young and Shea said that they were offered $10,000 two years ago to bring about a strike of the teamsters employed by Sears, Roebuck & Co., which is a rival concern of Montgomery Ward & Co. They said they refused the money and the strike was never called.

Shea was the first witness, and his testimony covered the offering of the bribe and his statement that he would not call the strike for "$100,000." Young was then called and gave similar testimony. He refused to tell where the meeting had taken place or to name the men who were present when the $10,000 was said to have been offered. Young declined to give any good reasons for refusing the information and was taken before Judge Barnes, who was asked for a ruling on the matter. The judge decided that Young would not incriminate himself, and he ordered him to make answers.

Young and the members of the grand jury then returned to the juryroom and Young was questioned for an hour. He gave the names of the men offering the money. State's Attorney Healy declared that all persons connected with the inquiry had been sworn to secrecy.

MORMONS TO BUILD SHRINE.

Joseph F. Smith Buys the Home Farm of Founder of Sect in Vermont.

SOUTH ROYALTON, VT., June 1.—(Special.)—A Mormon shrine is to be established on Dairy Hill near here on the site where Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormon church, was born. A portion of the foundation of the old Smith homestead and the hearthstone still remain. The farm on which the Smith home stood was purchased last week by Joseph F. Smith, for the Mormon church, of which he is president.

The plans of the church authorities include, beside the erection of a monument, the construction of several cottages for the accommodation of the faithful and the clearing up of the entire 65 acres, and transforming it into a sylvan park. About $10,000 will be spent.

After Ships for Canal Work.

LONDON, June 1.—Richard L. Farnham, a director of the Panama railway, has arrived in England. His mission is the charter of several ships for the Panama canal commission, and he is now making a tour of the shipyards of Great Britain inspecting available vessels.

BUYS 10,000 ACRES OF COAL

Jones & Laughlin Steel Company Fortifies Itself.

THE COST IS $3,000,000

Property Adjoins Company's Present Washington County Holdings in Fifth Pool.

GIVES SUPPLY FOR FIFTY YEARS

The Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, the largest independent steel company of the United States, has fortified itself impregnably in its coal supply by a deal which has just been closed. Through its subsidiary concern, the Vesta Coal Company, the Jones & Laughlin company has bought 10,000 acres of the finest Washington county coal. The tract obtained is continuous and has a width of about three miles, and a length of about five.

The price paid for the property is approximately $3,000,000. This includes two or three tracts of surface land which were purchased with the coal. The average price for the coal was, therefore, somewhat less than $300 an acre.

The property lies in the fifth pool of the Monongahela, in a district famous for the value of the coal. It extends back from Fredericktown on the river to Beallsville. The collection of the numerous parcels into one continuous tract has been a labor of much magnitude, and has required months to accomplish.

Includes 135 Properties.

The deal was made by the steel company interests with J. V. Thompson, Isaac W. Semans, James R. Barnes and Joseph E. Barnes, the Uniontown coal land dealers and financiers. The need for both rapid and quiet work in getting the tract together was manifest and this result was obtained with remarkable success.

In all there were 135 parcels to be obtained. The printed and bound deed for the properties makes a book of 200 pages. For a month there were 70 surveyors at work on the property and a smaller number were employed for a still longer time.

The coal is particularly well situated for the needs of the Jones & Laughlin company. It adjoins the present large holdings which amount to about 6,000 acres. This gives, therefore, a continuous tract of 16,000 acres owned by the one company.

While the bulk of the coal just bought will not be touched for a number of years, the location is such as to make is a very simple mining proposition. The company's new No. 4 mine at Coal Center can be used to tap a very large portion of the field. The need for a new opening will not develop for years to come.

Deal of Much Significance.

The deal has its significance in the larger policies of the big company in its relations with other steel concerns and particularly with the United States Steel Corporation. The control of the production of the raw materials that enter into the manufacture of steel is accepted as a most important feature in the success of a steel concern, which must, of necessity, be in a position to obtain its supplies at the lowest possible cost. So far as the coal is concerned the Jones & Laughlin interests have nothing to fear in the future. It is at least as well equipped as any of its competitors.

The same policy has been followed with regard to other supplies. It operates its own coke ovens. The company has for years owned and operated its own ore mines in the upper lake regions. It has even contemplated the construction of its own railroad line from Pittsburgh to Lake Erie, and about three years ago secured the needful terminal property and the locations for the line.

SUIT OVER DEATH BENEFIT.

Brotherhood Unable to Decide Whether McKees Rocks Woman or Another Was Legal Wife.

CLEVELAND, June 1.—(Special.)—To determine which of the wives of Edward Woodbridge is entitled to a $1,200 death benefit, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen has begun a legal action here. Edward Woodbridge and Catherine Jones were married in Pennsylvania September 17, 1885. One daughter, Helen, now aged 13 years, was born. Later the couple separated and Woodbridge went to Youngstown. While in Youngstown he married another woman August 10, 1896. The two went to McKees Rocks, Pa., and established a home. They lived together until his death on April 12, 1902. In the meantime the first wife, according to the child, was granted a divorce by the common pleas court of Luzerne county, Pa., in 1900. It is alleged the second marriage was not legal.

CZAR IS REPORTED DEAD.

Said Either to Have Committed Suicide or Been Assassinated, but Rumors Are Denied.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 2.—(3:25 a. m.)—Rumors are afloat in the city that the emperor is dead, having either committed suicide or been assassinated. These rumors are untrue.

PARIS, June 2.—The rumor from St. Petersburg of the death of the emperor is reproduced in all of the newspapers this morning. The rumor was strongly denied by the Russian embassy.

REPTILES RIFLE BROODER, FEAST OF FOWLS FOLLOWS

When Eugene Carpenter of Glassport went in his brooder yesterday to look at his chicks he found half of them lying dead on the floor, while the other half of the 150 "peeps" were not in sight. Two snakes were coiled in a corner, but made no effort to move. Mr. Carpenter killed the snakes with a club and then discovered that most of the chicks had been swallowed by the reptiles. The snakes were seven feet long.

WOULD CLEAN OUT EQUITABLE

Frick Committee Decides Against Alexander, Hyde and Tarbell.

WILL AMEND REPORT

It Is Thought the Officers Will Refuse to Resign If Requested to Do So.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, June 1.

On recommendations that will be embodied in a supplementary report by the Frick investigating committee and handed to the directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society tomorrow, depends entirely whether the resignations are to be asked of James W. Alexander, James Hazen Hyde and Gage E. Tarbell. The Frick committee has reported that the facts brought out during its investigation warrant the vacating of the offices held by these men.

Should the Frick committee recommend that the resignations must be demanded before a veritable "house cleaning" process is begun in the society, it will rest with the board of directors to decide whether such a radical step should be taken.

Some members of the board of directors are inclined to believe such severe punishment ought not to be meted to these men, inasmuch as they are not charged with criminal acts, although all are condemned for extravagance and waste, and Alexander and Hyde are practically charged with a breach of trust, in having participated in the "James H. Hyde & Associates" syndicates.

Means New Complications.

It was said tonight that should the board of directors request the three resignations they would be met with a prompt refusal. This would further complicate matters, for Alexander, Hyde and Tarbell were all re-elected last January, each to serve another year. The directors would have no power to dismiss the three incumbents of office unless charges against each were formulated and substantiated after a hearing. There is nothing in the Frick committee's report that could be made the basis of charges against Tarbell, and the same is true of Messrs. Alexander and Hyde, unless the directors saw their way clear to make such use of Alexander's and Hyde's participation in the several underwriting syndicates.

But the language of the Frick committee's report is such that there is only one interpretation to be put upon the words used, and that is that the resignations must be demanded or other means adopted to supplant Alexander, Hyde and Tarbell, for the reports "recommends" that there be a change in the offices of president, first vice president and second vice president and the entire reorganization of the Equitable's offices and management.

The report not only says that all the officers' salaries are too high, but says the increase made in salaries by Mr. Hyde and concurred in by Mr. Alexander since 1900 have been out of all proportion to any increase of business.

Neglectful and Careless.

Going still further, the Frick committee reported that there was no question that Mr. Hyde had made innumerable errors and mistakes during his incumbency of office, mistakes in judgment and not willful or criminal in intent. But the committee makes Mr. Alexander shoulder the responsibility for the mistakes with Mr. Hyde, for Mr. Alexander is charged with being neglectful and careless in his administration of his office and further that he had full knowledge of the acts of Mr. Hyde and failed to report the matters to the board of directors.

More important, however, is the denunciation by the Frick committee of the financial interest of the Equitable Life or any other similar institution in subsidiary companies, such as trust companies, banks and railroads. The committee does not believe that the Equitable's funds should be employed in the organization or the support of these subsidiary interests. It recommends that the assets of the Equitable be withdrawn from all such subsidiary companies and invested in good paying investment securities.

This would mean a direct blow at these institutions which have been called "Equitable creatures"—Mercantile Trust Company, Fidelity Trust Company, Equitable Trust Company, Union National bank, Newark, N. J., the National Bank of Commerce and the Mercantile Safe Deposit Company.

Would Revolutionize Insurance.

Of great importance is the recommendation made by the committee that the Equitable dispense with the present "deferred dividend" method of doing business.

If these be followed by the directors it will not only revolutionize that society's business, but will probably cause all other life insurance companies to change their methods as well, as the Frick committee would have policy-holders paid their dividends each year. It must be understood that Mr. Alexander has said that of the $43,000,000 surplus of the Equitable $20,000,000 is really held to meet these dividends. Ninety per cent of the business done by the Equitable is on the "deferred dividend" basis.

The holder of a "deferred dividend" policy obtains his profits at the end of a certain term of years. Should the holder of such a policy die before the expiration of the term of years for which the policy was written his beneficiaries are paid the face value of the policy.

In its report the Frick committee emphasizes the fact that the stockholders own the company, but no suggestion is made that the stock should be purchased by the society to prepare its way for mutualization. Then it takes up the various "James H. Hyde and associates" syndicates, and goes into the detail of every transaction where the syndicate figured. Out of the purchases of bonds in which the syndicates figured the Frick committee shows that the Equitable has made a profit of $500,000.

Should Pay Over Profits.

The members of the syndicates made about $250,000. The Frick committee holds that it makes no difference because the Equitable has profited to the extent of $200,000 through these transactions, but because of their fiduciary relation with the society, the six members of the syndicate are in honor bound to pay over to the society every cent they made as participants in these transactions.

There is no charge or intimation that there was anything criminal in the transaction by the syndicate, but the proceeding is severely condemned.

Mr. Tarbell, the committee finds, conducted his office extravagantly, and the same charge is made against nearly every department. This is equally true of Mr. Alexander's administration of his affairs according to the Frick committee.

Disapproval is given of the salary paid to Mr. Hyde of $100,000 and of his drawing salaries also from the Mercantile Trust Company and the Equitable Trust Company. Mr. Hyde is charged with paying his personal clerks extravagant salaries.

Among the other changes suggested by the committee is the keeping of smaller cash deposits. On December 31, 1904, the Equitable had $7,517,730.24 deposited in banks and $15,518,146.85 in trust companies, or a total of $22,651,866.82.

In criticising Mr. Hyde the report refers to the dinner to Ambassador Cambon as an unwarrantable charge against the society. The Sherry dinner is not specified, but figures under the general condemnatory passages.

While the Frick committee was in session today and working on its supplementary report, Messrs. Alexander and Hyde were in conference with their lawyers. These conferences lasted until late tonight, and then it was said Mr. Hyde would not resign, and neither would Mr. Alexander, but that they had come to the conclusion that the report of the Frick committee would not be adopted and that every effort would be made to prevent its adoption.

the Russian position. The Russian ships headed northeast after daybreak, hoping to reach Vladivostok. Our officers and men were determined that not a ship should escape, and resolved not to relax their efforts until they had succeeded in either sinking or capturing every Russian ship.

"Our ships always kept ahead of the Russians. The battle was resumed at 9 o'clock Sunday morning 12 miles east or Chinnpyon bay, and lasted all day. Here the Russians suffered their heaviest losses. They seemed unprepared to repel night attacks. During our first night attack the Russians showed nine searchlights and frustrated the attacks, but clearly give us the location of the fleet which brought success later."

Sailors Give Their Version.

A number of wounded Japanese sailors who have arrived at the hospital at Maidburu navy yard, say the Japanese armored cruiser Asama approached within 2,000 meters of the Russian fleet and carefully observed its action. They add that Sunday morning, when the search for the remnants of the Russian ships were discovered in the vicinity of Liancourt island, and were immediately surrounded. One, supposed to be the Izumrud, escaped at full speed.

The remaining four ships offered no resistance, and hoisted the Japanese flag over the Russian colors, apparently offering to surrender. Capt. Vashire, commanding the Azama, started in a small boat to ascertain the real intentions of the Russians, when Admiral Nebogatoff lowered a boat and came on board the Azama, where he formally surrendered. The prisoners were distributed among the Japanese ships, and prize crews were selected to take possession of the captured vessels. On the way the captain of the Orel died of wounds.

Lost Only Three Torpedo Boats.

A report from Admiral Togo says:

"Later reports show that during the night of May 27 our torpedo boats numbered 34, 35 and 69 were sunk by the enemy's fire. Comrades rescued the majority of their crews. Besides the above there was no damage worth reporting. No warship nor destroyer suffered any loss of fighting or navigating power.

"We anticipated a heavy loss of life, but find that our casualties were comparatively slight. They do not exceed 500 killed and wounded.

Rough estimates made of the Russian losses in the battle, exclusive of nearly 4,000 prisoners, vary from 7,000 to 9,000. It is feared the majority perished. Calculating the complements of the sunk and captured ships at upward of 10,000, there remain 7,000 unaccounted for. Many bodies have been washed ashore on the islands and on the shores of the neighboring coasts near the scene of the battle.

Rear Admiral Voelkersam, commander of the battleship squadron of the Russian fleet, was killed the first day of the battle (May 27) in the conning tower of his flagship, the Oslabia, one of the vessels sunk by the Japanese.

Fully 2,800 Russian naval prisoners have been landed. Three damaged Russian vessels have drifted ashore off the coast of the province of Nagato.

Loss of Rojestvensky's Ship.

LONDON, June 1.—The Tokyo correspondent of the Daily Express sends a story of the battle told by an officer of the battleship Borodino, who is now at Sasebo. The officer says:

Admiral Rojestvensky came on board early in the battle and directed the fighting from the Borodino's flying bridge. The Japanese battleships Shikishima and Fuji opened every gun upon us. A projectile struck the forward barbette and this rendered us all insensible. I groped out of the smoke-filled barbette to the deck and found there a rain of projectiles. Dozens were lying dead or wounded at every turn. I returned to the barbette, but was only able to fire two rounds when two projectiles struck us simultaneously, wrecked the barbette, disabled both the 12-inch guns and killed 18 officers and men.

Admiral Rojestvensky was wounded and transferred to a destroyer, and as the destroyer left she was assailed by a hail of small arm ammunition. The Borodino had been repeatedly struck in the hull and was settling down with no hope of saving her. The Japanese had broken our battle formation and were closing in, concentrating their fire on our fighting tops, of whose crews barely one escaped. Fire had now broken out in several places, adding to the horror of our situation, and it was decided to withdraw from the firing line to repair our steering gear. But we were surrounded by eight Japanese ships and bombarded on every side. We still fought desperately with our after 12-inch guns and what was left of our smaller guns and with about half our complement of men. But the Borodino sank lower and lower.

Lost Four Hundred Men.

Toward evening, after we had lost 400 men, we noticed two apanese destroyers coming toward us. We sank one with a well-directed fire. The other launched a torpedo which missed us. All the men in the engine rooms were driven on deck by the flames. Finally a Japanese torpedo flotilla bore down upon us and an explosion caused the Borodino to turn turtle. I, with 6 others, was rescued from the sea by the Japanese armored cruiser Kasuga and was transferred to the shore.

The Mojo (Japan) correspondent of the Daily Telegraph gives a story told by Capt. Bojinoff, commander of the Russian cruiser Admiral Nakhimoff. The captain says:

We chose the shortest route to Vladivostok passing a certain strait. We were unhappily noticed by the Japanese fleet and were completely surrounded. Our position was hopeless from the beginning of the battle. We had indeed fallen into a bitter trap. It was cruel, moreover, for the Japanese selected the engine room of my ship as a target. A torpedo went straight through my vessel, and we lost our fighting power and were unable to move either way.

We launched the boats and embarked 400 of the crew, who were rescued by the Japanese. I, with the navigating officer, determined to share the fate of our ship which sank. We two were drawn underneath by the suction, whirled about and lost our breath. We forgot everything, but fortunately were picked up by Japanese fishermen. We had intended to die, and floated about in the water, as it seemed, for hours, watching the scene created by the explosion of Japanese shells.

KING BRAVES THE ANARCHISTS

Undismayed by Explosion and Receives Acclaims and Sympathy of French.

POLICE EXAMINE SUSPECTS

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, June 1.—King Alfonso today continued to enjoy the festivities which France had prepared in his honor, apparently undismayed by the anarchistic attempt on his life while on his way with President Loubet from the gala performance at the opera last night. Accompanied by President Loubet the king reviewed the Sixth army corps at Chalons-sur-Merna, and then returned to Paris. All day he was the recipient of tremendous ovations, as yesterday's outrage evoked a national sentiment of affection and sympathy for the young monarch and universal reprobation for the attempt on his life.

The king made anxious inquiries concerning the condition of the persons wounded by the explosion of the bomb and was assured that they were all alive, which relieved him as the first report was that one policeman had died from his wounds. He will award them the Spanish medal for military merit. Ten persons were injured, including soldiers, policemen and civilians.

It developed today that shortly after Kong Alfonso passed last night another bomb was found in the Rue De Rivoli, near the spot where the explosion occurred.

The suspects arrested immediately after the explosion were further interrogated and the police later announced that the main suspicion appeared to attach to a young man named Arsene Arnould, who is held on the evidence of a woman who alleges that she noticed him lighting a supposed fuse. Arnould, who is employed as a laboratory attendent and resides in Paris, is suffering from a wounded eye.

Magistrates have searched for incriminating documents at the residence of the Spanish anarchist, Maiato, who was arrested but refused to reply to questions without legal advice. Another Spaniard, named Volina, declared he had been in Paris for a month with several companions, preparing for an attempt on King Alfonso's life. They had received five uncharged bombs from Barcelona, he said, which were hidden in the Bois Vivoflay. The prisoner promised to show tomorrow where they were hidden. His three companions have been arrested.

JUMPS FROM BOULEVARD TO DEATH IN THE STREET

Steubenville Woman, While Temporarily Insane, Commits Suicide Near the Union Station.

Mrs. Mary Jane Criss, aged 43, wife of F. W. Criss of Steubenville, O., committed suicide yesterday morning by jumping over the wall of the Grant boulevard, near Washington street, while temporarily insane. She died shortly after she was taken to the West Penn hospital.

Criss and his wife had been to New Kensington and were on their way home. Criss left his wife in the Union station while he went to attend to some business. While he was gone the woman walked out of the station to the boulevard, climbed on to the wall and dived into the air, falling about 60 feet. She was carried to the emergency hospital in the Union station and later was taken to the West Penn hospital. When her husband returned to the station and learned of his wife's act, he went to the hospital, but she died before he arrived. The woman's body was taken to Steubenville. Mrs. Criss' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Doolan, formerly lived in Wilkinsburg. Two sisters, Mrs. William Moran and Miss Lizzie Doolan, yet live in that place. A brother, M. W. Doolan, lives in New York.

Michael Miller, aged 30, of 33 Union alley, died yesterday afternoon at the South Side hospital from injuries received while at work in the mills at South Tenth street, in the morning.

William Elstrand, aged 15, of Pitcairn, was killed yesterday by being crushed between two freight cars in the yards of the Pitcairn Transfer Company.

Myrna Swartz, aged 9, of Natrona, died yesterday from tetanus. About a week ago the girl ran a sliver of wood into her foot, which was not discovered for several days. Yesterday convulsions set in and she died during the attack.

KILL MAN FOR FUN.

Five Negroes Are Arrested in Louisiana. One Is Lynched for Resisting.

NEW ORLEANS, June 1.—(Special.)—Five negroes from Natchez, Miss., this afternoon shot to death Ernest Lacour, a young planter, as he was driving to his home at Batchellor, La. A posse of citizens captured the negroes. One of them confessed that they were waiting for a train and "jes' shot at that white man for fun."

Tom Wilson, one of the negroes, showed fight, and was promptly strung up to the nearest tree. The others were placed in jail.

UPHOLDS COURSE OF PRESIDENT

Congressman Littlefield Approves Mr. Roosevelt's Stand on Arbitration Treaties.

WAR DEPLORED BY SPEAKERS

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., June 1.—Congressman Charles E. Littlefield of Maine; Henry B. MacFarland, president of the board of commissioners of the District of Columbia, and Oscar S. Straus, a member of the permanent Hague court, were the principal speakers today before the Lake Mohonk international arbitration conference.

Mr. Littlefield discussed the differences between the United States senate and President Roosevelt regarding arbitration treaties. He declared that while the senate had acted within its strictly constitutional rights in the case, the president had performed his duty as to the cause of international arbitration in withdrawing the treaties from further consideration. Mr. Littlefield referred to the vote at the last session of congress authorizing the construction of two new battleships at a cost of $7,000,000 each, and said he was not of the number who approved that appropriation. He would sooner have voted $7,000,000 for a new building for the United States supreme court in Washington, a greatly needed work.

Manton N. Kline, chairman of the committee on international arbitration appointed by the Philadelphia Trades league, read a series of recommendations from a report adopted by the business men in the conference and addressed to all business organizations and commercial bodies of the United States. The report says:

It is hoped and believed that the patriotism, statesmanship and business sagacity of the president of the United States and the senate will find some plan by which the pending arbitration treaties can be ratified without in any sense endangering in the slightest degree the most conservative those provisions of the national constitution which may be thought not thoroughly observed in the pending conventions.

A report on "What business men are doing for international arbitration" was presented by Charles Richardson of Philadelphia, chairman of a special committee of the conference on that subject.

Mr. Straus concluded his address as follows:

The very fact that behind the world's diplomacy stands ever open the doors of The Hague tribunal cannot fail to have an ever increasing voice in the chancelleries of nations. Instead of the barbaric cry that has rung through history, "To arms, to arms," the voice from out the great temple of peace will appeal to the conscience of nations and its message will ring out, "To The Hague, to The Hague."

AUTO OWNERS REQUEST CARS FOR ORPHANS' DAY

Thirty More Automobiles Will Be Needed to Give Children an Outing June 7.

Much disappointment showed itself last night at a meeting of the route, transportation and entertainment committees having in charge "Orphans' Automobile day," planned by the Automobile club for June 7. There are fully 500 automobiles owned in Pittsburgh, and so far but 55 big cars and 11 small ones have been offered by owners to give the orphans of the city an outing.

It was thought owners would vie with each other in quick responses. There are 440 children to take out, and fully 100 grown persons will go to look after them. Five other big cars were secured last night, but this leaves 30 more to be provided to make the outing a success.

In a majority of cases so enthusiastic are they that many owners will drive their own cars and give the whole day to the children. An appeal is made by the club to the public spirit of other owners and they are asked to send offers today to Dr. John A. Hawkins, chairman of the transportation committee. In any event the outing will be given the children even if several trips have to be made. Notification of the route and cars assigned to each institution will be sent out Monday next.

CHANCE FOR DR. GLADDEN TO TEST HIS THEORY

Columbus (O.) Bankers Offer for Client $500,000 With Which to Build Model Tenements.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

COLUMBUS, O., June 1.—Dr. Washington Gladden, moderator of the Congregational church of the United States, has been offered $500,000 with which to test a theory advanced in his sermon last Sunday, in which he discussed "What I would do with a million dollars." Dr. Gladden said a part of his scheme would be to build a number of tenement houses, with all modern conveniences, for which he would charge half the rent now secured by landlords, which he guaranteed would pay 4 per cent on the investment.

President E. R. Sharp and Vice President W. F. Burdell of the State Savings and Trust Company, have authorized the announcement that they have a client who will furnish Dr. Gladden with $500,000. The donor says that all he asks is that Dr. Gladden give security for the investment. Dr. Gladden is out of the city.

For New Road to Coke Field.

WHEELING, W. VA., June 1.—(Special.)—The Ohio & Marshall Railroad company was organized here today, with a capital of $230,000. Directors were chosen as follows: Thomas M. Benner and Joseph W. Barnes of Pittsburgh; George L. Hibbs and I. W. Seamon of Uniontown, and A. J. Cochran of Dawson, Pa. This company, in conjunction with two others incorporated in Pennsylvania, will construct a railroad from the Connellsville coke field to the Ohio river at this point. The heaviest stockholder is I. W. Thompson, the Uniontown coal operator. A meeting of the directors will be held in Pittsburgh Tuesday.

Fire in Webster Avenue.

Fire destroyed two buildings in Webster avenue near Washington street, early this morning. The fire originated in the second story of a building occupied as a junk shop by Fred. Ricodino, and destroyed this building and another adjoining, used as a bakeshop. Half a dozen families of Italians escaped in their night clothing. The buildings were owned by Frank Tarchia, the Webster avenue saloonkeeper. The loss is about $5,000. Three horses were burned to death.

ELECTRIC CLICK STARTS THE FAIR

President Roosevelt at the White House Puts Portland Exposition in Motion.

BIG CROWD IN ATTENDANCE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PORTLAND, ORE., June 1.—With the touch of a hand on a golden telegraph instrument President Roosevelt from the White House in Washington today, gave the signal which formally opened in Portland, more than 3,000 miles away, the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, a monument to the memories of Capts. Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, who, 100 years ago, blazed the trail which opened to the world the Oregon country.

No more auspicious day for the opening could have been desired. The literary exercises which preceded the formal opening of the fair were excellent. Among the speakers were Vice President Fairbanks, Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, Senator Clark of Wyoming, and Congressman Tawney of Minnesota. When President Goode of the exposition announced that the ceremonies were about to commence, he was greeted with terrific applause from tens of thousands of people. President Goode forwarded the following telegram to Mr. Roosevelt:

President Goode of the Lewis and Clark Centennial exposition extends greetings to the president of the United States and has the honor to announce that the exposition management awaits President Roosevelt's pleasure in transmitting the electrical energy to the United States government building and start the machinery of this exposition.

Congratulated by Mr. Roosevelt.

Almost instantly, through the thousands of miles of wire flashed the single "click" which formally opened the exposition, releasing hundreds of flags to the breeze and setting the machinery in motion. Mr. Goode received the following telegram from President Roosevelt:

I congratulate you and those associated with you in commemorating this occasion. I hope and trust that the great enterprise you have undertaken will be a fitting memorial to the sturdy explorers who in the service of their country faced the perils and hardships of a vast unknown territory. I send greeting to the representatives of foreign countries who are co-operating with us in this event which means so much for the expansion of our country in the far northwest. THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—In the presence of a distinguished assemblage President Roosevelt at 4:22 o'clock this afternoon pressed the telegraphic key which sounded the chimes in the government building and started the machinery of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition at Portland. The ceremony took place in the East room of the White House. A circuit had been completed by the Western Union Telegraph Company between the White House and the Portland exposition grounds. On a mahogany stand was located an exquisitely mounted gold telegraph key.

Fired Salute at Washington.

On the roof of the White House was stationed a first class sergeant of the signal corps of the army who, at the sounding of an electric gong at his side, was under instructions to drop a flag which was to be the signal for the battery located in the lot south of the White House to fire a national salute of 21 guns.

Standing near the stand bearing the telegraph key, with his naval and military aides facing him, President Roosevelt addressed the assemblage briefly as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen—I have just received from Portland a telegram from President Goode of the Lewis and Clark Centennial exposition, sending his greetings and stating that the exposition management is waiting for me to touch the button which will start the machinery of this exposition.

The exposition marks the feat of exploration a century ago which was the first step in the expansion of this republic westward across the continent. It marked another step in changing a struggling line of seaboard commonwealths into a mighty continental nation. It was one of the epochs of our history, and it is eminently fitting that it should be commemorated by the exposition at Portland, as is now being done.

The many means that have since knit together the different sections of this great country, that have rendered it possible to keep our nation more emphatically one in spirit, now that it has spread over the continent, than was the case when it occupied but a small fraction of the continent, will, I firmly believe, bring the nations of the earth ever closer together and enable us all to work together in peace and in harmony for the future of mankind.

CHANGE IN MANAGEMENT.

Admitted That the Alvin Will Be Under Joint Management of Messrs. Gulick and Davis.

Harry Davis has practically admitted the truth of The Gazette's exclusive story of several weeks ago involving a change of management and character of entertainment at the Alvin theater, to be in effect during next season. R. M. Gulick will be associated with Mr. Davis in the management of the Alvin and a high grade of dramatic and musical comedy attractions will be presented at that house.

Mr. Davis and Mr. Gulick will be mutually interested in the bookings at both the Alvin and the Bijou, while the Grand and Avenue will continue under Mr. Davis' control. The stock company will go into the Avenue.

The Gayety theater in all probability will be used as the home of burlesque, to be booked by Hyde & Behman and the eastern circuit of burlesque.

WILLS $1,000,000 IN JEWELS.

Property Once Owned by Isabella of Spain Is Bequeathed by Mrs. Stanford to University.

NEW YORK, June 1.—(Special.)—Jewels, originally the property of Queen Isabella of Spain, valued at $1,000,000, it was learned today, were left by Mrs. Leland Stanford, who died in mysterious circumstances in Honolulu recently. The gems were given in her will to Leland Stanford, Jr., University. They will be sold and the proceeds will go toward a library building for the institution.

That Mrs. Stanford had been the owner of this remarkable collection of jewels was made known today by Mrs. George Perkins Lawton, a niece of Mrs. Stanford, who is living in this city. Mrs. Stanford paid $1,000,000 for the jewels at a private sale, but seldom wore them.

Victim of "Black Hand."

PUNXSUTAWNEY, June 1.—(Special.)—Gennaro Cagliardi, a miner at Oshawe, was shot four times, while lying asleep in his bed last night, by an unknown person. He cannot live. The assailant is thought to belong to the "Black Hand" society.

200 Victims of Earthquake.

CETINJE, MONTENEGRO, June 1.—An earthquake caused great damage at Scutari, Albania, where about 200 houses collapsed and 200 persons were killed or injured.

SORRY TO LOSE PAUL MORTON

Washington Society Feels Keenly the Departure of Secretary and Family.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 16, Postal Building, WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.

Though general regret is expressed in society at the withdrawal of Paul Morton from the cabinet and the consequent departure of his family, the new secretary of the navy and Mrs. Bonaparte will be warmly welcomed. Mr. and Mrs. Morton have entertained extensively all winter and the boom they have given to the navy has been remarked on all sides, and no debutante has ever been more popular than Miss Pauline Morton. It is rather to be regretted, therefore, that the new lady of the cabinet is a semi-invalid. She is a woman of broad culture, however, and what entertaining she does is sure to be delightful.

Secretary Loeb today made public the correspondence which passed between the president and Secretary Morton concerning the latter's resignation as secretary of the navy. It follows:

My Dear Mr. President: I hereby tender my resignation as secretary of the navy and hope that you will accept it to take effect July 1, 1905. Business opportunities now present themselves to me which, in justice to myself and my family, I cannot fail to take advantage of. I have keenly enjoyed the work in the navy department, and I want to thank you for the great consideration you have always shown me. I shall always consider it a great honor to have been identified with your administration. With assurance of my highest regard, I remain, very sincerely yours, PAUL MORTON.

The president's reply:

My Dear Mr. Secretary: In accepting your resignation I wish to thank you for yielding to my wishes by remaining so long in the cabinet. When I asked you to enter the public service I knew the sacrifice that it would entail, and you at that time stated positively that you could not remain in the cabinet more than a few months and would have to leave on March 4. I thank you for having, however reluctantly, agreed with me that it was your duty to round out an entire year of service.

Your leaving is a cause of sincere regret to every man interested in the United States navy; and I do not know an officer or man of that navy who fails to share in that regret. I extend also to you my sincere appreciation of the services you have rendered, of the high standard you have consistently maintained, and the way in which you have kept the navy, both in its personnel and material, up to the standard. Your work has been emphatically work for the entire nation, and I congratulate our people that they are able to get such a type of public servant. With all good wishes for your future, believe me, faithfully yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Empire Gains Nine Theaters.

CINCINNATI, O., June 1.—(Special.)—Empire circuit managers in Cincinnati today added nine burlesque theaters to their circuit, thus crippling the rival eastern circuit from which the houses were taken. The committee reported these as the additions: Columbia theater, Boston; Unique and Columbia theaters, Brooklyn; Trocadero, Lyceum and Bijou theaters, Philadelphia; Bijou theater, Paterson, N. J.; Bon Ton theater, Jersey City, and Smith's opera house, Grand Rapids, Mich. H. D. Williams of Pittsburgh attended the meeting.

Barker's Name Is Mentioned.

EBENSBURG, June 1.—(Special.)—Friends of ex-Judge A. V. Barker are advocating his appointment as justice of the supreme court, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Justice John Dean.

EMPEROR MAY SHIFT BURDEN ON NATION

Will Soon Convoke National Assembly, Which Must Decide Question of Peace or War.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 2.—The council held by the emperor with his ministers at Tsarskoe-Selo yesterday, will, it is said, result soon in an imperial manifesto proclaiming the immediate convocation of a national assembly. To this body the question of peace or war will be submitted, thereby shifting the burden of a decision from the shoulders of the emperor to the whole nation.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Russia will know officially how ready this government is to assist her in commencing peace negotiations with Japan at the earliest possible moment, if Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, carries out his intention of seeing the president tomorrow. The ambassador said tonight he hoped to make an appointment for tomorrow.

Indirectly Count Cassini is already informed of the willingness of the president to take up the question of peace terms with Japan provided Russia is prepared to discuss the subject in good faith, but unless he receives instructions from his government between now and the time he calls on the president the ambassador will personally express the firm conviction that his government has no intention of negotiating with Japan at this time.

PARIS, June 2.—Strong influences are being exerted between Paris and St. Petersburg towards peace, hopes of which for the first time assumed definite form within the last few days. The chief reliance of this government is the securing of the united influence of Great Britain, France and the United States in bringing about some basis of accord between the belligerents.

BERLIN, June 1.—(Copyright Cable.)—According to latest reports from St. Petersburg Admiral Alexeeff is using all his influence with the emperor in favor of continuation of the war.

U. S. STEEL OPTIONS LAND FOR BIG PLANT

DETROIT, MICH., June 1.—The United States Steel Corporation is buying options on property for the erection of a $10,000,000 steel plant on the Canadian shore of the Detroit river, just below Sandwich, Ont. A Bessemer pig iron furnace will be established on the Detroit side of the river.

Fire at Grove City.

SHARON, June 1.—(Special.)—The plant of the Grove City Planing Mill Company at Grove City was totally destroyed by fire today with a loss of $75,000, partially covered by insurance.

STRAW HAT TIME

Paulson Straw Hats are well known to the Pittsburgh public—They need no introduction—And the present season is to be the banner one of our whole 67 years of hat selling experience.

We fully understand that to gain this we must deliver hats to surpass all others—And the hats are here.

Never in our experience have we given so much time and thought—or spent so much money in the assembling of our straw hat stock.

Our highest ambition will be realized—It cannot be otherwise.

Take the Knox line—

You know what that is—straw hat aristocracy—No other hat in the world quite like a Knox—

Sennits, split braids and Mackinaws—$3, $4 and $5.

Then there's the Paulson Hat—split braid, Sennit, London Boater and Rough Rider.

Best hats ever for the money—$2, $2.50 and $3.

Then as to dimensions—We advise for young men—2¼, 2⅜ or 2¾ crowns, with 1⅞, 2 or 2⅛-inch brim; 2⅞ and 3-inch crown, with 2 and 2⅛-inch brims, are also good styles.

For men who prefer the larger styles we have 3¼ and 3½-inch crowns.

We pin our faith to the Sennit braids—Nothing like them for young men especially—

Smooth, split braids are all right, however—especially for dressy occasions—

Panamas are still popular for people who can consistently make use of them.

Ten different styles—$6 to $25.

The teamsters' strike in Chicago, with its consequent congestion of shipments, makes it possible for us to secure by cash purchase at special prices pianos in our regular line of highest grade pianos at a splendid saving. We could sell the goods in the regular course of our business and pocket the extra profit. But we prefer to move the extra stock quickly, and by tremendous advertising add to our daily increasing prestige as one of the very largest distributors of pianos in the world. This sale involves over

Eight Carloads of New Pianos

Mason and Hamlin, A. B. Chase, Vose, Fischer, Hamil-Tone, Smith & Barnes, Schumann, Kurtzmann, Becker Bros., Vough, Willard, Jacob Doll and other makes are included.

While the prices quoted on these pianos, beginning at are for spot cash with order, we'll be glad to arrange monthly payments as low as

$15.00 Cash and $7.50 Monthly

CITIZENS WILL MAKE A BLUFF

Pretense of Holding a County Convention for Purpose of Nominating Ticket.

In the hope of making the people believe they have something to do with the naming of the fusion ticket, the Citizens will make a pretense of calling a county convention. The candidates will still be slated by a committee of five.

The Citizens county committee, composed almost entirely of office-holders in Pittsburgh, Allegheny and the county, held a secret meeting yesterday at the headquarters in Third avenue. There was a guard at the foot of the stairway and James McKee was stationed outside of the door of the meeting place on the second floor. The meetings of the Republican county committee are held in city hall, and are open to the public.

It was announced after the meeting that it had been decided to appoint a committee of five to meet with the Democrats and decide how the places on the county ticket are to be apportioned. This committee is not given power to select candidates. That will be done by another committee, and a county convention will be held June 27 to ratify the slate arranged by the bosses. This convention is supposed to have a representative from each of the 600-odd districts in the county.

In the past the Citizens county committee has consisted of 32 members. It was decided yesterday to provide for one committeeman in each election district. The committeemen and delegates to the county convention will be selected at precinct meetings, to be held about June 20.

The Prohibition party held its county convention in the old Second Presbyterian church yesterday. It was presided over by J. W. Houston. This ticket was nominated—County commissioners, T. P. Hershberger, West End; Elmer Pangburn, Elizabeth; controller, John C. Park, Allegheny; treasurer, James Carson, East McKeesport; clerk of courts, George Robinson, Boston; prothonotary, A. M. Meanor, Turtle Creek; recorder, G. L. Davis, McKees Rocks; director of the poor, Dr. O. L. Beswick, Wilmerding; register, T. C. Brittain, Aspinwall; judge of common pleas court, M. H. Stevenson, Pittsburgh. The following executive committee was announced: J. W. Houston, chairman; J. J. Porter, treasurer; H. G. Wonsley, secretary, and R. S. Glass, vice chairman; J. A. McConnell, Dr. S. Harper Smith, M. J. Dible, Dr. J. A. Calhoun, J. P. Knox, P. T. Gamble, the Rev. L. N. D. Wells, the Rev. Mr. Maxwell, the Rev. D. L. Johnston, Porter Phipps and Walter Rhea. Fifty delegates were elected to the state convention, to be held in Williamsport on June 22. Clinton N. Howard of Rochester, N. Y., addressed the convention last night he was the principal speaker at a men's meeting in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church.

The judges have not filled the vacancy caused by the death of County Commissioner Mercer.

M'CLINTOCK LOSES FIGHT DESPITE HIS FIERY TALK

Well-Known Reformer Charges Chamber of Commerce Is Controlled by Cliques and Was Packed.

At the regular mothly meeting of the chamber of commerce yesterday Oliver McClintock made a fiery speech, alleging that "certain cliques" controlled the action of the chamber, and W. H. Stevenson introduced resolutions commending City Controller John B. Larkin. Mr. McClintock's speech was brought out by the successful attempt to discharge the special committee appointed to make a report relative to the transportation of explosives. The committee was appointed after the railroad wreck at Harrisburg, caused by dynamite. Mr. McClintock, S. W. Black and J. W. Kinnear composed the committee.

The committee was appointed at the last meeting, and yesterday the validity of the appointment was attacked. Mr. Black said he thought the question very important. Mr. McClintock said he was ready to proceed with the work for which the committee was appointed. He regretted the influence exerted by certain cliques, saying that because of this influence some members resigned and others never attended the meetings. This very meeting was packed, he said. The time was rife to disrupt these cliques and prevent the chamber of commerce from being held up to scorn. Notwithstanding his speech the motion was adopted by a vote of 45 to 8, and the matter was referred to the committee on railroads.

W. H. Stevenson offered a resolution commending Controller Larkin for the manner in which he had financed the filtration bonds and for the success of his efforts to have the interest rate on bond issues reduced. Mr. McClintock offered a resolution congratulating Mayor Weaver of Philadelphia on the "overthrow of political conspirators," and praying that the work of "redemption" might go on. Both resolutions were referred to the committee on municipal affairs.

A communication was read from the Portland (Ore.) exposition management, inviting the chamber of commerce to participate in the exposition. The chamber then adjourned for the summer vacation. Meetings will be resumed in October.

McKeesport Man Heir to Fortune.

William Signet, Jr., of McKeesport, yesterday received notification from Benjamin C. Potts, auditor of the Media Title and Trust Company of Delaware county, Pa., to appear and prove his identity and then share in the distribution of a fortune estimated at $1,000,000 left by an aunt of the second wife of the late William Signet, Sr. M. Signet and his father will leave today for Delaware county, and expect to get at least $100,000.

TAX DODGERS ARE PUT ON BOOKS

Over 3,000 Persons Will Not Escape Personal Property Taxes This Year.

Three thousand persons who have been dodging the collector of personal property tax in this county have been placed on the books by the commissioners. As a result the valuation for this year will be $150,000,000, or $9,000,000 in excess of 1904.

A tax of 4 mills is levied by the state on stocks, bonds and mortgages. The money is paid direct to the state and three-fourths is returned to the county. The increase of $9,000,000 will mean an additional revenue of $27,000 for Allegheny county.

J. M. Wilson, who has charge of the state tax department for the county, will complete his personal property return for this year within a couple of weeks.

"The valuation will be put up to $150,000,000 this year," said he. "In 1904 the total was $141,000,000. Then stocks had depreciated and there was a big shrinkage in the returns made by some of our wealthiest citizens. Steel preferred was $50 a share. Today it is over $92, but some of the holders are still returning it at a value of $50. This is done through the assessors, and we have no way of correcting the return. If owners of personal property were compelled to come to our office to make their returns, I am satisfied the total valuation would be raised to $200,000,000. The system of reporting through the assessor is a great advantage to the dodgers.

"This year we have been searching for persons who have been dodging the personal property tax. Over 3,000 new names have been added to our books. In some cases the men have been large holders of property subject to the state tax. By a real assessment of personal property, the county would be able to make a material reduction in its millage."

Braddock High School Graduates Class of Twelve and Pleasing Exercises Are Carried Out.

The 16th annual commencement of the Braddock High school took place last evening in Carnegie hall. There were 12 in the class, and the exercises were interspersed with music by a chorus of high school pupils. The honors this year went to William J. Aiken, salutatorian, and Nelle Florence Gorsuch, valedictorian. The Rev. J. F. Clokey made the address to the graduating class, and the diplomas were presented by R. M. McAnulty, president of the Braddock school board.

Superintendent Grant Norris presented certificates of graduation to 50 pupils who have finished the course in the grades, most of whom will enter the high school next fall. The members of the graduating class are:

William J. Aiken, Laura L. Bender, Jessie F. Swaney, Margarelta L. Brackemeyer, William F. Haas, Margaret McClain, Mayme L. Stroup, Henry C. Mills, Rose Blattner, Clarence C. Shelby, Nelle Florence Gorsuch.

GOOD AIR AT HOME.

Wealthy Versailles Farmer Builds an Open House for His Consumptive Daughter.

Oliver Evans, a wealthy farmer of Versailles township, has constructed a special house for his daughter, Miss Rebecca Evans, who was recently stricken with tuberculosis while attending a seminary at Birmingham, Ala. He sent a telegram to his daughter to come home, and the same day employed a small army of carpenters and other craftsmen.

Miss Evans with servants and nurse, entered the building yesterday morning. The house is built of hemlock and is open on all sides, canvas protecting the interior from rain. It contains a parlor, library, diningroom, kitchen, bath room and sleeping apartments, and is built on the highest portion of the farm. Unless it is raining, the canvas sides are kept hoisted at all times.

Mr. Evans believes his daughter can be cured by the open-air method here as well as in Colorado.

WANTED QUICK ACTION, NEEDS DOCTOR NOW

John Cerpeder, aged 14, of Irwin avenue, Hays, was painfully burned on the head and face by the explosion of a box of dynamite torpedoes near his home yesterday. He had purchased the torpedoes to fire them off in a cane, but this was too slow and he struck the box with a hammer.

HUMBOLDT SCHOOL MAKES FINE SHOWING OF WORK

The rooms of the Humboldt school, Twenty-sixth ward, yesterday afternoon looked like the departments in a big bazar. It was inspection day, and every pupil had something on exhibition. The pride of the young people was only eclipsed by that of parents and friends who visited the old school.

The 23 members of the High school class had the center of the stage and under the direction of Miss M. E. Lauffer made a magnificent showing of art work and general class work. The cooking school department, in charge of Miss Harriet Eck, and the manual training school, of which A. D. Alexander is director, made a showing in all respects up to the standard of this first among South Side schools. The young women in the cooking school served lemonade and strawberry shortcake to the guests.

Mrs. M. B. Redman announces the following as pupils in the High school class: Harriet H. Taudte, Iona Moore, Ivy Waldeck, Elma M. Schultz, Blanche M. Stuart, Emma M. Sissfelt, Elanora K. Krebs, Alma Hefl, Elma M. Miller, Alma Wagner, Antoinette Weber, Fosella Banks, William Zwingel, George A. Byalo, Howard O. Cappel, James Connelly, Lloyd W. Prevost, George L. Scheidemantel, Elmer Clyde Curry, Milton Berg and Edgar Hass.

WANTS ENEMY HANGED.

Trouble in Ballooley, Ireland—Attempt Being Made to Transfer It to Allegheny County.

All is not peace in the pretty little hamlet of Ballooley, which is a sub-station of the postoffice of Kateshridge, the latter being served through Ballyroney. All these places are in County Down, Ireland. Samuel Paxton of Ballooley has a neighbor he would like to lose. In fact, he would be glad to have him deported and hanged in the Allegheny county jail yard.

In furtherance of the laudable ambition, Paxton has written to Supt. of Police Wallace of this city. Paxton's letter is as follows, omitting the name of his enemy:

Please excuse me for taking the liberty of sending these few lines to you. It is reported through the country here that ——— has committed murder three or four times in the vicinity of Pittsburgh. I understand he was working in the Pullman car shops and also driving street cars for a time. He is back in this country 12 or 14 years, perhaps a little more.

If the American authorities have any claim on him they can capture the man at any time. The sooner the better, for he is thieving and robbing everyone he can get the chance at. He is dangerous and treacherous. I met him last summer and he drew a knife on me. He said only for the law he would drive it into me. I believe it is wrong to keep his doings a secret. Please send me an answer if this report is true.

The city and county authorities have no knowledge of the man named.

Friday, June 2, 1905.

A pretty careful searching after tax dodgers has resulted in an increase of $3,000,000 in the personal tax returns from this county. The total of $150,000,000 looks creditable to a population of less than 1,000,000, but it is probable there is some interest bearing assets not yet included.

Morocco has formally declined the French offer to institute reforms in its government. The foreign minister states that reforms will be made and his government desires the approval of all the powers. This must be taken as an evidence of the influence of the emperor of Germany. All of the powers includes Germany, though it is well known the other principal powers have signified their willingness to have France take the lead in this matter, they being concerned only in the results.

Attorney General Carson informs Commissioner Hunter of the department of roads that the law of 1905 merely supersedes the law of 1903, and was designed to assist the commissioner in continuing the excellent work he had been doing. It is not often a legal opinion is made to convey a compliment, but it does so in this instance, and deservedly so. Commissioner Hunter is one of the most conscientious officials in Harrisburg, and the work of his department speaks for itself to those who are familiar with it.

Acting under the notion that they represent public interests and not corporation interests Canadian city councils keep a sharp lookout to see that possible developments of public utilities are retained under public control. At the last session of the Ontario legislature legislation was procured reserving to municipalities the right to transmit electricity from sources of wafer power. It is thought that water power is to be a great source of electrical energy in the future, and timely action is to be taken to extend municipal ownership in that direction.

Plans are being perfected for a series of mass meetings in Allegheny, on the order of that held last Saturday, to thoroughly arouse the people against the vice and grafting that have found lodgment in the North Side city. It is a good idea. Allegheny has been so long imposed upon by these things and has been so utterly unprotected by its constituted authorities its people have schooled themselves to shut their eyes and ignore the unpleasant truth. They need now to be aroused to face the evil and combat it. Reform will surely follow.

Last year's severe drouth impressed its lessons upon the Pennsylvania railroad system more effectively than upon towns that were equal sufferers. A water supply system is to be established along the Panhandle, equal to any emergency. A system of pipe lines and reservoirs has been constructed upon the lines east of Pittsburgh that should meet every possible need. But if this year develops another rainless autumn many towns will be caught short, as they were last year, and exposed again to the danger of disease. The private corporation is the more efficient.

Mr. Roosevelt yesterday touched the key that set in motion the machinery at the Lewis and Clark exposition, Portland, Oregon. Though not as great as the Louisiana Purchase centennial at St. Louis last year, this new world's fair commemorating the centennial of the exploration of the northwest comprises an interesting exhibit and will attract thousands of visitors from the east. Not less interesting or instructive than the exposition will be the tour across the continent, disclosing to stay-at-home Americans of other states the vastness of their country and its resources.

It appears that 10 years ago Canada provided a proper remedy for such a situation as that disclosed by the Equitable troubles. A law was then passed that all meetings at which directors are to be elected any policyholder to the extent of $3,000 or more shall have the right to vote either in person or by proxy. Under the laws of New York, although it was the intention to organize the Equitable as a mutual concern, the issue of stock to the amount of $100,000 was made compulsory, and this comparatively small interest limited by its terms to a dividend of 7 per cent now controls assets of nearly $400,000,000. Here is a wrong which the state of New York should right.

The Frick Report.

There have been plain signs for some time past that a bureau of misinformation has been at work in behalf of the Hyde control of the Equitable assets and among its latest exploits was the circulation of a story that the report of the Frick investigating committee would exonerate Mr. Hyde from the charges brought by President Alexander against him. Those who knew Mr. Frick were confident that any report which he would make would be thorough and impartial, but in view of the fact that the majority of the directors are there by grace of Mr. Hyde, and for aught that is definitely known by the public Mr. Frick himself may be among the number, it was natural that the expectation of a whitewashing report should have been widely held. The advance stories circulated as to the nature of that report indicate that the Hyde faction shared that expectation.

The reality must, therefore, have come as a shock. The summary made public shows that the report is incisive and unsparing. President Alexander himself is blamed for laxity and negligence in the conduct of his office, but the weight of condemnation falls upon James H. Hyde. The fact is disclosed that between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000 have been deposited in different institutions for the personal use of certain officers of the society and suits against the Hyde syndicate are recommended in case they do not make restitution of illicit profits. In general the report confirms the charges made against the Hyde regime and strengthens their force. It it not surprising to learn that there was a scene when the report was read to the board of directors and that some persons could not keep silent under its blistering censure.

It should not be forgotten that President Alexander is entitled to the credit of having forced this exposure which must inevitably lead to remedial action. The report sets forth the proper conclusion when it says that "the entire business of life insurance should be thoroughly reorganized in the interest of its beneficiaries, the policyholders." The state of New York got the Equitable policy-holders into their present fix by compelling an issue of stock by a company organized as a mutual concern. The subjection of the Equitable society to a graft control, now authoritatively exposed, is based upon that stock, although it represents a property interest trivial in comparison with that of the policy-holders. The state should undo the wrong it has inflicted. Meanwhile Mr. Frick's course gains him national esteem for resolute honesty and unflinching determination in the discharge of duty.

Rights of a Critic.

Magistrate Pool of New York has held for trial 24 theatrical managers of that city upon the complaint of James S. Metcalf, who charges that these managers had entered into a conspiracy to debar him from their playhouses and thereby deprive him of his legitimate means of support as a dramatic critic. The decision is the outcome of a suit brought by Mr. Metcalf some time ago, the merits and demerits of which were widely discussed at the time. In entertaining the complaint Magistrate Pool lays down this principle of law:

> I hold that any member of the association who either directly or indirectly carried out the resolve of the meeting on January 12 or threatened to do so, or who prevented the complainant from entering the respective theaters, is liable to the same charge as if present at the meeting and voting.
> It is also claimed that the theaters of the defendants are private property and not public places, and therefore they had a legal right to exclude the complainant from these places. I am of the opinion that the theater is a quasi-public place, and in that respect differs from an individual's castle or his private place. It is and has been my uniform rule to treat and consider theaters as such by punishing persons who commit disorderly conduct in or on such places.
> I hold a person cannot be denied admission to a theater solely on the ground that the plaintiff had written the criticisms reflecting on one or more members of the Theater Managers' association.

This decision at least has the merit of bringing the whole undetermined question of the rights of dramatic reviewers to criticise adversely theatrical performances and at the same time be protected from proscription by the managers and producers. There are no legal decisions that bear immediately upon this point. The courts have in a majority of instances held that the right of ejection from a theater was largely an arbitrary one. In every case but one, however, where the question was given appellate decision the ground of action was based upon either the right to eject disorderly persons or to prevent race association. The one case similar to the Metcalf case was that of a San Francisco critic who had been debarred from a theater and had brought suit. Decision in this case was in favor of the plaintiff.

The Metcalf case can hardly be called representative in its attitude toward dramatic criticism as a profession. There were many personal and extraneous issues at stake in the quarrel between Mr. Metcalf and the New York managers, but by Magistrate Pool's decision the question of rights involved will be given some sort of legal adjudication, and for this reason the outcome is gratifying. Altogether apart from Mr. Metcalf's standing in the case it will be interesting and valuable to know how far unfavorable dramatic criticism may go without violating the laws of personal privilege, and to what lengths a criticised manager or player may go in retaliation without interfering with the established prerogatives of the press.

The Czar's Own War.

The official correspondence of Admiral Alexieff just published at St. Petersburg settles the responsibility for the war. The evidence is now conclusive that the czar himself is the author of Russia's misfortunes. The classic proverb that those whom the gods would destroy they first make mad never received a more impressive exemplification.

It has been known almost from the first that the czar's ministers of war, finance, and foreign affairs all opposed the policy which brought on the war, and it has since been learned that Russia's representative at Tokyo sent repeated warnings of what was likely to happen. In general, the experienced diplomats in Russia's service opposed the aggressive movement in Korea as rash and dangerous and it has been a crushing mortification to them to see the vast gains made by the patient negotiations of 30 years suddenly dissipated by headstrong folly. The responsibility for advising the czar in his course has heretofore been laid upon Admiral Alexieff, but the correspondence just published shows that he, too, vainly endeavored to open the czar's eyes. He pointed out that a Japanese invasion was impending which "would ruin all Russia's plans and force her to centralize any eventual operations northward of the Yalu river and leave Port Arthur to its fate"—a prediction which does credit to Alexieff's perspicacity. But this did not move the czar, as he really wanted war. This is demonstrated by a telegram sent by him personally to Alexieff on January 26, 1904, after Japan had severed diplomatic relations, in which he said:

> It is desirable that the Japanese and not the Russians should commence hostilities. If they begin the war you should not prevent their descent on Southern Korea or near Gensan, but if their fleet, with or without invasion passes the thirty-eighth parallel, you have the right to attack it without waiting for the first shot.

The publication of this telegram disposes of all talk of Japan having struck a treacherous blow in attacking Port Arthur on February 8. That was what the czar planned and invited. It is his own war and that goes far to explain the stubbornness with which he resists any suggestion of peace negotiations. The revelations now made in regard to the malign influence of the czar's own personality explain the dark hints which have been afloat of a possible tragic solution of the difficulties of the Russian situation.

A Canny Scot in Chicago.

Having decided at its last municipal election to run its own traction cars, Chicago wisely lost no time in casting about for a competent instructor. Nowhere save in Scotland could anyone be found who combines the peculiar financial and metaphysical genius necessary to run a traction system or to teach Chicago anything. Accordingly Mayor Dunne sent to Glasgow and imported Mr. James Dalrymple to instruct him in the municipal management of street railways. Mr. Dalrymple came and was taken in tow by a committee, who were to show him the evils of Chicago's trolley system. They began by taking him to the golf links, where he beat Mayor Dunne. Then they took him to see the Memorial day parade; then they took him to dinner at the Iroquois club; and to wind up the day they took him to a summer garden. On parting they asked him whether 8:30 in the morning would be too early for breakfast and he replied that it would not. But when they arrived they found that their guest had risen at 4:30, and had already devoted four hours to discovering whether Chicago had any trolley system at all. "A man must find some time to work," he explained.

Mr. Dalrymple evidently knows something about committees, whether he is up on trolley car management remains to be seen. So far he has shown his wisdom by discreetly keeping silent. He has further shown it by declining to imbibe any Chicago whisky, making the excuse that he "doesn't drink whisky of any kind either Scotch, Irish or American." When this amazing confession was received with doubt he admitted that he wasn't a real Scotsman at all, having been born in Manchester, 200 miles from Glasgow. This may not seriously impair his ability to solve the problems of rapid transit in the Windy City, although it shocked the confident enthusiasm of the committee, but if the results of his visit are really satisfactory and profitable, other cities may be encouraged to try it with home talent. Perhaps a policy of early rising, a diet of oatmeal, and doing without committees will enable even a plain American to see what's wrong.

Speaking of Togo, it may be remarked the Japanese roses began blooming in Pittsburgh gardens the day before the fight, the rubosas leading all the rest.

Vacation days are drawing near,
The young man's gladdest of the year.
Soon will the beetles and the ants
Parade upon his picnic pants.

Gen. Kuroki's men spent none of their energies celebrating Admiral Togo's victory. They have won, and expect to win, victories of their own.

What the Dickens? Doesn't Controller Larkin know that Senator Joe Bailey of Texas has surrendered to the dress suit?

Mr. Erick's committee went to the bottom of the Equitable troubles and its report has stirred up the animals.

There is another demand for arbitration in Chicago. This may result in bringing out the troops.

Lawyers will get their share of the Weigelman millions, however the contesting relatives may fare.

Russia, no doubt, feels keenly the loss of a boat with the name of Admiral Nakimoff.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Yesterday was a rare day—just such a one as Lowell must have had in mind when he wrote that oft-quoted line: "What is so rare as a day in June?"

And when you come to think it over June just about fills the bill, whether you are young or old, or betwixt and between.

It was the month in which your mother allowed you to go barefooted sure enough, May being too brickle, and too much given to cold rains and slight frosts.

But when June came and brought the roses, and set fields and woods and streams to rejoicing, then it was safe to grease up your old shoes and put them away for use in the fall before you got new ones for the winter.

And didn't it really seem that the fish, like the roses, waited for June to come? Nor did you think much about fishing until it had come, for a boy enjoys fishing much better when he is barefooted. Besides, a barefooted boy isn't half so apt to get sick if he should happen to fall into the water, or even to strip off and jump in, as if he were kept bundled up in shoes and stockings and warm clothing.

Of all the months in the year the boy prefers June. Didn't you when you were a boy? Have you changed your mind since then?

Splendid is the word for June.

It has its stormy days, of course, and some cyclones, maybe, with an occasional flood, yet hardly more than a June rise. This may always be depended upon in the Mississippi, for it is due to the melting snows and ice at its headwaters.

And it may be this same thaw that loads the air with the moisture that makes the June showers upon which our farmers are so dependent for good corn and grass crops.

Thus it is that all things work together for good, particularly in June.

To the city boy and girl June isn't the same as it is to their country cousins. There are no patches of white clover in the city where honey bees pasture, nor no clover in which bumbles romp and buzz and sting. Nor is the shade of the city trees nearly as cooling and grateful as that of the apple, or locust or beech.

What wouldn't city children give just to live through June in the country? And wouldn't it pay to send every mother's son and daughter out on a June vacation?

They don't learn a whole lot in school during this month, because nature in the woods and fields and streams is calling to their natures to come out and inhale, and imbibe and wallow in the vital energy that is surrounding and invigorating every living thing.

Why not let them go out and grow with the grain and the weeds, and bloom with the roses?

Too expensive, you say?

Bother the expense! When you come to count the profits you will find the balance on the right side. It would hardly cost as much to give the poor children in the city a June outing, thereby giving them both physical and mental health and strength, as to pay their doctor bills, and feed and clothe them.

And what is more important still, many of them would be lifted out of the dependent class and set into paths leading elsewhere than into mischief and thence to prison and shame.

From the time boys and girls start to the bad they become a public charge and an expense, and this expense aggregates far more than the cost of June vacations would amount to, even though all the poor were sent out every June until they were old enough to know and to understand that it pays to be good.

If the state were to build fewer prisons and buy more farms; employ fewer truant officers and hire more farmers; spend less for city reformatories and establish more homes back in the country, its police expenses would begin to dwindle in a few years, and keep on dwindling until it reached its minimum.

Utopia, you say?

Then, Hurrah for Utopia!

Mr. Quiet Observer—I have been a quiet reader of your Quiet Observations for a good while and find them very interesting, although you are so dreadfully down on women folk sometimes, and give us quite severe scoldings.

In Monday's issue you were scolding us because we are wearing bird feathers, and yet you forget that it is always the men who hunt, capture and kill the birds.

As far as skins and furs are concerned, do not men wear dog skin gloves, and fur collars on their coats? And don't we all wear shoes made from the skins of cows and other animals?

Nothing pleases me more than a lovely bird on my hat, and yet when I earnestly think of the poor birds I almost agree with you that birds should not be killed that we may deck our hats with the garbs that Providence gave to them.

But are women the only offenders here?

MARGARET S.

It is held to be legitimate to kill animals and use their flesh for food, and their hides to protect our bodies from the elements.

This is very different from killing innocent birds and animals merely to get their skins to decorate my lady's hat, or my lord's coat.

The difference is so vast and so plain that "Margaret S." or any other Margaret, cannot help seeing it, if she wants to.

Mr. Quiet Observer—I want to reply briefly to "One of Many." I think he is right in waiting for the "thrill to permeate the whole being."

I take it that this is the assurance the Lord gives that the two are truly for each other. Better be lonely and lack companionship, than be tied to one who has not the power to "thrill you."

Being "tied" by the law of the land and being "united" by love, are entirely different processes, and the first should be condemned by every one who truly desires the joys of wedded life, and the latter should be encouraged by all good and pure people who believe in God's order and plan for the happiness of the human race.

Yes, I believe true love for the right one will do all that "One of Many" has been hoping and waiting for.

True, at 40 you can't love as a youth of 20, but would you want to? Don't you have something better to offer than the silly love of the youth of 20? Isn't a settled man of 40 with a pure, genuine love, far in advance of the youth of 20 who doesn't know the first principle of conjugal love?

Do not think that anything short of a love that permeates the whole being is the safe kind to venture with on the matrimonial journey, for if you do, two lives will surely be wrecked.

If a man only thinks of a wife as one to grace his home, or to take care of him in his declining years, it might do to select one who could perform these duties for him, from a sense of duty and understanding in the matter, but I am inclined to believe that men want petting and love, comfort and companionship from the one they call wife. And I am sure the wife would want more than mere food and clothing from the one she consulted to honor, love and obey.

My advice to "One of Many" is, wait and still wait, before you venture, for when you have found the right one it will not be an uncertain venture as to your happiness, but a certainty of greater joy and happiness for both.

"Famishing for want of domestic joys"! No, you are not. You are famishing for want of love. Wife and children would not satisfy, unless you were constantly experiencing this "thrilling feeling." A man can have a home of peace and plenty, with wife and children, and still be famishing. These do not, and cannot satisfy without love.

There are already too many men and women who know without a doubt that the matrimonial ties must bind, so long as life shall last, to be but a galling chain, where love does not guide and rule all.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 1—Within a few blocks of the $1,000,000 mansion of Andrew Carnegie in upper Fifth avenue, two highwaymen early today thrust revolvers into the face of a business man and demanded what money he had. One shot was fired and the victim dropped, pretending to have been shot. His assailants then fled. John Harnett, a cafe proprietor at Ninety-eighth street and Fifth avenue, was the victim. Two hours later the police arrested a youth who described himself as Edward Thompson, 18 years old, and, according to the police, had a revolver in his possession.

According to Harnett's story, told the police, he was closing up his place of business at an early hour, but had not yet locked the doors. While removing the cash from the register, Harnett says, by glancing into a mirror before him he saw two men standing at the side door with revolvers in their hands. The men were able to see him by the same means that Harnett saw them. One of the men, Harnett says, called out:

"Be careful now; we've got guns and we've got you covered. You had better hand the money over to us."

The next instant, Harnett says, the other man fired at him. Harnett was not struck by the bullet, but dropped behind the desk and pretended to be shot. The men walked around the end of the desk, Harnett says, and he heard one say to the other, "Beat it, Bill." Both men then ran away.

Who Wants to Buy a Bauble?

An oriental ruby of rare pigeon-blood luster, in which is said to have centered an eastern romance, the principals of which were an heir of the reigning Ottoman house and his bride of Christian birth, is in the possession of John J. Roche, an expert of precious stones, who lives in the Hotel Bartholdi. Mr. Roche today announced his intention of selling the jewel, which is said to have no equal in a stone absolutely devoid of purple. A mystery surrounds the contemplated sale of the ruby, which is to be disposed of to close an estate, of which a well-known society woman, a widow, is to be the executor. Mr. Roche would not give any information today as to the identity of his client, but admitted that she was a woman of wealth. Mr. Roche showed the gem, which is of four carats weight and of great depth of color. It is set in a gold ring and is valued at $75,000.

Census Taker Now Asks Questions.

For the next two weeks, beginning with today, census takers will work in this city asking questions and collecting names. One thousand and fifty have been employed, as well as 150 special interpreters for the prisons, hospitals and other institutions. It is thought that the state census will be completed without any trouble ensuing, but if it comes, Thomas E. Brown, Jr., the supervisor, says he is ready and will invoke the aid of the law to prosecute those who refuse to answer all the questions. The wages of enumerators is $2 a day and 1 cent each for every name they collect.

Costs More for Coal in Brooklyn.

Beginning today the retail price for domestic sizes of anthracite coal for the month of June increases 10 cents a ton, making the price $5 95. July 1 there will be another advance of 10 cents, to be followed by similar advances in August and September. The retail price in Brooklyn for June will be $6 05 a ton. On April 1 the operators made their annual spring reduction of 50 cents a ton, and have already made two increases of 10 cents each.

Great Doings for Newsboys.

What will be the biggest outing for newsboys ever held in this city will be given next Sunday morning under the auspices of the Newsboys' Magazine. Four thousand youngsters will be taken to Rockaway Beach, where all the amusements the place affords will be thrown open to them and a shore dinner provided. The day will be known as Jackson Wallace day. Jackson Wallace, lawyer and philanthropist, will be the host. After reaching Rockaway Beach the boys will march direct to Tilyou's park, where everything the grounds afford will be free to them. At noon the shore dinner will be served. Then will come free bathing and special games.

Le Gallienne Parts With Treasures.

Richard Le Gallienne, the poet, announces the sale of his library of first editions, rare books and books not rare, autographs and manuscripts, on June 5, 6 and 7. Mr. Le Gallienne lives at the Hotel Wellington in this city. He formerly lived at Chiddingford, Surrey, England. When he came to America he leased his home there and stored his library. He admits that high storage rates forced him to sell. In his collection are autograph letters from Stephen Phillips, William Watson, Barry Cornwall and John A. Symonds, presentation copies of the works of many modern authors, some particularly scarce books of the 17th century, manuscripts of Oscar Wilde's "The Decay of Lying" and "Dogmas," and the manuscripts of Le Gallienne's "Quest of the Golden Girl" and other works.

JUNE DAY WEDDINGS

A VERY simple but an exceedingly pretty ceremony last evening was the wedding of Miss Gertrude Mueller and Robert Wilson Bissell, which took place at the home of the bride's father, John H. Mueller, in Dithridge street, Bellefield. Eight o'clock was the hour set for the marriage, which was solemnized by the Rev. Dr. William L. McEwan of the Third Presbyterian church. The bride was given away by her father and had as her only attendant a younger sister, Miss Beulah M. Mueller. John Bissell did duty as his brother's best man, and the bridal party also included two little ribbon bearers, Master Hartje Mueller, a brother of the bride, and Master John Bissell, a nephew of the bridegroom. The bridal gown was an exquisite creation of cloud-like chiffon and was beautifully trimmed with duchesse and rose point lace. A tulle veil was also worn, and the bridal bouquet was a shower of white roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor appeared in a modish frock of white net hung over yellow silk, and her flowers were marguerites showered with the same. The entire house, with its spacious rooms, was decorated throughout in yellow and white daisies, the marguerites prevailing. Only the relatives of the young people were guests at the wedding and reception, after which Mr. and Mrs. Bissell left for Mexico, where they will live and where the former is manager of the Mexico Luster Mining Company. He is a son of Mrs. William S. Bissell of Woodland road.

Hold Commencement Exercises.

The commencement exercises of the preparatory department of the Pennsylvania College for Women were conducted last evening in Dilworth hall. In addition to the class program announcement was made of the honor students in the department. Miss Virginia V. Caldwell received the first prize for best work in English; Miss Bessie H. Lyle, the second, and honorable mention was made of the work of Miss Marie Sorg and Miss Mary Brown. The prizes were alike, all being handsome copies of the Cambridge edition of Longfellow's poems. Miss Grace Loyd was awarded the prize for best work in Bible study. Miss Virginia Caldwell receiving honorable mention. The commencement exercises included the class history by Miss Isabel Barbour; a French recitation, "Lermontgaard Rouigre," by Miss Hazel Darragh; an essay, "Hennette and Princesse," by Miss Irma Linzer; a recitation in German, Schiller's "Jung Frau von Orleans," by Miss Elsie Cress; an essay, "A Story Without a Heroine," by Miss Ida Jones, and the class presentation by Miss Louise Foster. The members are Miss Isabel Barbour, Miss Irma Rixler, Miss May Craig, Miss Hazel Darragh, Miss Alice Thomas, Miss Louise Foster, Miss Caroline Henry, Miss Edna Jones and Miss Elsie Cress. On Monday evening announcement will be made of the awarding to Miss Fern Boardman of a gold medal in the art department. Miss Boardman has also been given the prize for design.

Wedding at "Welchmont."

On the lawn surrounding "Welchmont," the home of James H. Welch, near Monaca, Pa., Miss Clara Edith Welch and Edward Christ Neverguld of New Brighton were married at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The Rev. A. J. Dowell, pastor of the Sandusky Street Baptist church, Allegheny, performed the ceremony, the bridal party including Miss Elizabeth Neverguld as maid of honor; Miss Dorothy Welch and Miss Catherine Neverguld, flower girls; Miss Marie E. Dowdell and Miss Grace F. Dowdell of Beaver and Miss Mary Hubbell of Buffalo as ribbon bearers. The best man was C. B. Robson of Homestead. Among the Pittsburgh and Allegheny guests at the wedding were O. M. Beach, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Beach, Mr. and Mrs. William Nusser, Mr. and Mrs. William Yeagy, Miss Mahala Shearer, Miss Emma J. Richardson, Miss Estelle L. Moffet, Mrs. J. O. Hager, R. M. Charles and Miss Marie D. Nusser. After a western trip the bridal couple will receive their friends at "Welchmont," having announced dates at home after July 1.

Hartman-Fisher.

The Rev. S. J. Glass, pastor of the McClure Avenue Presbyterian church, officiated last evening at the marriage of Miss Edna Norine Hartman and Harry S. Fisher, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hartman, in California avenue, Allegheny. The bride, given away by her father, was attended by Miss Hannah McClurg Watson as maid of honor, and Miss Lily Fieber and Miss Emma Hardenmar as bridesmaids. The party was completed by the best man, Martin Burnett Fisher, and the ushers, George Gerwig and William Hardenmar. Pink and white were the colors carried out in the decorations and gowns. The bridal table was placed on the third floor and, in addition to the members of the bridal party, covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Myers, Mrs. Martin Burnett Fisher and Elsbeth Fisher. At-home cards announce Thursdays in July in California avenue.

Miss Hay's Wedding Plans.

At her wedding in Jacob Frantz Myers of Bethlehem on June 14, Miss Nell Young Hay will have her sister, Mrs. William J. Langenheim, as matron of honor. Miss Margaret O'Neill and Miss Edna Little of this city, Miss Ada Berg of Middletown, O., Miss Helen Myers, a sister, and Miss Mildred Myers, a cousin of the bridegroom of Bethlehem will be bridesmaids. Mr. Myers has chosen George Lehman of Bethlehem as best man, and as ushers Lewis R. Myers, a brother; George Costello and Albert Broadhead, all of Bethlehem; Howe Schelly of Tyrone, and Harry D. Hamilton of Pittsburgh. The Rev. Dr. Daniel Dorchester, Jr., pastor of Christ Methodist Episcopal church, will solemnize the marriage at 7:30 o'clock at the Hotel Schenley, the bride being given away by her father. After September 1 Mr. Myers and his bride will receive their friends in Bethlehem.

Pretty Wedding in Crafton.

A pretty wedding was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Roberts in Crafton last evening at 5:27 o'clock, when their daughter, Miss May Hazlett Roberts, was married to S. Laverne Field of Connellsville, Pa., by the Rev. I. S. Blackwood of New York, a brother-in-law of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Dr. David D. McAllister of the Eighth Street Reformed Presbyterian church of Allegheny. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Olive Roberts, as maid of honor, and Miss Ida Irene Field, a sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, with the two young brothers of the bride, Clifford and Norman Roberts, as ribbon bearers. The best man was George Hunter of Crafton. A wedding supper was served in the newly furnished home in Maplewood avenue.

Taylor-Gundelfinger.

A well-appointed home wedding in Avalon last night was that of Miss Alma Lucile Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Taylor of Pine street, that borough, and William John Gundelfinger of Allegheny. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home at 6 o'clock by the Rev. W. W. Lawrence, pastor of the Bellevue United Presbyterian church. Mrs. H. R. Wiseman, a sister of the bride, attended the bride as matron of honor, and the bridesmaid was Miss Lois Taylor, a cousin of the bride. Following the ceremony a reception was held for the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Gundelfinger will spend their honeymoon in the East, and July 1 will be at home at 21 Pike street, Avalon.

McKamey-Scott.

Miss Prudence McKamey of Allegheny, and William T. Scott of Wilmerding were married last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. James McKamey, in Commerce street, Wilmerding. The Rev. O. H. P. Graham of the Wilmerding Methodist Episcopal church performed the ceremony. The bride was given away by her brother. The bridesmaids were the Misses Kate Leonard and Sarah Cooley. The groom was unattended. The bride wore crepe de chine over white silk. The bridesmaids were gowned in crepe de chine over pink silk. Mr. and Mrs. Scott left for a two weeks' trip through the northwest and will be at home in Wetzel avenue, Wilmerding, after June 15.

Crider-Riggs.

Miss Gertrude Crider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Crider, was married yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock to Ward Riggs of Washington at the home of the bride, 221 South avenue, Wilkinsburg. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. P. Van Duzen, pastor of the [illegible] church. The bride was given away by her brother W. D. Crider of Easton. After the ceremony there was a reception for the 60 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Riggs left on an Atlantic City and New York trip and will be at home in Wilkinsburg after June 15.

Humbird-Hay Engagement.

Mrs. James S. Humbird of Homewood avenue gave an informal little tea yesterday afternoon to announce the engagement of her second daughter, Miss Eleanor Harper, and Bouhard Hay of Allegheny. No time has been spoken for the wedding. The tea was a very small affair, the guests including only a few friends of Miss Humbird. Mr. Hay is a Yale man and a son of Mrs. Malcolm Hay of Ridge avenue, Allegheny.

Bridal Attendants Are Guests.

Judge and Mrs. James Hay Reed of Allegheny avenue gave a dinner last evening for the bridal attendants of Miss Adeline Spencer and Charles H. Cryer. In the absences Mrs. William McBride gave a luncheon for the girls in the bridal party at her home in North avenue, Allegheny. The place cards bore photographs of the bride and bridegroom-elect.

Notes of Society.

Mrs. Eugene Wellington Pangel gave a handsomely appointed dinner of 10 covers on Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin K. Thaw, who will leave on Tuesday for their summer home in Lenox, Mass.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Florence Edna Orton of Williamsport and Oscar H. Crosson of Helena, Mont., to take place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary E. Orton, on June 15, with the Rev. E. X. Thomas of Lewisburg officiating. There will be no attendants.

Miss Grace Reed and Howard B. Skinner were married yesterday by the Rev. S. H. Linn, D. D. After an eastern trip the couple will be at home in Lawrenceville.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mahood of Princeton place, East End, left yesterday for Philadelphia to spend a day with their son-in-law and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. George E. Barit, before sailing on Saturday, on the steamship Mesina for a three months' visit with relatives in Scotland and Ireland.

Mrs. George Taylor Clarkson entertained 10 guests at the second bridge-luncheon in her series, at the Country club, yesterday afternoon. Baskets of sweet peas were the prizes won.

Miss Elizabeth Bergin of Linden avenue was at home informally yesterday afternoon that her friends might meet her house guest, Miss Lucille Potter of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woods Oliver celebrated the first anniversary of their marriage at their home in the East End last night. Receiving with the host and hostess was the guest of honor, Miss Catherine Pearl Stahl of Homestead, who is to be married on June 14 to Lieut. John Milton Ryall, a brother of Mrs. Oliver.

Mrs. W. Downes Wood of Forbes street entertained at bridge yesterday afternoon.

Among the Pittsburghers at the Hotel Chamberlin, at Old Point Comfort, Va., are Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas, George H. Christy, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Smith and Mrs. I. Edel.

Mrs. Robert J. Cunningham of Bank street, Sewickley, entertained at cards yesterday afternoon, the game being "500." Mrs. James R. Gilmore, who will leave soon for Chautauqua, was honor guest.

Tonight the young people of the Tuller Presbyterian church of Sewickley will hold an ice cream and strawberry

GRADING BEGINS LATE THIS MONTH

William Kenefick Talks Plainly About the Lake Erie & Pittsburgh Railroad.

MAY OR MAY NOT BUILD HERE

"By the end of this month the work of grading the Lake Erie & Pittsburgh railroad's right of way from Lorain to Youngstown will be resumed with the maximum grade reduced one-half from the original plan," said William Kenefick, president of the new road yesterday.

Mr. Kenefick, with John B. Carter, vice president of the road, was in the city looking after his interests in connection with the settlement for the construction work done for the Wabash extension.

"There is not the slightest doubt regarding the building of the line from Lorain to Youngstown," he said. "That line is financied. St. Louis interests are prominent in the plan. What the future of the road will be is not settled. There are several large systems into which it would fit well, but by itself, with the alliances and traffic arrangements which can be made, the road will pay. It will be, of course, mainly a coal and ore line."

Mr. Kenefick confirmed the statement made in The Gazette recently that plans are under consideration for allying the Lake Erie & Pittsburgh with the Western Allegheny railroad being built by the Great Lakes Coal Company interests into New Castle and Youngstown. The coal traffic from this source alone will be enormous.

"We have plans for extensions to the furnaces and steel mills in and about Youngstown," he said. "We can reach them, and it is natural for us to handle a good part of the ore they will receive from the lake ports. Our facilities at Lorain will be excellent. We shall have a harbor depth of 26 feet, which is better than that at Cleveland, and our terminals are large enough to allow the handling of thousands of cars daily.

"So far as the extension to Pittsburgh is concerned, the matter is simply unsettled. We have surveys made and know what it will cost to build here and to reach the traffic centers. If conditions justify it, we will build the line. If not, the project will be passed over. It will not be difficult to finance the road."

TELL OF MISSION WORK IN MANY LANGUAGES

Pittsburgh District Epworth League Convention Opens With Cosmopolitan Representation.

Gospel workers who are engaged as missionaries in the Pittsburgh district delivered addresses or reports in almost every modern tongue at the opening session of the 14th annual convention of Epworth leagues of the Pittsburgh district, which convened in the Homewood Avenue Methodist Episcopal church yesterday afternoon. Over 200 delegates were in attendance.

The Rev. J. T. Pender, pastor of the church, opened the convention with prayer and a short address. Morris Ruben, of the New Covenant mission told of the work among the Jews. The Rev. F. A. Bilfour of the French class of the East Liberty Presbyterian church reviewed missionary work among the French. The Rev. Vaclav Losa, pastor of the First Slavonic Presbyterian church of McKees Rocks, discussed missionary work among the Slavs, and the Rev. H. C. Gleiss of the First Baptist church, South Side, told of the work in his field.

A foreign workers conference was then held, with short addresses by William Yee Tang, superintendent of the Second Presbyterian church Chinese Sunday school; the Rev. Alexander Kalassey of the Magyar Reformed Presbyterian mission at Brushton; the Rev. John B. Fortunati of the Italian United Presbyterian mission, Wylie avenue; the Rev. Henry Garrou of the French and Belgian missions of the United Presbyterian church; Miss Lyda Jenkins, Baptist missionary among Pittsburgh foreigners, and the following colporteurs in the employ of the Young Men's Bible society: Rade Pesut, Croatian; Francisco Festa, Italian; Petro Helenda, Russian; John Gay, Slavonic; Frank Helenda, Ruthenian, and John Debs, Syrian. The Rev. Dr. James Mecham told of the relations between the Methodist Episcopal church and the Epworth leagues, and stated that the local district of leagues was raising $1,000 to support missionary work on the isle of Java.

The Rev. Dr. Frank Mason North of New York delivered an address on "City Problems" during the session last evening. The business of the convention and election of officers will take place today.

APPOINTED BY GOVERNOR.

Mr. Pennypacker Names Delegates to National Good Roads Convention and Asylum Trustees.

HARRISBURG, June 1.—Gov. Pennypacker today appointed the following delegates to represent Pennsylvania at the National Good Roads convention at Portland, Ore., June 21-24: H. M. Cutshall, Meadville; Joseph H. Grundy, Bristol; William T. Creasy, Catawissa; Algernon P. Roberts, Bala; L. O. McLane, Linesville; S. A. Kline, Greensburg; Hiram J. Sedwick, West Monterey; Fred W. Patterson, Pittsburgh; Josiah Hayward, Emporium.

The governor also announced the following reappointments: Trustees of Werernville State Insane hospital, Henry M. Dechert, Philadelphia; J. B. Kremer, Carlisle; Savery Bradley, Philadelphia. Trustees of Polk Institution for the Feeble Minded, W. N. Davidson and William J. Bradberry, Allegheny; S. M. Jackson, Apollo; Thomas B. Simpson, Oil City, and Samuel B. Miller, Mercer.

MORNINGSIDE AWAKE.

Residents Form a Civic Association and Will Strike for Engine House.

The residents of the Morningside district last night formed the Morningside Civic association, to look after the interests of the people. Francis H. Walton was elected president and J. Liwerzapf, secretary.

The organization will meet every Thursday during the summer. It will agitate for the erection of an engine house, which is badly needed, members say, in Morningside.

DUFFY'S WEDDING GARMENTS WILL SERVE AS SHROUD

Clad in the suit of clothes he had ordered for his wedding on June 15, the body of William J. Duffy, aged 23, lies ready for burial at the home of his uncle, William J. Halley in Wilmerding. Duffy died at the McKeesport hospital Wednesday night from kidney trouble. He was born at St. Johns, Newfoundland, and went to Wilmerding three years ago. He was engaged to marry a girl from his old home, the wedding to take place this month, and Duffy ordered his wedding clothes two weeks ago.

Inspecting the Pocahontas Region.

A. C. Dinkey, president of the Carnegie Steel Company, and Thomas Lynch, president of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, left Pittsburgh Wednesday in a special car for a tour of the Pocahontas coal region. They had as their guest S. C. Long, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad. The party will return Saturday morning via Hagerstown and Harrisburg.

Booth & Flinn Lose Suit.

GREENSBURG, June 1.—(Special.)—In the second trial of the case of Mrs. Anna Earl of North Huntingdon township today against the Booth & Flinn company of Pittsburgh for alleged damages during the recent work on the Pennsylvania railroad, a verdict for $364 58 for the plaintiff was rendered.

Two Robberies in Allegheny.

The cash register in the grocery of James McIntosh, 1201 Federal street, Allegheny, was robbed yesterday morning by a negro, who worked with a confederate. Henry Vleiman, a peddler, was robbed of $50 in Woods run avenue by a man who threatened him with a revolver.

Bridegroom on a Hose Cart.

John Gibson, a member of the Wilmerding fire department, was married to Miss Julia McClain on Wednesday in Altoona. Last evening the fire department, with a brass band, serenaded Gibson and forced him to sit on the hose cart while the members of the department hauled him around town.

COL. A. J. LOGAN HEADS NEW BODY

A Well-Known Pittsburgher Is Chosen President of the Commercial Federation.

ORGANIZATION IS FORMED

Col. Albert J. Logan, former president of the chamber of commerce and a member of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, the Oakland board of trade and the Pittsburgh board of trade, was elected last evening president of the new Pittsburgh Commercial Federation. The election was by a rising vote and his naming was a surprise even to the delegates at the meeting. The committee on nominations had reported the name of James W. Wardrop, secretary and general manager of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, for president. The ticket reported was chosen, but Mr. Wardrop arose and, thanking the federation for the honor, declined in favor of "a man whose name is familiar to every Pittsburgher as a business executive of great ability and as one interested in all that tends to benefit the city."

The Pittsburgh Commercial Federation was formally organized at last evening's meeting, seven different commercial bodies pledging their support to the plan advanced and sending three delegates each with credentials. The Pittsburgh board of trade sent some recommendations, instructing its representatives to urge them and to report the decision. The question of lining up with the city's new central organization will come before the Pittsburgh board of trade later. The same is true of the Merchants' and Professional Men's association of Bloomfield.

In addition to Col. Logan as president, John A. Harbaugh of the Homewood board of trade was chosen first vice president; Lee C. Beatty, North Side board of trade, second vice president; T. S. Ashford, Mt. Washington and Duquesne Heights board of trade treasurer, and Chauncey Lobingier, Pittsburgh board of trade, was requested to continue as acting secretary, as it was the hope of all present that his organization would unite with the others.

A committee consisting of a delegate from each organization was appointed to prepare a constitution and by-laws and secure a charter. The members are: J. W. Wardrop, Thomas S. Brown, John Mellor, Joseph F. Petgen, N. F. Savage, Albert York Smith and Lee C. Beatty.

The next meeting will be held at a time and place to be designated by the president. It will be toward the end of the month.

Those present last evening were: Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, Charles H. Ogden and J. W. Wardrop, Oakland, Charles H. Chance and Thomas S. Brown, Pittsburgh, C. S. Cochran, W. S. Miller, A. G. Roenigk and Chauncey Lobingier, Eighteenth ward, Dr. H. A. Fulton, J. S. Mellor and T. M. Dwyer, Homewood, J. A. Harbaugh; Lawrenceville, John Fink, J. B. Smith and J. F. Petgen; Mt. Washington and Duquesne Heights, H. C. Digby and T. S. Ashford; North Side, William Dice, L. C. Beatty and Adam Hoffman; Bloomfield, H. E. Jergens.

YOUNG MEDICOS DINE.

West Penn College Graduates Enjoy Annual Feast at the Union Club While Receiving Advice.

The 83 members of the graduating class of the West Penn Medical college held their class banquet last night at the Union club. The function marked the opening event in the series of commencement exercises of the university. Covers were laid for 125 persons, and beside the graduates there were many members of the alumni association and the university faculty.

Dr. D. C. Lange, dean of the faculty of the medical college, was toastmaster. Chancellor Samuel B. McCormick spoke of the work of the university and Dr. H. S. McConnell admonished the medicos of the pitfalls of the state board. Dr. M. C. Dinger was the orator who defended the class of 1905.

Road Law Is Interpreted.

HARRISBURG, June 1.—The deputy attorney general has furnished State Highway Commissioner Hunter an opinion in which he says that the road law passed by the recent legislature takes the place of the law enacted by the legislature of 1903, and should be taken as a guide on all matters of doubt without reference to any conflicting or ambiguous language in the act of 1903.

May Bar Nan Patterson.

UNIONTOWN, June 1.—(Special.)—Manager Harry Besson of the East End theater has received a telegram from the manager of Nan Patterson asking for a date. Besson refuses to say whether he will comply. District Attorney Hufford will probably take action similar to that which prevented Mrs. Kate Soffel from appearing in Connellsville, if the show comes here.

France Rebuked by Morocco.

TANGIER, MOROCCO, June 1.—The sultan has definitely informed St. Rene Taillandier, the French minister, that he is unable to accept the French proposals for the reform of the administration of Morocco. He will seek the views of the other powers.

Victims of Peculiar Accident.

DAYTON, O., June 1.—A Pennsylvania passenger train struck an oil wagon at Stillwater Junction early today, the engine fires igniting the oil. Engineer Edward Gimby and Fireman Charles Fryor of Columbus, O., were burned to death.

WITHDRAW LEASE OF GAS WORKS

Philadelphia's Common Council Also Confirms New Appointees of Weaver.

THEIR VOTE IS UNANIMOUS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—Without a dissenting vote, both branches of city councils today withdrew the ordinance authorizing the extension of the city gas works lease to the United Gas Improvement Company for a period of 75 years, for which privilege the company was to pay the city $25,000,000. Select council also unanimously confirmed the appointments of Col. Sheldon Potter as director of public safety and A. Lincoln Acker as director of public works.

Mayor Weaver, with his attorney, was in a room adjoining the upper branch during the vote on his appointments. He was prepared to appear before the body if necessary, but was not called upon to do so.

Another important move maw made in common council, when Alexander DeHaven, chairman of the finance committee, introduced a resolution fixing the tax rate for next year at $1.50 on $100, the present rate. The Republican organization leaders, who advocated the gas lease extension, claimed money was needed immediately to meet expenses, and asserted if the ordinance was defeated it would be necessary to increase the tax rate. Mayor Weaver contended the existing rate was sufficient.

The mayor's communication referring to the removal of Director of Public Safety David J. Smyth and Director of Public Works Peter E. Costello gave as his reason, "the good of the city's service and the promotion of a more efficient administration of the departments."

A delegation of business men visited the mayor today, marching to his office led by a band. The mayor received them after councils had confirmed his appointments. Addressing the delegation, he said:

"I have just returned from City hall where councils have recalled from our hands the gas lease ordinance. This ordinance has been sent to that death from which there is no resurrection. Since I have occupied the office of mayor of Philadelphia, my desire has been to make it the best municipality in the world. With your help and the help of God we will raise Philadelphia until it stands as the first municipality in the wide world."

Late today Mayor Weaver sent a letter to the city controller, asking to be supplied with copies of the yearly statements of the United Gas Improvement Company and the amounts "alleged" to have been spent by the company for improvements. He asks, also, the amounts due with interest at the end of 1907 for the properties belonging to the company. His purpose, he states, is to secure as nearly as possible a statement from which an estimate can be made of the amounts that will be due and owing from the city to the gas company should the option to retake the gas works be exercised by the city.

LORENZ HAS NO HOPE OF REWARD

Declares That in Turning State's Evidence He Has No Idea of Saving Himself.

SPARRING BETWEEN COUNSEL

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—When the trial of William G. Crawford, charged with conspiracy with August W. Machen and George E. Lorenz, to defraud the government in the purchase of letter carriers' satchels, was adjourned until Monday, at the close of today's sessions, considerable sparring had occurred between counsel as to the reasons Lorenz had for volunteering his statement of the case to District Attorney Beach.

Crawford's counsel, Mr. Worthington, obtained the admission from Lorenz that after the postal investigation was started he had called on Machen regarding the defense that would be made, but that he had not discussed the subject with Crawford.

"Was there any connection between the statement you made regarding the case and the fact that you have been permitted to give bail instead of going to the penitentiary with the others convicted in the Groff case" asked Mr. Worthington, in the cross-examination.

"No connection whatever, it was distinctly understood that I assumed the responsibility," replied the witness.

Lorenz in response to further questions volunteered the following:

"I was not guilty of all the things charged in the indictment and I thought it but due to myself that I give full information to the government. Call it state's evidence or anything you like, but I certainly had no idea of saving myself; no hope of any reward because of the information I gave."

In opening his inquiry, Mr. Worthington, addressing the witness, said:

"I find on the court record here that a man of your name, on February 27, 1904, was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary. Are you the same man?"

"Yes, sir."

"When did you get out?"

"I haven't been in."

"How does that happen?"

Lorenz began an explanation, saying that he was confined to his home by illness, at the time he was sentenced, when District Attorney Beach interrupted. Mr. Worthington objected to the interruption and charged that Mr. Beach was attempting to protect the witness.

Justice Wright ruled that Mr. Beach's interruption was unwarranted. During the cross-examination the witness became confused and contradicted himself several times.

The Death Roll.

The Hon. H. W. Grigsby.

Word was received at New Castle last night of the death at Denver, Col., of ex-Assemblyman H. W. Grigsby of Lawrence county, aged 48 years. He went to Denver last January with his family in hope of improving his health. He served one term in the state legislature, after which he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator against Lieut.-Gov. William M. Brown, who defeated him. He studied law while he was in politics and was admitted to the Lawrence county bar after returning from Harrisburg and built up a large practice. He was a candidate against present State Senator Elmer L. Phillips, but withdrew. He was the son of the late George Grigsby of Shenango township, Lawrence county. He leaves a widow and two sons.

Obituary Notes.

John Alexander, aged 47, a conductor on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, died early yesterday morning at his home in Glassport after a short illness. He was a member of the Odd Fellows and Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Mrs. Elizabeth Summerville, aged 73, died yesterday at her home, 42 Whipple avenue, Swissvale. She had lived in Swissvale four years. She is survived by her husband, Uziah; a son, Henry, and two daughters, Mrs. Anna Cook and Martha Clark, all of Swissvale.

Henry Brunt, aged 71 years, one of the oldest manufacturing potters of East Liverpool, O., died last night. He was born in England but came to this country in 1840. His wife and these three children survive: William H. and George Brunt, pottery manufacturers of East Liverpool, and Mrs. C. F. Thompson of Chicago.

Samuel W. Davis died at Ebensburg last evening, aged 64 years. He served two terms as deputy treasurer of Cambria county, was president of the Summer Mountain assembly, was director of the First National bank of Ebensburg, and had been president of the board of county directors for many years. He was a Civil War veteran.

LEAGUE RECORD IS EXPURGED

Judge Macfarlane Orders Reference to Judge Brown's Relative Striken Out.

COAL COMPANY SEEKS RELIEF

Judge Macfarlane has expunged from the record of the quo warranto proceedings of the Voters' Civic league against the Grant and Liberty Street Railway Company the charge that a relative of Judge Marshall Brown was influenced in voting for the railway franchise, which was given as one of the reasons for discontinuing the suit.

The court says that to discuss the questions raised by the motion to strike from the record the motion for a continuance of the case would defeat the purpose of the order made. The court adds that it is sufficient to say that motions to continue any similar applications, when presented at this bar and refused orally, are not entitled to be filed as of course.

The Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company, a Pennsylvania corporation, operating mines in Blair, Cambria and Indiana counties, filed a bill in equity, through Attorneys Thomas M. Atherton and Shiras & Dickey, asking the court to restrain the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company of Pittsburgh, a corporation of the District of Columbia, from using its name. It is set forth that the defendant company has issued a circular to the public which, it is averred, was done for the purpose of attracting buyers for its capital and advertising its business, wherein it refers to itself as "The Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company." An injunction is asked restraining the defendant from using the plaintiff's name.

The estate of Kirk LaShelle and Cornelius Gardner, owners of "Checkers," entered suit against the American Bill Posting Company for $1,000 damages. The plaintiffs allege that 120 eight-sheet stands advertising the play bore the inscriptions: "Gee, ain't it hell to be poor," but that white paper was pasted over the word "hell," changing the reading and destroying the force and effect of the stand, and deterring many people from visiting the Nixon theater.

Judge Buffington continued the suit of the William Kenefick Co. against the Wabash Terminal railroad. A misunderstanding as to the amount of money wanted by the plaintiffs led to this result, although it had been planned the case was discontinued by agreement. The same jury will hear the case, which involves $100,000, claimed for extra work.

Judge Acheson in the United States circuit court heard a case that was filed nearly 30 years ago. The suit is that of George Fitch et al. against the Spang-Chalfant Co. of Shamokin for an alleged infringement of a patent relating to mandrel, for the manufacture of metallic sockets. The case was filed in December, 1877. A year later argument in the suit was heard before Judge William McKennan, who died before handing down an opinion. Since then the case had rested, the papers being on file in the office of Clerk of Courts Gamble. Most of the attorneys who argued the original case have either died or left the city. Several of the principals have also died since the suit was entered.

The Rt. Rev. Regis Canevin, trustee, was awarded $500 damages in property against the Wheeling, Pittsburgh & Baltimore Railroad Company.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against William G. Winters, a merchant of Midway, Washington county. The petitioners are Allen Kirkpatrick & Co., wholesale grocers, and Stewart Bros & Co., wholesale coal and coke dealers, both of Pittsburgh, and T. A. Winters of Midway. Their claims aggregate $1,443.85.

Executions issued: Emma S. Turney vs. J. M. Rumbaugh and Morris L. Painter, sureties $4,000; John Cox vs. J. M. Rumbaugh Brick Co., $5,476; George W. Rumbaugh vs. John R. Rumbaugh Brick Co., $4,897.27.

FINANCIERS PAY FINES.

Become Involved in a Battle Royal as a Result of a Business Dispute in Hotel Griswold.

Arthur Elliott, vice president of the Empire Trust Company of New York; John D. Morgan of Alaska and Japan, a mine owner; John F. Sanders of Idaho, mine owner, and Joseph H. Reall, mining engineer of this city, were fined by Magistrate Moke yesterday for fighting in the Hotel Griswold Wednesday night.

Morgan and Sanders own mining properties in Alaska, and Morgan sold Reall some stock. Subsequently a suit was filed by O. H. Harper of New York to recover $350,000 from Morgan and Sanders as commission for the sale of the property to Reall. It is claimed that Elliott is agent for Harper and was instrumental in bringing the suit against Morgan. Morgan demanded that Elliott sign papers agreeing to withdraw the suit. Elliott refused to do this and the men came to blows. Sanders drew a revolver and Reall notified the hotel clerk of the trouble. Firemen were summoned from the engine house across the street and the four men were taken to the station house. The men did not inflict serious damage upon each other.

Sanders was fined $5 and costs and the others $1 and costs. Elliott is a guest at the Duquesne hotel and Sanders and Morgan are stopping at the Hotel Henry. Elliott left for New York last night.

TO ELECT OFFICERS.

Bricklayers Will Choose Members to Manage the Affairs of Their Union.

The local unions of the Bricklayers and Masons' International union will hold an election today between 5 and 9 p. m. The nomination assures the re-election of Daniel Gildernew for business agent, as he has no opposition. This will make his 16th term.

Robert Austin, now president, is out for re-election, and has E. White as an opponent. B. F. Beegle has no opposition for vice president; Joseph Henry has no opposition for corresponding secretary. James Neville, now financial secretary, is being opposed by James Digman. D. G. Otstott, treasurer, has no opposition.

Yiddish Plays at Duquesne.

By special arrangement with the management of the Duquesne theater, the Thalia theater company, headed by the well-known yiddish players, David Kessler, the Mansfield of the yiddish stage; Mme. M. Epstine and the great yiddish character comedian, Samuel Thorneberg, supported by an excellent company of yiddish players in a repertoire of new plays, will appear next week as follows: Monday, "Kreutzer Sonata;" Tuesday, "The Truth;" Wednesday, a yiddish version of "Sapho."

LAFAYETTE WILLS, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing and ordering the grading, paving and curbing of Kennedy avenue, Tenth ward, from Perrysville avenue to Marshall avenue, and providing for assessment and collection of the cost and expense thereof.

Section 1.—Be it ordained and enacted by the select and common councils of the city of Allegheny, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the grading, paving and curbing of Kennedy avenue, Tenth ward, from Perrysville avenue to Marshall avenue, is hereby authorized and ordered, and the director of the department of public works is hereby instructed to prepare specifications therefor, and the mayor and the said director are authorized to advertise for proposals for doing said work in accordance with such specifications and award the contract therefor according to the provisions of the acts of assembly in such cases made and provided.

The cost and expense of said improvement to be assessed and collected in accordance with the provisions of the laws of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania pertaining thereto and regulating the same.

Section 2.—That so much of any ordinance as may conflict with or be supplied by the foregoing, be and the same is hereby repealed.

HOSPITAL IS OPENED ON CARNEGIE FARM

First Presbyterian Church Begins New Charity for Convalescent Children of the Poor.

A newly-established charity under the auspices of the guild association of the First Presbyterian church was opened yesterday, when the first party of children was taken to the Convalescent Hospital for Children at Glencairn, 25 miles from Pittsburgh. The hospital will be devoted to the recuperation of children who have just emerged from illness or whose physical condition might require rest and wholesome country air.

Andrew Carnegie has given the association the use of a 20-acre farm, including a large brick house, free of any rental, for an unlimited time. The grounds have been beautified and the Ohio river flows by the front of the building. The house has accommodations for 60 children and is in charge of Miss Blanche Fisher, formerly of the Children's hospital. A corps of trained nurses has been engaged to look after the wants of the children, while several local physicians have agreed to make weekly trips to the hospital to inspect the condition of the inmates.

The farm is supplied with cows and chickens, in charge of a practical farmer, and fresh milk, eggs and butter are insured in liberal quantities.

Four children were taken to the institution yesterday and they will be permitted to remain there free of any cost until their condition is such that it will be safe for them to be returned. Applications for the admittance of children can be made at the First Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue, and when investigation proves worthiness, children of all denominations will be accepted and entitled to the privileges of the institution.

The Relief club has secured the Idlewood hotel for a summer home for children from the city this season. The house will be put into commission July 1, to remain open until September 1. At least four of the young women of the club will be in attendance constantly. The Relief club expects to entertain 200 children this season, who will go down for a two-weeks' visit, each party being accompanied by two of the members of the club.

REV. DR. AINSLIE WILL ADDRESS BETHANY SENIORS

Commencement Exercises Begin Sunday, June 11--Greensburg High School Class Graduates.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BETHANY, W. VA., June 1.—The 64th annual commencement of Bethany college will begin Sunday June 11, with the baccalaureate sermon by the Rev. Dr. Peter Ainslie of Baltimore. The annual meeting of the board of trustees will be held Tuesday afternoon. In the evening President Cramblet and Mrs. Cramblet will give a reception. Wednesday the class day exercises will be held on the campus. Wednesday evening the musical department will give its exhibition in Chapel hall. On Thursday morning the graduating exercises will be held under the trees on the campus. In the evening there will be a contest between the four literary societies. W. R. Warren of Pittsburgh will have charge of the alumni reunion.

GREENSBURG, June 1.—The annual commencement exercises of the Greensburg High school were held this evening, a class of 12 being graduated.

NEW CASTLE, June 1.—The commencement exercises of the High school will take place tomorrow night.

BLAIRSVILLE, June 1.—Following is the program for commencement at Blairsville college: Sunday, June 4, baccalaureate sermon; Monday, June 5, class day; Tuesday, June 6, art reception and commencement concert; Wednesday, June 7, commencement exercises, alumni reunion and president's reception.

BEAVER, June 1.—The annual contest of the literary societies of Beaver college was held tonight. The Shakespearean society defeated the Parthenon by six points to four. The oration was won by William Barr against William Seaman. The debate was won by Miss Almira Phillis over Miss Pearl Dalbier. In declamation William Wagner defeated Miss Mary Coudon. Miss Margaret Scarcrest won in the essay contest against Edwin Atwood.

MONONGAHELA, June 1.—Commencement exercises of the Monongahela High school were held this evening.

SHARON, June 1.—The commencement exercises of the Sharon High school were held this evening.

MEADVILLE, June 1.—The 61st annual graduating exercises of the Unitarian Theological school were held in the Unitarian church this morning. The class numbered two—Howard C. Ivest and Walter D. Smith.

Convention of Freight Agents.

The annual convention of the Traveling Freight Agents' association is to be held at Buffalo on June 13, 14 and 15. Arrangements are being made for entertaining the delegates. Buffalo is one of the progressive railroad towns of the country and is known for its hospitality to railroad men.

B. & O. Officials Here.

A party of Baltimore & Ohio railroad officials arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and left last night for Baltimore. In the party were Vice presidents George L. Potter and George F. Randolph and General Manager Thomas Fitzgerald. They left Baltimore last Saturday on an inspection of the lines west of Pittsburgh.

First Mortgage Bonds.

Commonwealth Trust Company, No. 537 Fourth avenue, is offering to investors choice first mortgage bonds, yielding 5 to 5½ per cent.

Tickets for Saengerfest, June 5-6, now on sale at Hamilton's Music Store, 531 Wood street, Pittsburgh.

CHIEF OF TEST BUREAU OF BALTIMORE & OHIO

J. R. ONDERDONK.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad has established a test bureau, where all work of this character will be concentrated in the future. J. R. Onderdonk has been appointed engineer of tests, in charge of the bureau with headquarters in Baltimore.

OVERLOADED BLAST DOES MUCH DAMAGE IN PITCAIRN

Jolted End from Building and Seven Men Are Caught Under the Falling Timbers.

Peter Duffy, blast foreman for the J. M. Rumbaugh Brick Company, loaded a blast with too much powder yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The explosion which followed knocked down the end of the brick company's plant in Pitcairn, seriously injured three men, and slightly hurt four foreigners. The injured are:

CHARLES DRETTLE, aged 16, compound fracture of left leg and fracture of right leg.

ADAM HARTZELL, aged 55, right leg broken and internally injured.

WALTER LITTLE, aged 25, right foot crushed.

Four foreigners whose names could not be ascertained were cut and bruised.

The blast was exploded in the shale bank, near the company's main building, and the falling timbers fell on the men. The building was damaged to the extent of about $1,000.

Railroad News.

The transportation department of the Pennsylvania railroad is making further efforts to facilitate the movement of fast freight over its line. Under orders given several days ago 12 crews have run from Pittsburgh to Harrisburg, where new crews take the trains to their destination. Some crews run from Harrisburg to Philadelphia, others to New York. The experiment has been a pronounced success, and yesterday orders were issued to increase the number of through crews. Some of the new crews will run from Harrisburg to points west of the Ohio river. It is the purpose of the transportation department to evolve an improved service for the heavy movements of next winter.

Coal and Coke Shipments.

Shipments of coal and coke originating on the Pennsylvania railroad lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie, for the week ending May 27, aggregated 862,282 tons, distributed as follows:

	1905. Week ending May 27.	1905. Year to May 27.	1904. Year to May 28.
Anthracite coal	198,024	3,876,432	1,776,140
Bituminous coal	350,188	11,168,807	11,045,738
Coke	206,170	4,425,977	3,338,747
Totals	862,282	17,410,296	16,340,627

Coal Rates Reduced.

A reduction of 10 cents a ton on all grades of anthracite coal went into effect yesterday, making the prices for June 50 cents a ton less than the regular winter schedule. The shipments of coal last month was 8 per cent larger than for May of last year; this is one reason why rates have been lowered. Increased facilities for shipping coal has also been a factor in the reduction of rates.

New Places Are Created.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad has reorganized its maintenance-of-way department, and J. B. Dickson has been appointed chief engineer in charge, with headquarters at Baltimore. Three new positions of engineers of maintenance are filled by H. E. Hale, engineer of the main line system; H. B. Temple, engineer of the Pittsburgh system, and J. A. Spielmann, engineer of the Wheeling system, who report to the chief engineer.

To Install Water Plant.

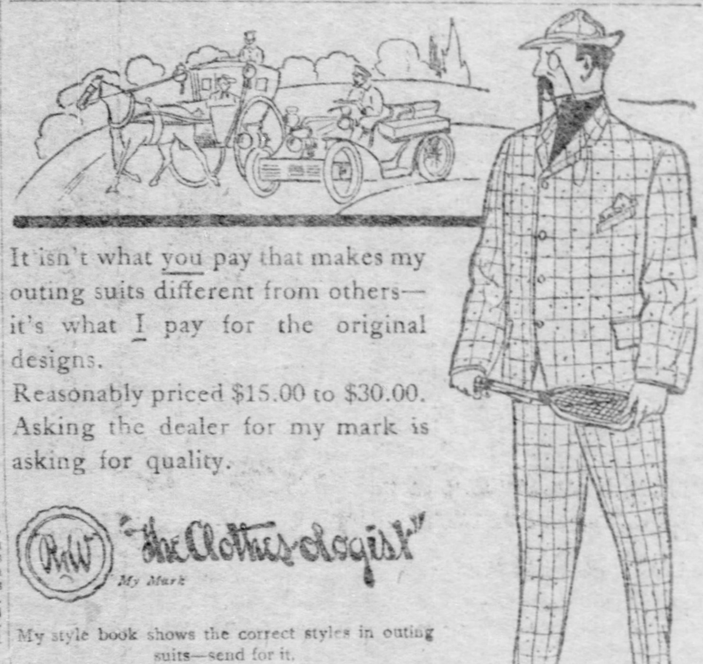
The officials of the southwest system of the Pennsylvania railroad have approved plans for erecting a water purifying plant at Columbus. The plant will be installed at Big Walnut creek. The Panhandle has for years been paying the city of Columbus $25,000 for its water supply, and it is expected the pumping station will save about $10,000 a year. Similar plants will be erected at other points along the system.

Railroad Notes.

C. E. Erison, district passenger agent of the Northern Pacific, returned yesterday from a business trip east.

Special police have been stationed in the Union station to prevent persons loitering about the building. No person will be allowed to stand against the railings, along the walk to the station.

W. C. Copley, who resigned as assistant trainmaster of the Pennsylvania railroad at Altoona a short time ago to become terminal superintendent of the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac, decided not to stay in Washington and has returned to Altoona, his position there being held open for him.



It isn't what you pay that makes my outing suits different from others—it's what I pay for the original designs.

ANOTHER SHUTOUT FOR PITCHER CHARLEY CASE

CHICAGO CUBS ARE SHUT OUT

Case's Fine Pitching, Backed Up by Clever Fielding, Proves Too Much for Visitors.

HANS WAGNER IS SUSPENDED

Those Pirates of ours refuse to be stopped, even if a handicap is placed upon them, and yesterday afternoon, minus the busy slugger of the league, they turned in and walloped the Chicago team to the tune of 4 to 0. Wagner was absent from the game by reason of a ruling by Harry Pulliam, who suspended the Carnegie boy for three days for expressing his opinion of Umpire Emslie at Cincinnati on Sunday last.

Wagner's position was filled yesterday by McBride, who made the best kind of a substitute, and even the great Hans could not have been asked to do any better work than was shown by his sub. In the fielding line McBride had only three chances to look after, but he took good care of them, and his throwing to first base was fast and accurate. It was in batting that the sub showed to advantage, as he made three singles and his long fly to middle field in the fourth inning brought in Clarke with the Pirates' first run of the game.

Charley Case was the pitcher, who proved too clever for the Chicago batsmen. It was Case's second shutout of the week, as he blanked the St. Louis team in the morning game on Decoration day. Manager Clarke has been holding Case in reserve, as experience has shown that he can do better work in the warm weather than early in the spring. This judgment was shown to be right by the clever work of Case in his last two games. He was certainly there with the pitching goods yesterday, and try as they might, the Cubs could not get the ball safe to them when hits would mean runs.

The sum total of the Chicago batting efforts for the afternoon was four safe hits, one in the fourth inning by Maloney, which was an infield tap, one in the sixth inning by Kling, a single, and two given splendid support by his fellow players, the two errors charged not being at all costly. Beaumont had a very busy day of it, having seven chances in middle field. As usual they were well taken care of.

Weimer, who is credited with being the cat left-hander of the league, was on duty for the Chicago team, and outside of the fourth inning he pitched fine ball, and was ably supported by the entire nine, particularly by Tinker, whose work at short was the fielding feature of the game.

In the fourth inning, however, the Pirates got together and there was [illegible] that brought joy to the 3,510 spectators. Capt. Chance wanted to lift Weimer out of the game after that inning, but the big pitcher said he was all right, and he finished the game in fine style.

It was Manager Clarke who started the doings in the fourth inning, when he rapped one of Weimer's curves to left field for a clean single. Beaumont was called on to bunt the captain to second and he played his part to perfection. His bunt went over the head of Third Baseman Casey, who had come in on the ball, and the hit counted for two bases. McBride followed with a fine drive to middle field, which Slagle captured, and on which Clarke scored. Beaumont moving up to third. Clancy then sacrificed and Beaumont scored on the out.

Claude Ritchey kept the good work going by driving the ball to left for a single, and Leach and Case followed with safe hits, on which Ritchey scored the third run of the inning. In the eighth inning Clarke led off with a single, went to third when McBride poked a single into right field and scored on an out at first. On two different occasions the Cubs had runners on third base, but Case's clever pitching kept them from crossing the plate with runs. The game was an enjoyable one for the spectators, as the play was fast and there was an absence of wrangling of any kind.

Previous to the start of the game Tommy Leach was called to the home plate and presented with a handsome gold watch and chain for making the first home run of the season on the home grounds on Wednesday. This was the first of many gifts offered to the successful player. The score:

NEW YORK STOCKS WEAK ALL AROUND

Wall Street Ascribed the Change of Tone to Sentimental Causes—Mining Stocks and Pittsburgh Coal Active Local Features.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday was weak all around, and closed at the lowest prices of the day. Wall street ascribed the change in tone almost exclusively to the publication of a statement said to contain the gist of the report of the Frick investigating committee into the affairs of the Equitable Life. This publication did not reflect in the remotest way upon the solvency of the society, and that point has never been involved in the controversy, but it did indicate much bitterness among the factions in the board of directors. The publication was not authorized, and inasmuch as the directors were pledged to secrecy, it is probable that there were gross exaggerations. The point which most concerned Wall street, however, was the intimation conveyed that the charges made by the committee were bound to make enemies among some of the big men in financial circles, and the inference was that the resentment aroused would find expression in the stock market. Another view of the publication was that the fearlessness and scope of the report would effectually dispose of the matter as a market factor.

London quotations on American securities were lower, and foreign markets appeared to be quite listless, awaiting the next move in the far east. The report from St. Petersburg, that the czar would insist upon continuing the war, dampened hopes for an early peace, and traders who had bought stocks on peace prospects were disposed to sell when this bull argument was removed. The attempt made upon the life of King Alphonso and President Loubet in Paris was apparently without effect upon foreign markets, but it certainly did not help them.

The United States Steel stocks opened ⅛ to ¼ per cent lower and were heavy all day, closing at a loss of 1⅝ for the common and 1⅝ for the preferred. London was a seller of these issues, and they were entirely without support. Amalgamated Copper rallied slightly in the early dealings on the firmer market for the metal, but it later lost all the gain and closed 1¼ per cent lower than on Wednesday. Sugar lost 1¼ per cent and Smelting 1⅝.

In the railroad list the net losses ranged from 1 to 2⅜ per cent, the latter Northern Pacific. Union Pacific sold down to 121⅛ and closed within a fraction of the lowest. Pennsylvania closed 1⅝ lower, Baltimore & Ohio 1¼ and Reading 1½.

Trading throughout the day was extremely sluggish, and at times almost came to a standstill, the total for the day reaching only about 584,000 shares. Yesterday was the last day on which transactions could be made on the New York stock exchange free of the transfer tax, and it is probable that small professional traders were closing out their speculative accounts. Today all sales and memoranda of sales must be accompanied by a tax slip at the rate of $2 a hundred shares, and this will no doubt curtail a large amount of professional trading.

Rates for call loans did not get above 3 per cent and subsequently declined to 2½ per cent. The weekly statement of the Bank of England showed an increase of $7,165,000 in loans and a slight decrease in the percentage of reserve to liability. The minimum rate of discount remained unchanged at 2½ per cent.

More than 16,000 shares mining stocks changed hands on the local exchange yesterday, the bulk of the business being in the low-priced Ohio Tonopah, at prices ranging from 39 to 41 cents. Lustre Mining advanced to 20, buyer's option 60 days, and sold at 19 regular, an advance of a dollar a share. Pittsburgh Coal was the only other active stock. The common rallied to 20 and the preferred after selling at 77, reacted to 76¼, closing at 76½ bid. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas rallied 2 per cent to 70, but closed offered at 67½. Westinghouse Electric was moderately active at 83@83⅝, closing at 83½ bid. The steel stocks all closed lower. The remainder of the list was without important feature.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH

Stock market was extremely dull and prices were irregular.

More than 16,000 shares mining stocks closed hands at advancing prices.

Pittsburgh Coal common rallied to 20 and the preferred to 77.

Pittsburgh Oil and Gas advanced to 70, but reacted to 67½.

Westinghouse Electric rallied to 83½ and closed at 83¼ bid.

IN WALL STREET

Stock market ruled heavy and closed lower all around.

Sales only 554,000 shares stock and $4,110,000 bonds.

In the industrials the largest declines were in the steel stocks.

The Pacifics were the weakest of the railroads and closed near the lowest.

The extremes on call loans were 3 and 2½ per cent.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The semi-annual reports of state banks and trust companies and the reports for the national banks were called for the same date, May 29, and many of these will be found in the advertising columns of The Gazette this morning. When all are published a good opportunity will be furnished for totaling the resources of all classes of financial institutions of Pittsburgh as of the same date. Fifteen of the largest national banks of the city are used in the following table, and their total deposits on May 29 are compared with the same item as reported on March 14, the date of the last previous call. In the majority of cases it will be seen that there has been an increase, and it is probable that when all the returns are in they will show the largest aggregate deposits in the history of the city. During the past two and a half months the Second National has gained more than $3,000,000 in deposits, the Farmers $1,314,000, the Mellon $966,000, the Allegheny $755,000 and the Exchange $409,000. The First National shows a decrease of a little more than $1,000,000. Following are the comparative figures:

	Deposits. May 29, '05.	Mch. 14 '05.
Mellon	$25,931,524	$24,285,713
Farmers	23,134,464	21,820,092

A New York dispatch to The Gazette said: "There can be no doubt of the importance attached to the Equitable Life controversy as an unfavorable factor in the market. A large part of the day's discussion centered upon that subject and the closeness with which the tenor of the forthcoming report of the investigation committee was guarded left room for a wide range of surmises over its character. Some of these and the inference of the results to follow were disquieting. The stock market has had abundant experience in years past of the amount of mischief that can be done to values of securities by the working out of personal animosities and antipathies of powerful capitalists. There is an uneasy supposition that such animosities underly the dispute over the affairs of the great life insurance corporation. The embittered character of the controversy will keep alive fears of some development of hostilities which may affect the stock market until the efforts making to arrive at a settlement are known definitely to have succeeded. There is some feeling prevalent that the Equitable incident, coupled with a number of recent bank failures, has had the effect of operating as a course of house cleaning among financial institutions generally and to an overhauling of resources and their standing. The desire to know the results of such a process may very probably have its part in the waiting attitude which is now pronounced in financial circles.

The Keystone National gained nearly $400,000 in deposits between calls, the total now footing up $3,337,408.

The Equitable Trust Company reports deposits subject to check of $1,121,662, an increase of $447,000 during the past six months.

Total resources of the Dollar Savings Fund and Trust are now within a few dollars of $5,000,000, an increase of $325,000 for the six months.

The total deposits of the Union Trust and the Mellon National bank now foot up $56,310,258, the largest in their history. For the six months the Mellon has increased $5,253,768, and the Union decreased $1,059,835.

The gross earnings of Louisville & Nashville for April increased $268,793, and net increased $38,145.

Mallin bought 500 shares Luster at 20, buyer 60 days. Darr, Luke & Moore, Barbour and Sproul & Co. sold.

By June 15 all of the traction lines throughout Ohio will be operating on a 2-cent a mile basis. This is to be a revision of the old fares, which have been lower. Northern Ohio roads have been operating on a 2-cent a mile basis, but some of the southern Ohio roads have been basing rates at 1 to 1½ cent a mile. Traction operators declare that anything less than an average of 1½ cents is ruinous to the traction interests.

The advance in Metropolitan Street railway and Metropolitan securities was due to a rumor that the "Ryan clique" have secured some valuable subway franchises and the clique has been a buyer for the past week. Metropolitan street is tipped for higher prices.

The New York City Railway Company, lessee of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, reports for the quarter ended March 31 a deficit after charges of $1,322,406, as compared with a deficit of $780,185 in the corresponding quarter of last year. Figures last year did not include the operation of the Third avenue and the Central Cross Town lines.

Net earnings of Illinois Central for April increased $47,165.

"The municipal situation continues to have an adverse influence on those stocks which are more or less dependent upon the favor of political leaders. Opinions differed as to the exact cause of the rapid and heavy early break. P. S. T., Philadelphia Electric and U. G. I. Some thought that it was due to the future agitation of municipal ownership, others that the selling was by weakly margined political leaders. It is known that a part at least of the trading in the stocks effected today was for speculative account by persons with political affiliations who expected to make large profits by the carrying through of the gas lease to the U. G. I. That having failed and seeing their defeat and the organization discredited, they proceeded to sell."—Philadelphia News Bureau.

The day's news from the crops did not throw any very definite light on their prospects, but the feverish movements in the grain markets was significant of the problem still to be settled of the outcome of the crops.

The money market was slightly firmer than during the recent past owing to the operations in connection with financing a purchase concerned in the organization of the new Steelers Securities Company, but not much significance was attached to this and the weakness of Lake Shore helped to clear the way with conditions in the money market.

The Westinghouse Air Brake Company has closed a contract to place the new friction draft gear on 16,000 cars of the Baltimore & Ohio. It is maintained that this appliance will prevent telescoping or crushing of cars in collisions.

SQUIRREL HILL FRONTAGE SALE

Local Business Men Buy Fine Residence Sites in Wilkins Avenue.

GOOD DEAL IN PENN AVENUE

Another lot of choice East End frontage was disposed of yesterday to prominent business men who will improve it at once. The deal was made through the Commonwealth Real Estate Company, which sold for J. G. A. Leishman 440 feet in Wilkins avenue, near Shady avenue, for $53,000. The property has a depth of 200 feet and is near the old Leishman homestead now owned by F. J. Hearne. The location is one of the prettiest in the Squirrel Hill section, being covered with old forest trees, and is very well adapted for big residence sites. The names of the buyers are withheld, but two of them will at once have plans drawn for residences to cost $20,000 each. These will be built on 100 foot lots, and the remainder of the frontage will be divided into lots not less than 75 feet wide and sold subject to rigid building restrictions. This method of buying property seems to be getting popular, as it was only two weeks ago that the Commonwealth sold to a half dozen business men a large plot of the Marvin frontage in Dahlia street, between Amberson avenue and St. James street, which will be parceled off in a similar manner.

Through the Aronson-Friedman Company the James Cohen holdings at 2700-2702 Penn avenue have been sold for $28,000. The property consists of 33x80 feet, with two store buildings. It was bought by a downtown merchant, who will improve the site with a modern building as soon as the present lease expires. The sale is at the rate of about $850 a front foot, a very good figure in view of the depth of the lot.

Genuine Boom in Bellevue.

Bellevue is having perhaps the most noticeable boom in real estate and especially in building of any other suburb around Pittsburgh this summer. No less than 50 good houses are now being erected there, because of individual lot owners. The district that is particularly favored is the old Sunnyside section, lying between Sprague and Thomas avenues, and in the new street car loop which winds around from Lincoln avenue to meet the line that is coming in from West View. Ten houses are now going up in Thomas avenue, seven in Forest avenue, with four more to be started next week in the same streets, four in Orchard avenue, three in Grandview avenue and two in Rodgers avenue. These houses will cost from $5,000 to $12,000 each. The Sunnyside property, formerly the old Bain farm, was laid out in 50-foot lots originally, but the demand for residence sites in this locality has become so great lately that these lots are now being cut up into lots 33 feet wide, something that has never happened in the neighborhood before. Lots have advanced in price at least $300 on an 80-foot lot in the last four or five years, in some localities sensational advances have been made, one of them being a lot at Forest and Thomas avenues, which was bought two years ago for $1,050 and for which $2,000 was refused last week. Work is now in progress on the big trestle, 240 rods long, which the Pittsburgh Railways Company is building near the Moon property to form a link in the Bellevue-West View route. A day ago the city-county commissioners inspected Thomas avenue, and it is said that as a result that street will be extended from its present limit, at the borough line, into Ross township. This would make the avenue a through street, like Rodgers avenue, leading out to the Perrysville district, and would open up a large amount of fine frontage. Forest and Orchard avenues will be paved this summer, which will add considerably to property values in this section.

Scattering Deals Announced.

Francis E. McGillick has sold to Mary A. Smith 60x120 feet at the northeast corner of Hampton and Euclid avenues, Nineteenth ward, for $17,000. The lot is improved with brick houses and will be held for an investment.

William King has purchased from Louis Jaeger an improved property, 36x63 feet, on the north side of Locust street, near Magee street, Sixth ward, for $12,000.

James McHugh bought from John W. Moore 26x110 feet on the south side of Larimer avenue, Nineteenth ward, for $10,000.

Isabel G. Walker proves to be the buyer of the Rebecca C. Diller property in the Fourteenth ward, which was sold recently for $20,000. The property is vacant and measures 100x115 feet in Dithridge street, near Bayard street.

The Samuel W. Black Company has closed two large downtown deals which were reported for two weeks ago. By one transaction Harry Davis gets title to the old First ward school house property, 100x100 feet, at Second avenue and Shore street, consideration named in the deed being $215,000. This was given in part exchange for the holdings of George E. McCague, facing 62 feet in upper Fourth avenue and 60 feet in Third avenue, and having a depth of 168.5 feet. These were valued at $380,000. The other deal was the sale of the Boggs & Buhl warehouse at 241-245 Water street to Theodore Cappel for $90,000.

Will Not Sell Out, He Says.

Gilbert T. Rafferty is the buyer of the former Smith holdings at Wylie avenue and Federal street, the sale of which was mentioned in The Gazette yesterday. The exact price was $80,000 and the deal was handled by Isaac Sachs and T. J. Lawton & Co. In connection with this purchase Mr. Rafferty is reported to have made a vigorous denial of the statement accredited to him in New York that he intended to dispose of all his Pittsburgh property. He now says he will not withdraw his interests from this city and that he sold his Grant street lots because he "got his price."

There is little likelihood that the offer of $250,000, which the county commissioners submitted last week for the Third United Presbyterian church property in Diamond street, will be accepted. Marshall Johnston, one of the committee in charge of the matter for the church, said last night that no meeting had been called to consider the matter formally and that he had not talked with the other trustees. Another trustee said:

"The offer will not be accepted. The church property is a valuable one and is getting more so every day, and unless the county authorities force us to vacate we shall not sell at any such figure as has been suggested, for we are not yet ready to move."

J. W. Barnes has started the first 10 of the 100 houses which he will build in Homestead park this summer. These are frame dwellings of seven rooms and cost about $2,000 each. The property is two miles south of Homestead on the Homestead & Mifflin street car line.

Selling Houses in Advance.

Mt. Washington: John F. Sweeny has sold to Mrs. M. E. Stewart a seven-room frame house on 32x100 feet at Minsinger and Wills street, Thirty-second ward, for $3,750. This sale was made and a cash deposit paid before a shadeful of the plan was given for the purchase, showing the feasibility of selling houses from plans made to suit the prospective buyer.

Chislett street: W. L. Woods sold for W. A. Roberts an 11-room brick house on 55x100 feet on the west side of Chislett street, at the head of Hays street, Nineteenth ward, for $9,200.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 5 points under light offerings in the absence of buying orders. The news was featureless and the market ruled about steady around the initial figures until near the close when increased offerings found a continued light demand and the market was finally quiet at a net decline of 5@15 points. Sales were reported of 12,750 bags, including July at 6.45@6.50, September at 6.65c, December at 6.90c, March at 7.00@7.05c. Spot Rio quiet; No. 7 invoice, 7½c; mild quiet; Cordova, 10@13c.

Sugar—Raw steady; fair refining, 3¾c; centrifugal, 96 test, 4⅝c; molasses sugar, 3½c; refined steady.

GREEN CORN MAKES FIRST APPEARANCE

Roasting Ears, Apricots and Maryland Cherries Latest Additions to Local Markets.

New things were the order of the day in the local market yesterday. Most important, perhaps, was the appearance of green corn. These are the first roasting ears of the year and they were welcomed by the lovers of good sugar corn. Perhaps they are not quite so tasty as that which will be in a little later, but they proved a novelty and sold rapidly at 50 and 60 cents a dozen.

Maryland and Kentucky also came into the market with ripe cherries. The Maryland fruit is selling at 8 and 12 cents a quart. The Kentucky fruit comes in drawers, four drawers to a case, and each drawer holding a half bushel. They sell for $2 00 and $3 50 a drawer.

Apricots are another new fruit in the market and are selling at $2 00 a crate. Each crate contains about a half bushel. The fruit is small but very pretty. With these additions to the list the Liberty street fruit and vegetable houses have taken on a real summery look.

There were no changes of note yesterday and those that were made were in the direction of lower prices. Tomatoes moved up and green beans, radishes, cabbage, onions, and other garden truck was reduced. In the grocery line there were no changes. Flour is now quoted at $6 25 and $6 50, but it has been shading at that for several days, and is now shading at 5 cents less.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday were: Pennsylvania lines, 19 cars oats, 14 cars corn, 18½ cars hay, 5 cars feed, 1¼ cars straw, 1 car wheat; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car oats; Baltimore & Ohio, 4 cars hay, 1 car oats.

The market remains steady. There is no scarcity of goods, but the demand is about equal to the supply. Ear corn is a shade lower, but shelling here is high. It is not surprising that reaction has set in. Straw is scarce and the light receipts are quickly picked up.

WHEAT STRONG FROM START TO FINISH

Scarcity of Cash Grain Is Chief Factor—Sentiment in the Corn Market Bullish.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 1.—Scarcity of cash wheat at all grain centers was the underlying reason for a strong wheat market here today. At the close, wheat for July delivery was up 1⅝@1¾c. Corn is up 1@1¼c, oats show a gain of ⅝c. Provisions are 7½c to 13c higher.

In sharp contrast with the weakness yesterday the wheat market today was strong from start to finish. At the opening July was up ⅝c to ⅞c, at 87⅝@87½c. Higher prices at Liverpool contributed some strength to the situation, but the most direct cause for the bullish enthusiasm was a sensational advance at Minneapolis, July wheat in that market made a gain of over 1c within a few minutes. Later the gain was increased to over 3 cents. Prices for cash wheat were correspondingly high, $1 29 a bushel being asked for No. 1 Northern. From the action of the July option in the northwestern market, many traders here reached the conclusion that a certain large interest having failed to bring to complete success a big deal in May wheat, had decided to make an attempt to corner the July delivery.

Owing practically all the cash wheat available in the northwest this interest, it was claimed, is in a position to carry forward manipulation with a free hand. Early trading in the Chicago market disclosed a large short interest, the covering of which resulted in an advance to 88⅞@88¾c for July. As trading progressed some damage reports were received from the winter wheat section. One report from Indiana stated that the condition of wheat was deteriorating daily. Excellent weather, however, offset the damage reports. Nevertheless, with continued strength at Minneapolis, prices here advanced still higher. Late in the session, July touched 89c. Moderate realizing caused a slight reaction, but the close was decidedly strong with July at 88⅝@88¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 47,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 395,000 bushels, compared with 273,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 260 cars, against 205 cars last week, and 143 cars a year ago.

Sentiment in the corn pit was bullish the entire day. An advance of a penny in the price of corn at Liverpool gave the market here a strong start, and before the price of cash corn here caused additional strength later in the session. Shorts were urgent bidders, but offerings were small. Much smaller receipts than estimated had considerable influence on prices. The same interest that led to the bull campaign in May wheat advanced July corn 2@2½c. The July option opened 47½@47¾c or ½@¾c higher, at 47½@48¼c, sold up to 47¾, and closed at 48⅛@48½c. Local receipts were 191 cars, with 127 cars of contract grade.

Strength of wheat and corn caused a firm tone in the cash oat market. The volume of business, however, was very small. July opened unchanged to a shade lower, at 30@30⅛c, sold up to 30⅜c, and closed at 30⅛c. Local receipts were 14 cars.

Provisions were moderate participants of prominence today, as a result of which the market was strong. Strength of grain had considerable effect. At the close, July pork was up 15c, at $14 52½. Lard was up 7½c at $7 32½. Ribs were 7½@7½c higher, at $7 32½@7 37½.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 8 cars; corn, 191 cars; oats, 100 cars; hogs, 21,000 head.

The trading (wires as reported by John R. Arthur & Co., Farmers Bank building, Pittsburgh, members of Chicago board of trade, ranged as follows:

In the Oil Fields

Developments in the lower southwest fields are not such as to stimulate any great amount of new work. Operators are drilling a few new wells in territory that has not been previously drilled over, but the great body of that class is looking for extensions of the old pools. All are at a loss to know where to drill with any assurance of finding a new pool. In the Fairview district, Marion county, it looks as though two wells drilled to the deep sand are heading for the duster list. The South Penn Company has drilled its No. 20 on the Haught-Walker farm deep into the Fifth sand and has encountered no oil or gas. The same company is drilling its test on the A. J. Corrothers farm in the same formation and has no indication of a producer.

At Fairview, on the Hogue lot, McDermott & Co. have drilled their test into the gas sand and have a show for a seven-barrel pumper. South of Mannington, the Burt Oil Company has drilled its test on the Merriman Efaw farm through the Gordon and has a show for a 10-barrel pumper. In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn has completed, shot and put its No. 5 on the J. D. Law farm to pumping and it is producing 35 barrels a day. On Middle Island creek, Ellsworth district, Tyler county, Barnsdall & Co. have drilled their test on the James Thomas farm through the Big Injun sand and have a duster.

In the Fallen Timber Run district, in Wetzel county, N. S. Snyder & Co. have drilled their No. 6 on the N. S. Snyder farm 150 feet into the Big Injun. A light pay was found and it will make a small pumper. Near West Milford, Harrison county, the Reserve Gas Company has drilled its test on the David D. Underwood farm through the fifth sand and has a fair gasser.

In Ohio Valley Creek district, Calhoun county, the Eastern Oil Company has drilled its test on the Dora E. Ramsburg farm through the Berea grit and has a show for a 30 or 40 barrel producer.

On the Ohio side, in Monroe county, the Camden Oil and Gas Company has completed its No. 2 on the S. T. Poole farm and has a show for a 20-barrel producer. In the Keener district Gordon & Co. have completed a test on the E. Sybert farm and have a show for a 10 or 15-barrel pumper in the same formation.

In the Chester Hill district, Morgan county, Bowman & Co. have completed a test on the John Purnell farm and have a duster in the Keener. A. T. Hall & Co. have completed No. 4 on the Sarah E. Shook farm and have a duster in the shallow sand. In the Woodsfield district, in Monroe county, W. C. McBride & Co. have completed No. 6 on the Fred Reirat farm and have a duster in the Big Lime.

The Three Rivers.

At Davis island dam at 9 o'clock last night the stage of the water was 4.1 feet, and the river was rising slowly.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., June 1.—At 6 p. m. today the Ohio river at Cincinnati was 14.1 feet and falling. Today's departures of packets from this port of Cincinnati, were Keystone State, Pittsburgh; Henry M. Stanley, Pomeroy; Courier, Marysville; Lee, J. Workum, Madison, and City of Cincinnati, Louisville. The rise, which was caused by the local rains of the past week, is running out very fast and the river is now nearing its usual summer stage. There were no towboat movements in the local harbor except those boats which are caring for the coal fleets. Clear and pleasant.

STEUBENVILLE—River 4 feet 3 inches and falling. Clear and warm. Up, Lorena, 8:45 p. m.; Tornado, 4 p. m. Down, Queen City, 9:10 a. m.

Rivermen are pleased with the prediction of Forecaster Frank Ridgeway that the rivers will rise a few inches at this point today. This will greatly relieve the heavier packets, although it will not affect the coal interests. The Pittsburgh and Cincinnati packets are unable to get above Rochester at present. There is enough water in the harbor, but between this city and Rochester there are several places where the bottom is too near the top. The heavy passenger boats draw 3 feet 10 inches. There is 3 feet 12 inches at Davis island dam.

The Bessie Smith made the trip from Parkersburg to Pittsburgh yesterday, as the water was too low to let the Ben Hur in.

The I. C. Woodward of the Morgantown line did not get out yesterday, as expected, owing to some slight repairs being needed.

The nomination of officers to be voted for at the annual election the following Monday, will take place at the Harbor rooms next Monday. Every member of the Masters and Pilots association is urged to be present as it is important that everyone should have a chance to name candidates for the election.

The Island Queen, Capt. John F. Klein, carried the members of the First Baptist church of Monongahela to Kennywood park yesterday, and took them home last evening.

WHY ONE IS SO WEAK

HOW TO OVERCOME THE LANGUOR OF THE WARM SEASON.

Winter Confinement Uses Up the Strength of the Blood and Fills the Body Full of Impurities.

Why do we feel out of sorts just when the hardships of winter are over and the out-door world begins to be attractive? We are feverish and listless and weak, while nature all about us is astir with fresh life, and the contradiction puzzles us.

The explanation is after all not so difficult. In winter the air of the close rooms in which we spend so much of the time does not furnish enough oxygen to the lungs to burn out the foul matter in the blood. Everyone knows the uncomfortable feelings that follow the breathing of bad air and that are cured by simply opening a window for a short time. The worst effects, however, are those which are stored up and do not appear at once.

In the cold season we do not exercise as much and the skin and kidneys do not throw off the waste matter as freely. The whole system gets clogged just as a machine does when it is not cleaned with frequency. The stomach does its work feebly and gets less nourishment out of the food. So there is weakness everywhere, weak organs, weak muscles, weak nerves.

When the warm weather comes, the system is found to be overloaded with poisonous matter, and too feeble to throw it off. Relief can be had only through the use of a remedy that will promptly and thoroughly purify and strengthen the blood, and the one best adapted for this purpose is the great blood tonic known as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"They acted like magic in my case," says Mrs. Wilde. "I was weak and thin and could not sleep. My stomach and nerves were out of order. I can't describe how miserable I really was. I dragged through six months of feebleness, growing weaker all the time until I finally hadn't strength enough to leave my bed.

"Then a glad day came, the day when I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They made me feel strong right away. My appetite came back, I took on flesh and the color returned to my cheeks. People wondered that these pills did for me what the doctors couldn't do. I took only a few boxes and then I was perfectly well. If I had not found this wonderful remedy I surely think that I must have wasted to death. Believing firmly that these pills saved my life by the strength which they gave me at a critical moment, I unhesitatingly recommend them to others."

Mrs. Clara L. Wilde lives at No. 377 Farnsworth avenue, Detroit, Mich. Hundreds of others unite with her in testifying that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up strength even when nature seems completely exhausted, and reach the obscure cause of troubles that puzzle the best physicians. When promptly used, one or two boxes will generally give the right tone to the system.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do not produce false strength as some alcoholic preparations do. These pills do not contain a single grain of any harmful drug. They give strength that lasts. They may be obtained at any drug store.

It Does Make a Difference

The sort of Stationery a business house uses—

Many a prospective customer has been lost by the wrong impression made by a poorly printed letter head. Stamped business stationery costs a trifle more—but it adds to the profits—
